ALLIES GIVE WARNING TO KEMALISTS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 22.—Lieut.-Gen. Harington, commander of the Allied forces, has issued a stern warning to the Kemalists that any further encroachments upon Constantinople will be at their peril. Addressing a large gathering assembled to witness boxing matches between British soldiers and sailors at the auditorium of the British headquarters, he declared that the Allied forces in Constantinople were a rock marked dangerous, upon which the Turks would wreck themselves if they persisted in trying the patience of the Allies.

STAGE DEMONSTRATION

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 21.—[Delayed.] — The British today staged a big demonstration, sending fifty-one airplanes to maneuver over the city. The sight was inspiring. At the same time two British armored cars rolled up the main street, Grand Rue, of Pera.

The cause of the celebration is not known and opinion is divided as to whether the martial display was in honor of the opening of the peace conference or through joyous rapture over the accession of the new Caliph and the arrival of former Sultan Mohammed VI at Malta.

Today a delegation of fifteen departed for Angora to participate in the formal inauguration of the new Caliph on Friday. The Caliph tomorrow will receive the allegiance of all the princes of the dynasty.

Today two boat loads of Moslem refugees arrived here, bringing the total to 100,000 Moslems expelled from western Thrace by the Greeks. The Turks chartered five ships to assist in the escape of their nationals.

Train Crew Robbed and Imprisoned

A pretty girl in riding breeches and armed to the teeth led three men who late last night held up and robbed the crew of a Pacific Electric train at Owensmouth, according to word received at Central Police Station early today.

After taking $35 and two watches from Motorman W. P. Nichols and Conductor W. F. Haulman, the girl and her companions drove their victims into a telephone booth, locked the door and fled in an automobile. The men finally released themselves and summoned the police.

Held up at the point of a revolver at the Seventh-street entrance of the Ambassador by three dapper young men, E. B. Leidhold, head chef of the hostelry, was robbed of $400 late last night, according to his report to the police.

Following the robbery the three youths stepped into a large touring car and sped from the scene, Leidhold told officers.

Leidhold said that he had walked only a few steps from the entrance of the hotel when he was accosted by one of the youths, who shoved a revolver in his ribs and ordered him to throw up his hands.

Army Dirigible Lands and Picks Up Passengers

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BELLEVILLE (Ill.) Nov. 22.—Officers at Scott Field, the government's lighter than air station here, today announced that they have successfully demonstrated for the first time in this country that a dirigible airship can be landed handily during a flight to pick up passengers from the ground.

The test was made by sending the A-4 to Pocahontas, fifty miles distant, where it landed, picked up four Army officers and returned to Scott Field in fifty minutes. The landing was made with no difficulty, officers said.

MORE THAN SIXTY HURT WHEN CREW TRAPPED IN MINE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) Nov. 23.—At 2 o'clock this morning eighty-three bodies had been recovered from the Dolomite mine No. 3 of the Woodward Iron Company, where 475 coal miners were entombed by a dust explosion yesterday afternoon, and officials of the company announced that they feared the total loss might reach 100.

According to one of the first miners to be taken out alive, the explosion came with little warning to the men working deep in the entries. This miner stated that the first warning he had was the concussion of a blast, which turned his body about. Realizing that an explosion had occurred, he started to make his way toward the mouth of the mine. He was joined by other miners.

This survivor, who escaped unscathed, said that after he had proceeded only a short distance, he began to feel the effects of the dreaded after-damp, and for a time believed that he and his companions were doomed.

GAIN ENTRY WAY

About this time, he said, shouts of other miners were heard ahead of them. Holding their breath as best they could, muffling their faces in coats and clothing, the little band of men struggled onward, finally winning their way to fresh air and thus gaining the entry way. These men were among the first to reach the outside with actual news of the terrible scenes inside the mine.

They told of passing over bodies in the main entry, and of seeing other miners, badly injured and moaning for help as the fatal after-damp snuffed out their lives.

A. D. Jones, a miner who was working in the 49th west entry of the mine at the time of the blast, proved a hero. When the explosion occurred, the concussion almost knocked him down. Realizing that a serious accident had happened, Jones gathered five white miners and fifteen negroes who were working near him and started to lead this party toward the mouth of the mine.

After proceeding some distance, Jones sai dthat he began to notice after-damp in dangerous quantities. Saying n othing, however, to his little band, he struggled onward. Soon, however, the after-damp became so dense that he felt the journey to the outside was impossible. He turned to the little band of men:

"NOTHING BUT DEATH"

"Boys, it's all up with us," he told them. "There's n othing to it but death!"

Together the band began to make preparations to die. Gathering about Jones, they sat down, huddling together to await death.

Suddenly they heard a man's voice, in the distance asking if there were any men still alive within range of the voice. Several of the men yelled at once.

"Pull down your bratices!" yelled the voice, "it's all right here and if you can break through we will all win out."

Jones led his men in the work and soon the little band was safely outside of the mine, having passed through the manway to mine No. 2, thus reaching safety.

About thirty men saved their lives by blocking a passageway into the mine "trip," thereby shutting off effectually the poisonous gases and after-damp until the fans were started again and cleared the way for them to reach the outside.

As the night wore on, fresh crews replaced tired workers.

SIX PRISONERS AND TWO CARS TAKEN IN RAIDS

Six arrests for violations of the Volstead Act were made at Los Angeles Harbor last night, two automobiles and twenty-six gallons of illicit liquor were confiscated and one policeman was suspended for asserted relations with bootleggers.

Those arrested were Pat O'Brien and Ralph McElliott, who lost their automobile and six gallons of liquor; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Loughran and Julius Cota, eleven gallons and one automobile, and Gino Ramirez, nine gallons. The suspended patrolman is A. G. Walsh, who was asserted by Lieut. Lloyd Hollowell to have made his headquarters in a bootlegging joint on Terminal avenue.

O'Brien and McElliott were nabbed at Fourth and Pacific streets by Officer H. P. Hache; the Loughrans and Cota were arrested at Sixth and Beacon streets by Officers George Wilson and G. C. Beard ,and Ramirez was taken into custody at 1315 J street in a raid by Officers Meyer and Boulter.

All were booked on charges of violating the Volstead Act, and harbor police announce that last night's arrests are the beginning of a campaign to exterminate bootleggers from the port.

O'Conner Seen Again; Shoots as Man Jokes

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OTTUMWA (Iowa) Nov. 22.—"You're Tommy O'Conner," challenged Oliver Dimmitt, local automobile repairman, this evening, glancing from a picture of the notorious criminal hanging on the wall, to a stranger who had been hanging around his shop most of the day. "But if you were I'd be the last man to peach on you, even if there is $5000 in it."

Thus looking around he gazed into the barrel of a revolver, which was backed by the command: "Stick 'em up." Dimmitt, laughing, said: "Now, I know you're Tommy O'Conner."

"Yes, I am," the stranger replied, Dimmitt said, firing point-blank. The bullet struck Dimmitt's right shoulder, penetrated the lung and came out of the back. He is in a local hospital, not expected to recover. The stranger fled.

Local authorities who are combing the country for the man scout the belief that he is the famous Chicago bandit.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PROMISES PROGRAM OF IMPROVEMENTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The Southern Pacific Railroad, if allowed to retain control of the Central Pacific lines in the West, will embark immediately upon an extensive program of expansion and betterment, Julius Kruttschnitt, of the Southern Pacific board, testified today before the Interstate Commerce Commission. On the other hand, the witness declared, if the merger of the two is dissolved, as the Supreme Court has ordered, the growth of railroad facilities along the Pacific Coast will be, at least temporarily checked.

Both arguments were advanced to support the application before the commission by which the Southern Pacific hopes to retain the Central Pacific under a lease, notwithstanding the court's dissolution order, until such time as the general proposals for consolidation of all the major railroads in the country are worked out. The appearance of Mr. Kruttschnitt closed the direct testimony for the merger corporations, but left the way clear for argument from the host of interveners repreeuting Western State communities, traffic associations and stockholders.

H. A. Scandrett, counsel for the Union Pacific, which is opposing the Southern's application, attacked Mr. Kruttschnitt's position in cross-examination, and also recalled for questioning L. J. Spence, director of traffic for the merged systems.

Mr. Kruttschnitt said the "cloud on the title" held by his company to the Central Pacific had held up terminal enlargements, depot construction, double tracking and road-bed reconstruction for several years, but that the Southern was now prepared to finance all these operations. Likewise, he dealt with exhibits which formulated the assertion that separation of the two companies would increase traffic expense by more than $6,000,000 annually and require capital investments of more than $20,000,000 to duplicate existing facilities which the companies now share.

Arrangements for common use of the present joint facilities, Mr. Scandrett indicated, would eliminate some of these objections to the separation, but Mr. Kruttschnitt insisted such divisions would mean "greater expense and less efficiency." If the merger was eventually allowed to go on permanently, the witness said, the Southern Pacific eventually would "abolish the corporate existence of the Central Pacific, but unification had gone so far now, he conceded, that the system "constituted one railroad under two names."

EXPENSES RESTRICTED

If the commission will allow the Southern Pacific to retain the Central Pacific system under lease the capital necessary for improvements will be raised immediately on Southern Pacific credit, but if the merger is not maintained, the Central Pacific will be unable to carry through the enlarged expenditures demanded alone. All expenditures for improvements have been restricted during the last ten years, he added, because of the

GERMANY ABLE TO PAY, IS FINANCIALLY CRAZY—MUSSOLINI

BY CLARENCE K. STREIT

[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

LAUSANNE, Nov. 22.—Conversations with both Premier Mussolini and M. Vorowsky, the Bolshevist emissary, today, confirmed my belief that the near future will see Italy's de jure recognition of soviet Russia, and that both countries are supporting the same Turkish policy here.

Mussolini said, when asked if he thought Italy free to make a separate and definite settlement with Russia: "It is already evident the powers have freedom to settle affairs individually with Russia. Italy has already established commercial relations, and so has England—and probably something more. France is drawing nearer the soviets in pursuing her own policy. Czecho-Slovakia has already resumed diplomatic relations.

ITALY NOT BOUND

"All powers are seeking to renew contact with Russia and Italy is as free as the others to settle all outstanding questions separately. The allies may make a decision in common—but if not, Italy is not bound to wait."

Premier Mussolini showed great interest in the map on which Mustapha Kemal two years ago drew for me the southern frontier of the new Turkish state, especially in the fact that it included Mosul. He declared the whole mandate question would have to be reopened at Lausanne, and it remained to be seen whether the mandate system would survive. He had already said publicly the Turkish demands were just up to a certain point, after which the allies had to be firm, but refused my request to state where he meant to draw the line.

"The Turks would then know just what we are ready to give them," he said.

I gathered that he believed the Turks' demand had not yet reached the critical point to which he had referred. "Mustapha Kemal," he said, "is a strong man and has established a strong government — just as all governments arising from revolution are strong."

GERMANY CAN PAY

Declaring Germany was only superficially bankrupt, Mussolini said, "Germany can pay—and can pay a great deal. The Germans are just wrecking their finances. Think of it—four hund.ed billions of paper marks circulating and they are adding new billions every week and inventing machines to print money faster. Dizzy astronomical figures—it is finance gone crazy."

M. Vorowsky, who had a second conference this morning with the Italian delegation—the only Allied power he has seen in Lausanne—said: "Yes, the Italian situation is very favorable, and it may not be long before our relations with Italy are as definitely settled as with Germany at Rapallo. I have not seen Premier Mussolini personally here, but gained a most favorable impression when I talked with him in Rome the day before he announced in Parliament that the time has come to examine the possibility of a definite settlement with Russia.

"I have found his attitude toward Turkey is ,practically the same as ours. Italy has no territorial interests in the Ottoman Empire, as England and France have, and her chief interest is in building up a strong Turkish state which will be a market for her industries. A friendly Turkish policy gives her immediate opportunity to export surplus workmen, as well as supply materials for rebuilding the devastated regions of Turkey."

Thus the Fascisti and Communists, after a battle to the death in Italy, are now supporting each other in Turkey.

REDS DUE IN WEEK

M. Vorowsky, who is here incognito, said the soviet delegation headed by George Tchitcherin, with M. Rakowsky representing the Ukraine, would arrive at Lausanne in a week, the delay being due to the fact they had been informed the straits question would be discussed in a separate conference after the rest of the Turkish problems had been settled, instead of being considered now by the first commission. The Russians, he said, would present no project for a straits settlement, but would take full voice in reaching the decision.

"Russia" he said, "has no faith in any international control of the straits by the League of Nations, or other such bodies—save perhaps by Black Sea nations—for

Catholic Women Told Titanic Struggle Is Impending Between Education and Democracy

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Warning that a "titanic struggle is impending" as regards the relationship of democracy and education was given tonight by the Rev. James Ryan, director of the department of education of the National Catholic Welfare Council, in an address before the second annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Women. The speaker asserted that the "controversy" had passed from the stage of academic discussion and had entered the "broad area of practical politics, and united action."

Two philosophies of education are contending for mastery in the United States, according to the speaker, who described them, one as the nationalistic point of view and the other as "the traditional American attitude."

"I do not exaggerate when I say," the Rev. Mr. Ryan continued, "that we are face to face with one of the most momentous crises in the history of our country, and may I add, too, our (Catholic) church, that we ever have been called upon to participate in. Upon its outcome depends to a great degree the orientation of the United States, the perpetuity of our democratic institutions and the continued existence of our church."

The convention also heard the subject of education discussed by the Rev. William J. Kerby, a faculty member of the National Catholic Service School, who spoke on the subject of the opportunities, as well as duties, presented by the school. The annual report of the service school was rendered by Dr. Anne M. Nicholson of San Francisco.

The day meeting of the convention was occupied in receiving reports from the various committees and diocesan representatives and a visit to the White House to meet the President.

Clemencea Asks for America's Moral Support Against Germany

CLEMENCEAU STRIPS MASK OFF GERMAN HYPOCRISY

Shall France in Triumph Suffer More Than Nation Defeated?
Message to America

[In the following article, the first of a series written exclusively for the Los Angeles Times and sixty-eight other members of the North American Newspaper Alliance, Georges Clemenceau breaks a silence which dates back to the signing of the Treaty of Versailles. Not since then has the "Tiger of France" expressed himself upon international affairs in either speech or writing, not even in the pages of his own journal, Echo Nationale.

Although M. Clemenceau represents neither of the two chief parties of France, he remains as solidly a national figure as when he was winning the war. His words are being read eagerly today in France, England, Holland, Switzerland, Argentina, Japan and many other countries where these articles are being released simultaneously for publication. —Editor's Note.]

MYTH OF FRENCH MILITARISM

[Copyright, 1923, United States, Great Britain, Canada and South America, by North American Newspaper Alliance and New York World—Press Publishing Company. All rights reserved. Unlicensed reproduction in full or in part expressly prohibited.]

BY GEORGES CLEMENCEAU

France emerged from the War of 1870 grievously wounded and adrift. She had until then blindly obeyed the personal and chimerical policies of Napoleon III. She had followed the monarch to Crimea and to Mexico. This long succession of errors came to a head at Sedan.

The empire was thrown to the ground not only for having refused the nation the right to express its will, but also and above all because of the policy of adventure which had, in twenty years, cost us four wars and which had ended in catastrophe. The republicans had two objectives: to save France and give her a peace enabling her to live and survive and to work.

TWO PROVINCES GO IN TREATY SIGNED

We were obliged to put our signature beneath the Treaty of Frankfort. We honored that signature. The pact tore two provinces from us, part of our very flesh. Without doubt not a single French heart ever consented to consider as legitimate such a mutilation, or ever continued to beat but in sympathy for Alsace and Lorraine.

But we neither desired nor prepared for a war of revenge which, however satisfying and glorious it might have developed, would have appeared to the world as a crime against humanity.

For fifty years we suffered cruelly the loss of two provinces whose hearts had remained so true to us. We never depended on anything else for reparation for the crime committed than upon the reign of international justice. Thus only could be re-established what Bismarck had shattered.

We scrupulously executed the Treaty of Frankfort. We sought to dodge none of its obligations. If after fifty years of German occupation, we found Alsace and Lorraine still so French; if Germany during fifty years of attempted conquest of Alsace and Lorraine hearts met only with check upon check, that fact was due to German stupidity and brutality of method and to the unswerving and disinterested devotion of Alsace and Lorraine to France.

REPUBLIC IS BORN FROM MISFORTUNE

The republic was the issue of our misfortunes. It was born of our desire for peace. One of our first tasks, after the war of 1870, was the eloboration of the constitution of 1875, which has as its main purpose the freeing of the French peoples that it might thereafter work out its own destiny. The nation itself, speaking through its representatives, should henceforward decide on war or peace. No war is today possible unless it is willed by the majority of the nation.

France desired peace, and during peace, work. No period in our history proved more fertile than that separating the wars of 1870 and 1914. On the very morrow of our disasters our commerce and industry began to revive. In the intellectual field, in the domain of science, of art and letters, no epoch in our national history was ever so fruitful. France depended body and soul upon the worker.

France resolutely abstained from all projects of revenge. She required some outlet for those characteristics of a great nation, moral and material, that had sustained her through a history of sanguinary ordeal. She found it across the seas. The work of colonization undertaken by France in Africa and in Asia had the effect of deflecting the nation's mind from the gaping wound in its side, and of opening up a new field of economic endeavor and activity.

While France thus labored peacefully on, Germany under the fist of Bismarck and his successors, pursued her wild dreams of overlordship. The Treaty of Frankfort once signed, it dawned upon her that France was not dead, and was actually following up her destiny.

GERMANY TRIES TO RELIGHT WAR FIRES

Germany thereupon determined to complete her work of world violence. Eight times between 1870 and 1914 she attempted to relight the fire. In 1875 the intervention of the Czar of Russia, backed by England, was necessary in order to prevent Bismarck from repeating his crime. In April, 1887, Schnoebele, Commissary of Police at Pagny, on the Moselle, fell into an ambush led by the Reich. Europe was roused by this act of provocation and Bismarck was obliged to release the prisoner.

In November of the same year there followed fresh threats and provocation. Bismarck, "thanked" and dismissed by his master, nevertheless left as a legacy to his successors his principles and methods. In March, 1905, on the morrow of the disaster of Mukden, and thinking our Russian friends harmless and out of the picture, William II indulged in the theatrical provocation of Tangiers.

In June the German menace became so intense that the French government was obliged to dismiss its Minister of Foreign Affairs, C. Delcasse, in response to demands from Berlin.

In 1906 Germany bullied us at Algeciras, where we were trying to benefit by the good offices of the American government.

In 1908 she sought a quarrel with us in Morocco over three deserters from the Foreign Legion. In 1908 Austria, backed and even pushed by Germany, seized Bosnia and Herzegovina.

CONGO TERRITORY GIVEN TORMENTORS

We came within an ace at that time of the long war from which we have recently emerged. In 1911 the German war vessel Panther dropped anchor before Agadir. To this new provocation France, more than ever devoted to peace, to a peace which, alas, had come to be composed but of humiliations and concessions, replied by abandoning part of the Congo territory.

The author of these lines was not responsible for that. Intimidation, demonstrations of force—nothing during those forty years, was spared us. France was under the perpetual menace of German cannon. Bismarck had in 1875 seen two countries, Russia and Great Britain, coming to our side. Against France, therefore, he decided to create a group assuring him mastery of Europe. On October 7, 1879, he signed the treaty with Austria-Hungary; on March 20, 1882, the treaty with Italy. The Triple Alliance was complete.

Germany was at the head of 170,000,000 men who from the North Sea to the Mediterranean, cut Europe in two, commanded all the lines of communication and imposed their will. Germany had become the center of Europe and employed all her neighbors against that country which she had ever regretted having let survive after 1871.

Simultaneously the military strength of Germany grew in formidable proportions. In troops, material and munitions she became the most powerful in history. France, held back by its feeble birth rate and by an opposition refusing to see the danger ahead, followed a long way behind.

FRANCE IS BLAMED FOR DEFENSE MOVES

Each of her defensive moves was, however, received in Germany with general indignation. It is France which is the provocative force. It is she who dreams of re-establishing her domination by blood and iron. She is responsible for the directing of manual labor into the forging of instruments of death, for the fact that military budgets held the application of social laws for the betterment of the working classes. The national state of mind in Germany had become monstrously out of focus.

A form of Nietzschean mysticism had descended upon the entire nation. Universities, schools, newspapers, books, did nothing but exalt "Deutscheeland Uber Alles." Germany, created by God to bring its particular form of civilization to the world in general under the Aegis, naturally, of the Hohenzollerns and of all the big and little junkers of Saxony, Bavaria and Prussia.

The world reproached them for their barbarity. But they were merely proud of it. They pretended to represent the primitive virtue of the young and strong races in corrupt old Europe. They had their own god, in their image—the old German god. They had their science, their art. They were like immense tribes of those Teutons who, two thousand years before, by blood and iron, had sought to regenerate the world in the destroying of it.

NATION TREMBLES AS CONFLICT IS OPENED

When the war of 1914 was inflicted upon us by the German aggression (Americans then in Europe can scarcely forget the fact) France received the conflict with religious emotion and trembling with dispair. Not a German but shouted "Hoch," as if the burden of peace had suffocated him all too long.

Noblemen workmen, savants, bureaucrats, even Socialists, threw themselves into the combat with fury, prepared to throw their life, their honor, their conscience, into the cauldron.

Germany threw what remained of honor into the holocaust when she violated Belgium. The German savants cried "Bravo!" Beneath the doctor, scientist and the philosopher there lurked the beast of pray to whom all means to an end were justified.

At the outbreak of the war of 1914 Germany was ready, her full force mobilized, her plans made, her powder dry, her weapons sharpened—an incomparable army in numbers, in material and in furious spirit, and trained for long completely to forget the laws of humanity. Hence the martyrdom of noble and unhappy Belgium and of ten French departments in the north and east.

The generals of William II had only to repeat on our soil the lessons learned for forty-three years in the German war schools. They executed them faultlessly. But there was one accident—the French soldier, before whom the whole plan collapsed.

PREPARED GERMANY SURPRISES EUROPE

Germany had been ready. Europe, on the other hand, had been surprised, despite many warnings, and under the guns of the enemy had feverishly, yet slowly, to build up its effectiveness and war material. Here is what we witnessed in 1914: Russia trying to hold up the Germans with her unorganized legions without cannon or munitions. England hastily improvising a national army and disposing at first of only five divisions. Thus did the allies of France nourish bellicose dreams eight years ago. As for France in 1914, she had no heavy artillery. The German offensive through Belgium left us helpless, overrunning us at Charleroi and causing us to yield an eighth of our territory to the enemy. Forts proved of no use whatever, methods of combat utterly failed to meet the tactics of our adversary, of the engines of war employed against us. A cruel history, especially when the cause is one day inquired into. That's how France dreamed of war and prepared for it.

The Germany which we had known in peace we recognized again in war—brutal, cynical, inhuman, scorning all laws and pledges, burning those old centers of art which conferred on Northern Europe so much nobility and beauty, sinking merchants vessels and hospital ships, shooting nursing sisters, bombarding the "fortresses" of Paris and London, killing for the pleasure of killing, massacreing, destroying for the joy of destroying, and of tearing from this planet a measure of its life and happiness.

NO PITY IS SHOWN BY WILD INVADERS

The Cathedral of Rheims burned and mined; Louvain, Ypres, Termonde, sacked and reduced to cinders; St. Gervais of Paris bombarded and collapsing upon women and children in prayer on the day of death—Good Friday—this was the German war without respite, without pity.

Why? Because Germany had another desire besides that of emerging from the combat with life and honor. She wanted to make a clean sweep around her. The day had dawned of all for all. It was not only necessary to conquer, but to kill, destroy and raze the earth; as in the time of the great Germanic invasions designed to install a Teutonic domination of the ruins of a "degenerated" humanity.

We replied to this unchaining of fury with a peace of justice and of reparation, of moderation and reason, such as the world had never known: No war indemnity, no acquisition of territory, the reincorporation in French territory of the two dismembered provinces, reparation for damage done, the taking of guarantees permitting us to check the execution of the promises which Germany had made, the disarmament of Germany.

That is all France desired to obtain. Better still, by peace of Versailles, France and her allies desired to inaugurate a new order for the settlement of international conflicts, one inspired by this double principle: Reparation for wrong done, impossibility of a new war."

Unfortunately, the ills of a war like that of 1914-1918 are repaired but with difficulty. Even given the entire good faith of the conquered, if the latter by conscientious labor genuinely desired to help the world out of its sanguinary nightmare and back to a normal life, that would none the less remain for a long time hopelessly adrift and at sea. We are assisting today at the prolongation of a war which is not even likely to approach a conclusion, unless there is a new orientation of peace-time energy.

NOTHING IS NORMAL IN RAVISHED LAND

Finance is upside down, budget artificially met, rates of exchange giving sixty-five francs to the pound and fourteen to the dollar, a terribly distorted fiduciary circulation, an ever-increasing cost of living, strikes, rapid changes in the stock markets making commerce and industry impossible, accumulation of stocks.

It was materially impossible that either for conqueror or conquered aught else would result from this world catastrophe than complete chaos for all.

But it was earnestly to be desired both for the honor and salvation of humanity that associated in war, nations should have remained as solidly united in the execution of the treaty of peace as they had been in the conflict which procured it. For the people can die as easily from peace as from war. War and peace proceed at bottom from one and the same human impulse; the incessant struggle for existence and well-being. For that, it would have been necessary that the conditions, the methods of solidarity imposed by the war, should have continued in peace, and that, the last gun fired, people should not have restricted themselves to the keeping of an emotional memory of suffering endured in common.

ROAD EVEN IN PEACE IS HARD TO TRAVEL

There is not only "war." There is not only "peace." There are great people who should march shoulder to shoulder toward human realization today, tomorrow, always, though the road will be long and rough leading toward hazardous ends and through unknown ways.

Instead of that and despite France's efforts to prevent it, we saw each one retake his liberty of action. No longer was there the solidarity of one great body which, by its co-ordination and indissolubility, had won the war. Only sharpshooters remained who in their craze for importance, out of what I shall call their national egotism, may easily come to lose the pace.

France in 1914 was surrounded by allies who had recognized her good faith and her definitely pacific bent. In 1923 she is alone, confronted by a threatening Germany—alone with her ruins, with her fifteen hundred thousand dead, her eight hundred thousand mutilated, her three million wounded, laid waste because the war was fought on her territory, because she was for months of tragic uncertainty the rampart of the world, a rampart which if demolished, would have left the whole world at the mercy of Germany.

The war was fought on our territory because France happened to stand between the world and Germany. The world seems to forget that very easily. France is isolated.

VANQUISHED REFUSES TO HOLD TO PROMISE

With her finances in disorder, with her industry recovering but slowly from the turmoil, with her merchant marine disorganized by the war, she faces a Germany which says "I will pay," and does not pay, because she was permitted to escape even commencing to pay when she was well in the position to do so. France is isolated for having, since 1920, annoyingly counted on the automatic execution of a treaty, at the foot of which Germany, the President of the United States, and England, had signed, and without the strict application of which there is no hope for France of restoration.

The will of the people won the war. The will of all was no less necessary for the establishment of peace. Instead, there was substituted chatter, with its inevitable procession of quarrels without issue.

France in 1914 had grouped around her almost unanimously the other nations because she was recognized as sincerely desirous of peace. Today she is accused of wishing to continue the war in peacetime. She is accused of wishing to introduce the argument of the sword into conversations and to be dependent upon those same methods of force and intimidation which had gone to compose the Bismarckian peace.

FRANCE SEEKS LIFE; WILL BEAR BURDENS

That, because confronted by a Germany that refuses to disarm, which will not execute the Treaty of Versailles, or repair the damage done or rebuild the ruins made by her, before an ally which today refuses France the military guarantees which she offered yesterday, France does not wish to die. Come what may, German brutality and bad faith, injustice from her allies, France will proudly bear her burden. France desires to live. France will survive.

France never desired the war. She desires war less than ever today. Everything proves it; length of military service reduced from three years to eighteen months, reduction of effectives and of military credits, a long list of concessions without end which she has unhappily consented to these past three years, concessions which her situation as a victorious and strong power permitted her to refuse, yet which her government considered it their duty to accept in the interest of world peace.

France does not wish for war because she has suffered more from the rule of force than any other nation and because, whether conqueror or conquered, she would only come out of the conflict with new ruins. Her poor birth rate, her crippled finances, the task of reconstruction awaiting upon her, make France the last of countries which can dream to impose her will by force.

She contents herself with claiming what is her due, mutilated as she is. She appeals for justice. It is not just that, having done everything, having suffered everything for forty-four years to maintain peace, that, having been the object of the most hateful aggression of all times, that having had her soil ravaged, her towns destroyed, her children mowed down in millions, that having disastrously suffered the first shock of the invader with a heroism that saved the world, th t having by virtue of will power, endurance, privations and sacrifices, finally triumphed, she should be condemned to suffer more in her triumph than Germany in her defeat. Americans, judge!

TIGER BLAMES UNITED STATES

ington, and adverse newspaper comemnt on his revival of the French plea for a triple alliance, seemed, however, merely to stir the 81-year-old statesman to greater animation.

No specific comment on the criticism was obtainable from him, but he defended himself against them in the opening of his Chamber of Commerce address.

"Men have been too much criticised and may be overpraised, too," he said. "I think that is my case. Very often they ascribe to me too much ill, and sometimes too much good. I don't believe I have created a great deal of ill—certainly not to linger. A great deal of good, I dare not say."

Throughout his address, he sandwiched caustic comment on America and her post-war attitude with expressions of friendship and admiration for the country and her people. He told his auditors, for example, that they, with the rest of America, were "not as well informed as they ought to be." When they came to France, he said, "they continued to talk shop or to chatter about Fifth avenue and Broadway."

Then he robbed the remark of its sting by advising them to ask any American soldier who had met a French girl how easy and pleasant it was to learn French and the ways of France. The suggestion brought a burst of laughter and applause.

WILL DEFINE FRONTIER

Immediately after he had charged America with leaving France "in the lurch," he set the hall reverberating with applause when, with a great flashing of eyes, he declared, "we have to defend our frontier and we will defend it."

Closing his address, he declared he already felt his self-imposed mission to America was a success.

"If I were to go home tomorrow," he said, "I would tell my friends: 'Be quiet. I don't know how they will do it, but be sure the Yankees will do it once more.'"

When Clemenceau got home, shortly before 6 o'clock, to take a long rest before starting for Boston, he told members of the party that the trip to Brooklyn would live in his mind as "the most inspiring occasion I have ever attended."

Col. E. M. House, who arranged his tour, asked him how he felt after his strenuous day.

WOULD GO TO DANCE

"I never felt better in my life," he replied. "I would like to go to a dance with you."

Col. House declared he had never seen the Tiger happier or more pleased over any achivement of his life than he was over the results so far of his American visit.

The Tiger is scheduled to reach Boston tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and will remain until Sunday. Then he will return to New York, stop for a few hours and start for Chicago. He is scheduled to reach Chicago Monday afternoon. Other dates, as far as they have been tentatively set, are:

November 30—Springfield, Ill., where he will visit Lincoln's tomb.
December 1—St. Louis.
December 4—Chicago.
December 4—Washington.

TURK WARNED BY HARINGTON

arrayed against her today on the question of western Thrace, on which she demands a plebiscite and Greece, helpless and beaten by the armies of the Ottoman State, left a rather heated afternoon session of the Near Eastern conference with the feeling that she is not so abandoned as she feared.

The Turkish plenipotentiaries returned to their hotel looking dejected. One of them said: "They were all against us on the Thracian issue today, but it is not yet decided; we shall probably have something more to say tomorrow."

The Bulgarian Premier, Alexander Stamboulisky, explained Bulgaria's necessity to have an outlet to the Aegean Sea at Dedeagatch, already promised by treaty. Greece has admitted her obligation to grant Bulgaria port rights at Dedeagatch, but has explained that her war with Turkey prevented realization until now. Stamboulisky was inclined to support the idea of making western Thrace autonomous, but the trend of the Allied leaders' speeches was opposed to this.

FOR DEMILITARIZATION

While hostile to a plebiscite, the Entente spokesmen favored demilitarization of a considerable zone on the right bank of the Maritza River, which divides western from eastern Thrace, so that danger of an armed conflict between the Greeks and the Turks in the future would be lessened.

The former Grecian Premier, Elipthrios Venizelos, was at his best in defending the interests of his country. He frankly admitted that Greece had made mistakes and added that she had suffered severely as a consequence of these mistakes.

The burden of the Turks' arguments was that possession of both eastern and western Thrace was necessary to make Constantinople safe for Turkey and prevent incursions into Turkish territory.

AMERICANS SILENT

Lord Curzon, A. Barrare and Marquis Garroni spoke respectively for England, France and Italy. The American delegates did not participate in the discussion as they deemed the question did not directly concern the United States.

The Thracian problem will be attacked again tomorrow by Ismet Pasha.

The arrival of M. Vorovisky, the Russian commissary at Rome, indicates that Bolshevik Russia has accepted the invitation to come to Lausanne and discuss the problem of the Dardanelles. It is reported that Christian Rakovsky, president of Ukraine Soviet Republic and M. Tchitcherin, Russian Soviet Foreign Minister, will also come here.

RAIL EXPANSION COAST PROMISE

litigation seeking the separation of the two companies.

"The general increase in traffic has now made it imperative to undertake a number of improvements of a pressing nature at once," Mr. Kruttschnitt said. "The Southern Pacific stands ready, if this application for temorary lease of the Central Pacific be granted to advance the money at once, as the Central Pacific itself, with its poor credit, cannot obtain it, in order to provide enlarged and more modern facilities at various points, including stations at Sacramento and Reno, whose requirements have outgrown existing ones; to establish enlarged terminals at Dunsmuir, substitute themost substantial ballast for that now under ties on parts of the line where necessary; to start the construction of second tracks on parts of the Central Pacific lines where such construction will facilitate the prompt movement of traffic, such as certain sections of the tracks over Sierra Nevadas and in territory where the meeting points of eastbound passenger trains out of San Francisco and westbound passenger trains into San Francisco are concentrated.

CONSIDERS CREDITS

"The Central Pacific as an independent company has no credit in the financial markets of the world. If separated from the Southern Pacific it could not raise the capital necessary for the improvements now needed, or the huge additional amounts required, solely on account of separation and which would otherwise be unsatisfactory."

Mr. Kruttschnitt discussed the reasons which, he said, would result in a financially weakened Central Pacific Company after the separation. The Southern Pacific itself, would likewise suffer from the division.

"The Central Pacific contributes 25 per cent of the total income of the Southern Pacific system." Mr. Kruttschnitt continued. "That is $9,413,000 out of $35,946,000. The Southern Pacific Company's net income is used for payment of fixed charges, additions and betterments and for the payment of guarantees of bonds of its constituent or related companies. On July 31, 1923, the amount of such bonds guaranteed by it as to interest and principal was $401,000,000. The annual interest on these guaranteed bonds amounts to $17,400,000. It is patent, therefore, that if deprived of the net income contributed by the Central Pacific, the Southern Pacific would be in a position where it might have to default on some of its obligations incurred in building up a transportation system designed to give the public the most efficient service possible."

In questioning Mr. Spence, Mr. Scandrett argued that the asserted financial difficulty of the separation was being exaggerated. Both the Central and Southern Pacific, the former agreed, had during recent years earned all amounts necessary to meet fixed charges, such as bond interest and to pay dividends in addition. As to whether they could do so in the future, if separated, he said, was a question.

Questioned by E. O. Edgerton, attorney for a group of California shipping interests favorable to the combination, Mr. Kruttschnitt predicted "unparallel and astounding development in the future" for the Pacific Coast. The combined Southern Pacific-Central Pacific system, he said, would be necessary to provide resources and railroad facilities in the territory to keep up with the growth.

"It is local rather than transcontinental traffic to which we look for expansion," the witness said, adding that "the public and shippers on the Pacific Coast are fully justified in fearing that two separated and weakened corporations would be able to keep up the pace which the unified system has set for expansion and betterment."

SHIPPERS FIGHT FOR INTEREST OF PUBLIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Pacific Coast shippers, the men who pay the freight charges, have made some railroad history here by intervening themselves as the "party of public interest" entitled to first consideration in the fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission for control of the Central Pacific system. With the issues being raised now by the legal forces of the rival lines seeking Central Pacific control, namely, the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific, these men who pay $250,000,000 in freight charges annually have no concern. When the smoke clears away they are prepared to show the commission how the public interest is affected.

They have formed what is known as the shippers' committee against dismemberment of the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific system. That committee represents virtually all the freight-paying business in the Pacific Coast States. With counsel and witnesses the committee will attempt to show that dismemberment means demoralization of railroad service and increased freight rates.

E. O. Edgerton, former president of the California Railroad Commission, who is the director of the shippers' committee, is representing the shippers before the commission. He will put on the stand between twenty and thirty of the Coast's biggest shippers for protest against what they regard as ruinous disruption of railroad facilities.

such arrangements go to pieces in time of war, when needed most.

"The straits should be free to commerce both in peace and war. If the straits remain fortified, as probably will be the case, we prefer the Turks to be in control, and believe Italy and France have the same preference. England is the only gainer by the so-called 'freedom of the straits,' as not fortifying them means her big navy can always control them."

SEVENTY DIE IN DUST EXPLOSION

Mangled forms were borne tenderly, but with great speed, from the pit. Caravans of ambulances wended their way along the crooked road that led from mine to hospital. At 9 o'clock it was announced that it would take until 1 a.m. to remove the injured, and at that hour the task of removing the dead would be undertaken.

Fifty men, mostly white, were caught under the wreckage of the three "skip" cars which plunged at great speed when they broke loose from their moorings on the tipple 1100 feet above. Rescue crews found mangled bodies and a score of injured men entangled with twisted steel and splintered wood. The men so caught were skilled workers, many of the subforemen and electricians employed in the underground "yard."

SPARK CAUSES BLAST

According to company officials, the explosion occurred simultaneously with the crash of three "skip" cars which ran wild down the slope to the mine "yards," approximately 1100 feet from the entrance. These cars, breaking the cable, while they were being hauled up the slope to the entrance, crashed downward, severing an electric circuit. This caused a spark and as the cars crashed into the "yards," which were trackage in the interior of the mine, where loaded coal cars were assembled before being hauled to the surface, the explosion occurred.

So great was the blast that the flames belched upward all the way to the mine entrance, and then continued on 200 feet further to the mine tipple, setting this afire.

Approximately fifty men were working in the "yards" at the time and all of these were either killed or injured.

CORCKARD STATEMENT

Frank H. Corckard, president of the Woodward company, made the following statement at midnight:

"Out of 475 men who were in the mine at the time of the explosion it now appears that about seventy were killed and sixty more or less injured.

"Air currents have been established in the mine and all parts can be entered. The mine itself is not seriously damaged by the explosion.

"The explosion was possibly caused by cars breaking loose and running down the slope, when electric sparks exploded the dust picked up by the speeding cars.

"Practically all of the injured are now out and are being given every attention. While the loss of life is terrible, we are indeed grateful that more of the large number of workmen on duty did not suffer."

COLORADO PACT FAIR, IS CLAIM

Hoover Tells Arizona Not to Worry

Chairman Asserts Rights Are Cared For Governor Refuses Comment on Message

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 22.—The opinion that the compact worked out by the Colorado River Commission for the apportionment of the water of the river among the basin States is such as to protect Arizona's rights, is expressed in a telegram received today by Governor-elect George W. P. Hunt, from Herbert Hoover, chairman of the commission, which is now in session at Santa Fe, N. M.

The telegram, which was received at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, was in reply to a telegram sent Mr. Hoover last night by the Governor-elect, setting forth his opinion that Arizona could not enter into a compact with other basin States for at least two years.

Secretary Hoover also stated in his message that the proposed compact does not purport to finally fix all rights in the river. He also declared that until there is a basis of settlement of the present controversy, the power developments indorsed by the Governor-elect in his message last night, or any other development of the river, will not be possible for many years to come. Following is the text of the message:

HOOVER'S MESSAGE

"I am greatly obliged for your telegram of November 21. I was greatly in hopes you could have come and yourself have participated as have the governors and governors-elect of many of the other States. Arizona's interests have been represented with very great zeal and I feel sure that the basis of a compact as worked out is such as to protect Arizona. The proposed basis does not purport to finally fix all rights today, but establish a period of unretarded development in the basin with a final equitable division of the water, long after all engineering and practical data is complete. Unless there is a basis of settlement of the present controversy and a period of peaceful development assured between the basin States, the power interests you recommend or any other development of the river will not be possible for many years to come."

Governor-elect Hunt said he had no comment to make on the reply at the present time.

PROSPECT CHEERS

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Secretary Hoover, as chairman of the Colorado River Commission, telegraphed President Harding today, expressing gratification at the agreement announced recently at Santa Fe, N. M., upon main principles of a treaty between seven States and the Federal government providing for the development of the water power resources of the Colorado River. He expressed the hope that by means of the treaty the Colorado River system had been freed "from a generation of ligitation, strife and arrested development.

"It is worthy of note," he added, "that this is the first occasion when more than two States have, under the direct provisions of the Constitution, accomplished through this method the solution of interstate difficulties outside the courts."

"MASTER, I'LL PLAY FOR YOU NOW," SAYS PADEREWSKI; THE TIGER IS DELIGHTED AS CHILD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The Tiger was ready to retire at 8 o'clock tonight when Ignace Jan Paderewski, pianist and first Premier of Poland, arrived at the Gibson home and begged to see the Frenchman.

"Just for a minute," he whispered to Clemenceau's secretary.

The Tiger was delighted. "Of course. At once. Why, I would see this great man in bed."

TREMBLES WITH EXCITEMENT

His eyes glowed as Paderewski entered his chamber, and he trembled with excitement. They met in the center of the room, embraced and put lips to cheeks, after the continental custom.

"You are the greatest man in the world," exclaimed the pianist-statesman, who had occupied a box when Clemenceau spoke at the Metropolitan last night.

"No, Paderewski, you are the greatest," the Tiger corrected him. "I was moved to tears when you told at the Peace Conference of the sufferings of Poland."

"I WANT TO HEAR YOU PLAY"

Their chat ended, the Frenchman said, "before I go home I want to hear you play. When shall I have that pleasure?"

In a flash they held hands again.

"Master," said the pianist, "I will play for you now."

Clemenceau was delighted. Leading the Pole by the hand he almost danced downstairs to the music-room, shouting like a boy and summoning the household to "come and hear; come and hear."

Paderewski seated himself, looked at the Tiger a moment as though for inspiration, then leaned back, closed his eyes and played.

PASSION AND PATHOS OF MUSIC

Four times he played. And through it all, from the first to last, Clemenceau sat erect in his chair, staring intently at his friend, his features a kaleidoscope of the passion and pathos of the music.

As Paderewski finished and prepared to take leave Clemenceau caressed him again.

"Oh, my friend, my heart is full of happiness. What a man you are! You are more than a musician. You are a poet and there is poetry in your fingers."

Then the Tiger trotted off to bed, meanwhile chatting volubly with his valet, Albert, about "my great comrade, the great Paderewski."

EX-SENATOR FELTON NOW

First Woman to Sit in Body Withdraws in Favor of Successor After Making Speech

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Woman's brief domain in the Senate ended today with a dramatic speech by Mrs. W. H. Felton of Georgia, the first woman Senator, followed by her retirement from the public stage. Tonight she was en route homeward.

Every wish of the feminine political pathfinder—to be sworn in and placed legally on the Senate rolls, to answer a Senate roll call and to make a brief address—had been gratified before she left the capital.

"Indeed, I feel like I am the happiest woman in the United States," the 87-year-old lady said amid the applause of Senators and spectators, in the first address ever made by a woman in the Senate.

GEORGE SWORN IN

Immediately afterward, her successor, Walter F. George, whose gracious delay in presenting his election credentials had made reception of the woman Senator possible, was administered the oath, and Mrs. Felton became a former Senator. Appointed October 3, upon the death of Senator Thomas F. Watson, and sworn in yesterday, her actual Senate service was twenty-two hours and twenty-five minutes.

Complete poise and earnestness marked Mrs. Felton's address, made from the center aisle. Her voice reached all parts of the chamber without quaver of age or agitation. She spoke extemporaneously, ignoring notes in her hand, and with her quaint humor drew laughs from Senators and applause at the close. She thanked the Senate for "a beautiful, hospitable welcome" and was applauded when she said:

"You can take this remnant of the old South that has never flickered in her patriotism and you can be very well assured that she is not going to disgrace her commission."

In closing she declared that women would bring to the Senate ability, integrity and exalted purpose.

LEAVES FOR HOME

Mrs. Felton witnessed the administration of the oath to Senator George, but smilingly declined his offer to accompany him to the rostrum for the ceremony. She remained at the session as a former member until adjournment and left Washington tonight for her Georgia home, refusing to remain in the capital for events planned by her admirers.

Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, today offered a resolution to give Mrs. Felton full pay and perquisites of her term, because Senate officials under former precedents were unable to pay her for service after the election of her successor on the 7th inst.

The resolution, if adopted, would provide for Mrs. Felton receiving over $1000 from the government. She has been paid over $500 for salary from her appointment, October 3 to November 7, plus $12.33 for stationery allowances. Senator Harris's resolution would provide additional pay of $287.67, plus $280 for mileage.

Pocket Radio is on Its Way, Says Official

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—A vest-pocket, or wrist watch radio receiving set may be the next step whereby people can "listen in" anywhere, according to David Sernoff, vice-president of the Radio Corporation of America, in an address tonight before the New York Electrical Society.

Regarding development in equipment, he said:

"We have today the idea of a receiving set which serves the family or the community hall. Next may come the individual receiver worn on the person, in the vest pocket or perhaps in wrist-watch form, so that the individual in his home or in his office or on his way down the street, or on the country road, may listen in as he will to the news and entertainment of the world."

FIFTH WIFE TELLS TALES ON AGED MAN

COURT HEARS OF WILD DEEDS IN DIVORCE CASE OF E. T. TILDEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—E. T. Tilden, 72-year-old bond broker, was described as young for his years and something of a wild man by his wife, Mrs. Mary C. Tilden, today, in her suit for separate maintenance. She formerly was his stenographer, she testified, and they were married in 1912 in Seattle, Wash.

In Los Angeles, three weeks after their marriage, he threw a clock at her, she testified, and once at a dinner party he beat a guest, wrecked the furniture, shot up the place and then dined alone. Before their marriage he kicked her in the back while she was taking dictation and once branded her with a lighted cigar, she said.

Tilden's property is valued at more than $1,000,000 and his income is $50,000 a year, the wife said.

WITNESSES HIT MURDER STORY

Hall-Mills Slaying Tale of Mrs. Gibson Contradicted

Impossible for Her to Have Seen Killing, Girl Avers

Grand Jury Adjourns Taking Testimony Until Monday

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SOMERVILLE (N. J. Nov. 22. The first two important phases of the Hall-Mills murder case was practically finished tonight when the grand jury which has been listening to evidence since Monday, adjourned after deciding not to reconvene until next Monday.

Special Prosecutor Wilbur A. Mott has shown how the bodies were found. He has established to the best of his ability—barring the testimony of two additional witnesses—what he considers the motive. There remained tonight only the testimony of the two motive witnesses and the story of the crime, the eyewitness story to be told by Mrs. Jane Gibson, the hard-working farm woman, who said she saw the shooting.

Only thirteen witnesses were called today, but all of them were of the first importance. Nellie Russell was among the first called. She told reporters after her twenty minutes inside the room that she had "told the same story I told you."

HITS WITNESS STORY

If that is true, Mrs. Russell told the grand jury that Mrs. Gibson could not have seen the shooting, because Mrs. Gibson was talking to Mrs. Russell on the latter's stoop at the time the crime was committed.

George Sipel, another pig raiser, was another of the day's witnesses. Sipel has been credited with telling conflicting stories about his actions on Thursday night, September 14. But the one he told today concerned Mrs. Russell. According to detectives, Sipel told that he called at Mrs. Russell's shack that night to see her about a horse, and had corroboration to the extent that Theodore Knothe, a New Brunswick man, saw him do it. Knothe went into the jury room immediately after Sipel, and according to authoritative stories, both said that Mrs. Russell was not at home when they called a little before 10 p.m. According to Mrs. Russell, she was home from 9:45 until 11—and with Mrs. Gibson all that time.

CALL MILLS GIRL

Charlotte Mills was called and was in the jury room half an hour. She was more reticent than usual when she came out but it was learned from official sources that most of the thirty minutes were devoted to an explanation of the manner in which her mother's private letters came to be sold to a newspaper.

As soon as Charlotte left, James Mills was asked to go in. He spent more than an hour inside—and was the thirteenth witness of the day. Mills left the jury room pale and apparently weak.

Capt. Michael Regan, of fire truck No. 3, New Brunswick, and friend of William Stevens, Mrs. Hall's eccentric brother, also was a witness. Regan was sitting in the firehouse on the Saturday several hours before the two bodies were found. "Willie" came in, excited, Regan told reporters, and said, according to the fire captain, "something terrible has happened at our house. You'll hear all about it soon."

HEARD ARGUMENT

Mrs. Emma Voorhees, who was the first witness today, told detectives they admitted tonight that about 10 p.m. the night of the murder two automobiles coming from New Brunswick stopped in front of her home, which is one-quarter of a mile from the Phillips place. Two forms got out of the first car, she said, and walked toward the second.

Then, according to the officials, she heard loud talking and caught two sentences—"What does this mean?" "What are you doing here?"

This was followed by more words, she said, and then two sharp noises like pistol shots came. After that, she said the cars turned around and sped away toward New Brunswick.

GET BEHIND SHIP SUBSIDY!

Write Your Congressman Urging Support for Measure Up This Week

The fight over the administration's ship subsidy bill is expected to open in the House at Washington this week. The measure is of such vital importance to the welfare of the entire country that The Times invites its readers to join in the battle by writing or wiring their Representatives in Congress, urging support for the measure. The population of Los Angeles is such that if all the friends of the bill here adopted this suggestion, addressing the Congressmen of their home districts, every Representative in Washington will receive a flood of telegrams.

The time is short and whatever is done must be done now.

BILL WOULD REDUCE MEXICAN LEGISLATORS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONTEREY (Mex.) Nov. 22.—If a bill which is now pending before the national Congress becomes a law the number of Deputies and Senators in the law-making body will be reduced to one-half their present number.

It is proposed that the basis of representation shall be one member of Congress in the Lower House to each 150,000 of population instead of 60,000, as at present, and that each State shall have one Senator instead of two as is now the case. The pending measure is said to meet with much favor and its enactment into law is not improbable. The chief purpose of the proposed reduction of Deputies and Senators is to lessen the cost of government.

QUAIL IMPORTATION HALTED BY TARIFF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LAREDO (Tex.) Nov. 22.—No more quail will be imported from Mexico for the purpose of restocking the farms and game preserves of the Northern and Eastern States.

The Fordney-McCumber Tariff Bill placed a duty of 50 cents on each quail imported to the United States. This is a prohibitive tax, it is explained. It is not understood by the men who had built up quite an industry in shipping live quail from Mexico to various parts of the United States why the further introduction of these birds should have been practically prohibited.

Last year many thousands of Mexican quail were imported through Laredo, Brownsville, Eagle Pass and other border points.

PHILADELPHIAN'S ART CREATES COMMENT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Nov. 22.—Raphael Sabatini, a Philadelphia painter who has been living in Paris, is now en route to Philadelphia with the striking collection of paintings and sculpture designs which caused a mild sensation during the exposition at the American Art Association.

Mr. Sabatini's work covers a wide variety of subjects. His ultramodern conceptions and color studies are much commented on in the modern artist groups.

HARVESTER COMPANY TO ESCAPE SUIT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The Department of Justice is not contemplating an antitrust suit against the International Harvester Company according to officials. Furthermore, it does not believe that the time is ripe for proceedings to make the old dissolution decree more effective.

This was the substance of a report of the Department of Justice in response to a Senate resolution asking what new action was contemplated against the Harvester Company. The report was signed by the then Asst. Atty.-Gen. Goff and was dated last September 22, but it was not laid before the Senate until yesterday.

WIDOW TO TAKE UP PREACHER'S DUTIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) Nov. 22.—Mrs. Anna Christler, widow of the Rev. Leonard J. Christler, "Bishop of All Outdoors," has returned to Havre, Mont., where she expects to take up the work in which her husband was engaged when he was shot down, October 27, by Margaret Carleton.

Born Miss Anna Wadsworth of Auburn, this young woman incurred the displeasure of her people when she gave up her life as a society belle to become the wife of a struggling young missionary, and she now refuses to remain in the East with a life of ease and comfort.

IOWA SCHOOL LAW TO BE GIVEN TEST

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DES MOINES (Iowa) Nov. 22.—The law passed by the Thirty-Eighth General Assembly, prohibiting the teaching of secular subjects in a foreign language in Iowa schools below the eighth grade is to be tested in the United States Supreme Court.

Bruce J. Flick, Assistant Attorney-General, has gone to Washington to argue the constitutionality of this law before the high court tomorrow in the case of the State of Iowa versus August Bartels.

Bartels, who was a teacher in a parochial school and taught the German language to pupils below the eighth grade, was arrested and fined $25. He appealed to the District Court of Bremer county, where his conviction was upheld. He then appealed to the State Supreme Court and the verdict was again affirmed.

DEFENSE SOCIETY TO FIGHT REDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The American Defense Society, a national patriotic organization, has opened a Washington bureau, which will devote itself largely to combatting the influence of un-American and anti-American organizations, such as the Communist party of American and its "legal" branches, and all other radical organizations designed to bring about the destruction by violence of the government of the United States and its institutions.

The bureau here will be under the direction of R. M. Whitney, author of "The Reds in America."

MOTHER'S PLEA FOR REPRIEVE REFUSED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Nov. 22.—Acting Gov. William J. Coyle today refused a reprieve to James E. Mahoney, sentenced to be hanged at the Walla Walla prison December 1 for the murder of his wife, Kate Mooers Mahoney. The appeal was made in person by Mrs. Nora Mahoney, the convicted man's mother, who asked for a commutation of sentence or a reprieve for time to make an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, but the Acting Governor denied both.

JAIL POPULATION GROWS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The prison population of the United States, not including chain and road gangs and women committed to religious or charitable institutions, increased from 140,144 on July 1, 1917, to 150,151 on July 1, 1922, the Census Bureau announced today.

Beware of a Persistent Cold

When a cold hangs on week after week or when you contract a fresh cold before you are over the first one there is great danger of some germ disease getting a start in your system. The average consumptive will tell you that "I had a hard cold last winter that was followed by a bad cough that I have not been able to get rid of," or something to that effect. Why take the chances of such a result when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of bad colds may be had for a trifle.

CONGRESS FOR RURAL CREDITS

Drafting of Bill to Assist Farmers Begun

Live-stock Men Confer Over Provisions

Use of Federal Reserve May be Stumbling Block

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Encouraged by the recommendation of President Harding in Tuesday's message that the nation's credit systems be broadened to provide relief for the farmers, members of congress from the agricultural states today began steps to bring about enactment of rural credit legislation before the end of the present Congress next March.

Developments at the outset centered largely in the Senate and included introduction of a bill by Senator Norris, of the agricultural committee, for creation of a government capitalized corporation to buy and sell farm products; an address in the senate by Senator Ladd, Republican of North Dakota, warning against enactment of rural credit legislation based on the federal reserve system and a conference between eighteen senators from the live-stock-growing states and a committee of the American National Live-stock Association, at which the draft of a new credit bill was discussed.

These developments, together with statements by leaders, indicated that the passage of rural credit legislation would occupy a foremost place on the program of the agricultural bloc. The Senate members of the bloc will hold the first meeting of the session next week and at that time will endeavor to agree upon a program.

SIMILAR TO LAST BILL

The bill presented by Senator Norris for a farm products corporation is similar to a measure offered by the agricultural committee chairman at the last session, but which was supplanted by legislation extending the life of the War Finance corporation and its power; in the furnishing of agricultural credit until next June 30.

Senator Norris would have created a corporation with a maximum capital subscribed by the government of $100,000,000 and a directorate of three members, the Secretary of Agriculture and two others appointed by the President. The corporation, in brief, would be autorized to acquire elevators and warehouses; to buy farm products in the United States and to sell them either in this country or abroad, and to operate unchartered government tonnage in the carrying of products of the farm. The measure was referred to Senator Norris's committee, but there were no indications that it would receive consideration much more favorable than its predecessor.

The bill presented by the National Live-stock Association committee to the meeting of Senators from the live-stock States was drafted by the committee, in conference with War Finance Corporation officials, and is designed primarily to aid the live-stock producers, although committee members argued it also would provide relief for farmers. Its enactment or the passage of legislation having similar features, Fred B. Bixby, president of the association, told the Senators, was necessary to save the live-stock producers of the West.

WILL INTRODUCE MEASURE

Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas, who presided at the meeting, will introduce the measure tomorrow and it is expected to serve with other measures now pending or to be introduced as a basis for credit legislation. The bill would entail no use of Federal funds. It would provide for the formation under Federal law and under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency of agricultural credit corporations with a minimum capital of $250,000, to which national banks might subscribe to the aggregate of not more than 10 per cent of their paid-in capital and surplus.

The bill contemplates utilization of the Federal Reserve Board machinery to a certain extent and drafts issued or drawn for agricultural purposes, secured by warehouse receipts and accepted by member banks, would be made eligible for rediscount with a maturity of six months instead of the present three months.

The use of Federal reserve machinery was objected to by several of the Senators attending the conference, who voiced the belief expressed earlier in the day by Senator Ladd, in his speech, that a successful farm credit plan could not be entangled with the Federal reserve system. Indications were unmistakable that any legislation to extend rural credits through the Federal Reserve Board, as is understood to be favored by some administration officials, would be bitterly opposed in the Senate.

ALIEN CASES AWAIT FULL SUPREME BENCH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The argument of four cases on the docket of the Supreme Court involving phases of the alien-land clause of California and Washington depends in part, it was said today, on the appointment by the President of a successor to Associate Justice Day, recently resigned, and the speedy recovery of Justice Pitney or the appointment of his successor by the President should Congress authorize his retirement on account of impaired health.

Three of the cases were set for retirement on November 27, but Chief Justice Taft in setting for consideration with them the case brought by Raymond L. Frick and N. Satow, announced that the cases would not be heard until there is a full bench.

FINAL CURTAIN FOR "LIGHTNIN'"

Splendid Tribute Paid to Frank Bacon

Blackstone Theater Filled at Memorial Service

Judge Landis Speaks of Actor's Life

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Before an audience in which there were few dry eyes, Frank Bacon, famous actor and loved by thousands as "Lightnin' Bill" the character of his own creation, made his last appearance today.

The people of Chicago trudged, thousands strong, to the Blackstone Theater for the memorial services over the body of the veteran actor. The theater was crowded three hours before the time appointed for the services and thousands outside, unable to gain admission, refused to move until the simple services had been concluded.

A blanket of roses covered the coffin. Flowers filled the stage entrances and the walls were screened with blossoms. Sprays of flowers covered the footlights, behind which Mr. Bacon had appeared nightly for more than a year.

Richard Davis of the Fifth Christian Science Church read a short memorial service after which "My Immortal Home," the favorite hymn of the actor, was softly sung. Judge K. M. Landis then began to speak slowly and with apparent difficulty.

"He was our friend—and you out there who had no other contact with him than as a member of the audience felt a close personal intimacy," said Judge Landis. "Our friend had the good fortune of living a natural life. He was confronted at an early age by what are called the stern realities of life, that fit a man for life, but these struggles must come early and they so came for him. He learned the ABC's of character that speaks the man, and until he emerged into "Lightnin'" it was indeed a struggle. His ambition up to that time in a material way was to save enough money for that little piece of land in California—to see that 'Mother' had a home. And then came success.

"But our thoughts are not of artistic triumphs and professional success, deep and great as they both are. There are multitudes of people who benefited by his contact with them."

John Emerson of New York, president of the Actors' Equity Association, also spoke a few words of eulogy and as George Arliss and Grant Mitchell draped the flag of the association over the coffin, the curtain was rung down.

The widow, the son and daughter of Mr. Bacon, Lloyd Bacon and Mrs. Bessie Allen and three grandchildren, Jean and Bessie Allen and Francis Bacon were the only relatives attending the services. The pallbearers were all members of the Actors' Equity Association.

COMMITTEE FRAMING PAN-AMERICAN PACT

NO AGREEMENT REACHED ON PROGRAM OF NEXT CONFERENCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The governing board of the Pan-American Union failed today to reach an agreement as to the program for the fifth Pan-American conference, and a further attempt to outline a program for the conference acceptable to all of the nations interested was put into the hands of a special committee, with instructions to report on its work December 6.

Discussion was said to have centered tonight in the Uruguayan proposal for a Pan-American league of nations and the Chilean proposal for a reduction of armaments. No objections were said to have been offered as to the other sections of the program as submitted by the first program committee.

Secretary Hughes, who presided, was reported to have intervened when the breach over the two questions widened and suggested that the differences might be reconciled by a change in phraseology. This suggestion apparently was acceptable to all and the State Department head then proposed the naming of a new committee for that purpose.

CONEY'S MAYOR COMING WEST

Paddy Shea Will Desert Resort to Have Home in California

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Paddy Shea, popularly known as "the mayor of Coney Island," and one of its wealthiest residents, let it be known today that he is quitting the resort for good and henceforth will make his home in California.

The "mayor" for years ran his "Irish cabaret" on Coney's bowery. In the days before prohibition he often sold from 250 to 300 kegs of beer on busy days, but last season he refused to open his place.

ARIZONA HIGHWAY ISSUE DEFEATED

LATE RETURNS PILE UP MAJORITY AGAINST THE ROAD MEASURE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, Nov. 22.—There now is no longer doubt of the failure of the initiated proposition to bond the State for $2,500,000 for the building of a paved highway from near Phoenix to the Colorado River opposite Blythe. At first thought carried by the heavy votes of Maricopa and other Central Arizona counties, late returns from both north and south show an adverse majority of at least 1000.

Today announcement was made by Governor-elect Hunt of the appointment of his primary campaign manager, E. V. Samuells, to be secretary of the Board of State Institutions, a $4800 position, with which Mr. Samuells will consolidate the position of purchasing agent, which was paid a similar salary.

Secretary James J. Davis of the Department of Labor and Director-General of the Loyal Order of Moose, was the guest here today, of the State and of the local Lodge of Moose. He was met at the train by acting Governor Ernest Hall and taken for an inspection trip over the irrigated district of the Salt River Valley.

At noon he was guest of the Valley Luncheon Club and in the afternoon, spoke at the Shrine Auditorium to a large audience. He left at 6 o'clock for the East.

Two of the most notable of Arizona's pioneer miners died in Phoenix today. One was Charles E. Philes, for fifty years a mine operator in Cavecreek district, north of this city, and the other Dan Ainsworth, who had been brought here to a hospital, from his mines near Hot springs junction. Each was aged about 80 years.

MURDTRS HIS WIFE, THEN KILLS SELF

CHILDREN ESCAPE BY LEAPING THROUGH WINDOW OF HOME IN NIGHT CLOTHES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

QUILCENE (Wash.) Nov. 22.—After horribly hacking his wife to death with an ax, William Panmant, a sawmill engineer, killed himself with a shotgun at his home here early this morning. Two small daughters, Phyllis, 9 years old, and Gladys, 15 years old, escaped a possible similar fate of their mother when they leaped through their bedroom window and ran to the Quilcene Hotel, across the street, from where they telephoned for the Sheriff in Port Townsend. Gladys this morning told of the double tragedy that leaves her and her sister orphans.

"We were asleep in a room next to mother's, when we were awakened by a loud voice in mother's room," she said. "Father was in there. He said to mother, 'Shall I do it?' and she said, 'Why don't you?' And then we heard him hit her and she screamed terribly."

Gladys and Phyllis then leaped through a window and in their night clothes and barefooted, ran to the hotel, where they awakened the proprietor and told him the circumstances. Citizens, alarmed by the hotel owner, went to the Pammant home, where they found Pammant shot to death on the floor of the dining-room close by. Mrs. Pammant's body was found in her blood-soaked bed, the stained ax lying a few feet away. An inquest was held today.

PRAIRIE OIL TO BUY ON GRAVITY RATING

NEW METHOD TO AFFECT SMALL REFINERS IN MIDDLE FIELD

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

TULSA (Okla.) Nov. 22. — The Prairie Oil and Gas Company, the largest purchaser of crude oil in the mid-continental field, today announced that effective today it would buy crude oil in Kansas, Oklahoma and North Texas on a gravity basis instead of paying the one price of $1.25 or more a barrel, as it has been doing for 15 years.

The new method is expected by oil authorities to prove a stumbling block to small refiners. These interests buy oil at a stipulated premium above the posted price of the Prairie company and they have been paying approximately the same prices as the big purchaser, except in certain higher grades where the Prairie prices are slightly higher than those being paid by refiners.

Oil of 38 degrees, for instance, has been purchased by the refiners for 25 cents above the Prairie posted price of $1.35 a barrel, but under the new schedule the Prairie price is $1.60 for this grade.

About fifty per cent of the entire production of the mid-continent field is affected.

WOOL GRADES TO BE SET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Hearings on official wool grades which will be fixed by the Department of Agriculture, will be held in Philadelphia tomorrow, at Chicago, December 6 and in Washington at a date to be announced later, after which the official grades will be promulgated.

GOMPERS REFUSES HAGUE PARLEY SEAT

AMERICAN LABOR WILL NOT JOIN IN ANTIWAR CONFERENCE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—An invitation to participate with the International Federation of Trades Unions in a general labor antiwar conference at The Hague, December 16, was rejected today by President Gompers and the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

To J. H. Thomas of the British labor organization, who is president of the international federation, the American organization authorized a response declaring the unwillingness of labor unions in the United States to commit themselves to an international general strike in case of any declaration of war, whether defensive or not, to renunciate national entity, to seek "nationalization of wealth," or to enter a gathering where the trend of discussion had been set down in advance.

Originally it had seemed possible, the American federation letter said, for the labor organizations of the United States to participate in the proposed peace congress with unions of other nations, but resolutions of the International Federation of Trades Unions, adopted at Rome, had laid down such advance terms that no association could be attempted. Devoted as it has been to the general cause of peace, it was declared, the American federation could not seek to further such cause in a meeting "committed in advance to proposals not only lacking in constructive character, but which may easily be of themselves a most serious menace to the cause of freedom."

Mr. Gompers, the eight vice-presidents of the federation, and Frank Morrison, its secretary, signed the communication, an identical copy of which was forwarded to the British Trades Union Congress.

FILM HEADS BANQUETED BY GRAUMAN

Local Exhibitor is Host to Visiting Magnates at Alexandra Dinner

Mere business gave place to a gayer mood, and visiting delegates to the Paramount convention of distributors were afforded an opportunity thoroughly to enjoy themselves at a banquet tendered them by Sid Grauman last night at the Alexandria Hotel. Mr. Grauman is the most prominent local exhibitor of Paramount pictures and decided to provide a program of music and dancing and other entertainment in honor of the guests of the motion-picture industry as a feature of the third day of the session being held here.

A miniature musical revue, violin and vocal solos, and a variety of dances provided pleasure for the guests at the dinner. The affair was attended by all the visiting delegates, besides Adolph Zukor, president of Famous Players-Lasky; Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president and general manager, Marcus Loew, president of the Metro Pictures Corporation; Victor H. Clark, assistant to the vice-president and western general manager; Hugo Riesenfeld, musical director for important theaters in New York, Charles Eyton, manager in charge of the Hollywood studios; S. R. Kent, manager of distribution, and others. Mr. Zukor and Mr. Loew occupied places of honor at the banquet table on either side of Mr. Grauman.

Following the banquet the delegates visited Grauman's new Metropolitan Theater inspecting the construction and enjoying the music played by a large orchestra. The speeches made at the banquet betokened the warmth of the get-together feeling. Mr. Loew and Mr. Kent in brief talks expressed their views on the importance of a closer union between all the various departments of motion pictures and expressed their approval of the excellent good-will that was evidenced at the various meetings.

GIRL AVERS GEM DEALER FOOLED HER

Friends of Visalia Bride Want Jeweler Brought Back from Mexico

Efforts to procure a complaint under the Mann Act against H. W. Polinsky, former San Luis Obispo jeweler, were made at the U. S. Attorney's office yesterday by friends of Miss Carolyn Edwards, aged 19, of Visalia, for whom Polinsky is asserted to have left his wife in San Luis Obispo and with whom he is said to have eloped to Mexico, after tricking her with forged divorce papers.

Polinsky, according to Detective Sergeants Lucas and Hickok, left home the 11th inst. with most of the portable stock of his jewelry store, and leaving debts of about $20,000 behind him as a legacy to his wife. He married Miss Edwards, who is said to be a member of a prominent Visalia family and went with her to a hot springs resort between Tijuana and Ensenada, in Baja California. When the couple were located and Miss Edwards was informed the jeweler's purported divorce was a fraud, she returned to her home in Visalia. PolPolinsky, the detectives say, is still at the resort, where he uses the name of Polin.

Mrs. Polinsky got out a warrant charging bigamy and forgery, which is in the hands of Sheriff Taylor of San Luis Obispo, according to the detectives. It was decided the Federal authorities would stand a better chance of extraditing Polinsky than the State authorities, so the matter was referred to them.

NAMED FOR COMMISSION

George F. Guy was yesterday appointed by Mayor Cryer as a member of the Humane Animal Commission to succeed W. F. Holt, whose term has expired. The Council is expected to confirm the appointment.

GLENDALE IS OPPOSED TO ANNEXATION

Sentiment of Citizens' Meeting Overwhelmingly Against Joining L. A.

That the sentiment of the citizens of Glendale is overwhelmingly against annexation to Los Angeles was shown last night by a meeting of citizens in the auditorium of the Glendale High School, when out of an audience numbering more than 600, only two or three persons spoke in favor of the idea.

"The skids are greased to go in, but the door is locked to come out."

This declaration by Judge Fred H. Taft of Santa Monica drew enthusiastic applause from the audience as apparently expressing the ideas of the majority of those present.

The discussion centered on five reasons that have been put forward by advocates of the annexation idea, and the reasons were successively disposed of by counter arguments. The reasons for favoring annexation were given as dissatisfaction with the present city management, excessive taxes as compared to Los Angeles, high cost of transportation, lack of water supply and sewage disposal at present a burning issue in Glendale.

Judge Taft, one of the principal speakers, asserted that Los Angeles was not in a position to promise anything, that the promises said to have already been made were made by boosters, and that if Glendale should be annexed it would have to settle its own sewage problem with a bond issue as well as paying part of Los Angeles' $12,500,000 bond issue, said to be insufficient to care for its own sewage.

Roy Kemp read a telegram from Commissioner Brundage of the State Railroad Commission which declared that the city fathers of Los Angeles were in no position to afford Glendale relief from high street-car fares. Judge Lowe of Glendale also spoke, and Madison Jones presided over the meeting. The Glendale City Council announced that it had engaged J. P. Lippincott, engineer, to survey the sewage situation and report on it.

It was also announced that at a meeting to be conducted tonight at the Intermediate School on Wilson street, the answers will be read to a number of questions regarding annexation which were recently propounded to the City Council of Los Angeles by a group of Glendale citizens.

MANY TOURISTS ARE EXPECTED THIS YEAR

Hundreds of thousands of tourists will be entertained by the Pacific Coast states this winter, according to Charles S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, who arrived here yesterday for conferences with local officials.

Mr. Fee bases his estimate on reports from traffic representatives that he has interviewed.

Improved business conditions all over the country, bumper crops in the Middle West, and reduced fall and winter fares to this Coast are important factors tending to increase tourist traffic, he stated.

MRS. PEETE CAST ASIDE BY HUSBAND

Woman Slayer is Divorced in Denver by Mate Who Gets Child

Richard C. Peete, husband of Lofie Louise Peete, who is now in San Quentin prison serving a life sentence for the murder of Jacob C. Denton, was granted a divorce in Denver yesterday by Judge Morley.

The decree carries with it the custody of the Peetes' daughter, Betty.

Mr. Peete, according to word from Denver, based his complaint upon asserted acts of his wife prior to May, 1920, when the couple separated, and did not include any mention of the murder in his petition, nor did he refer to it in his testimony.

He testified that Mrs. Peete had subjected him to mental cruelty almost continually from their marriage, Feb. 14, 1915, until the date of separation. Disputes over financial matters and repeated quarrels over other matters were referred to and he averred that they were forced to live apart several times because of his wife's ungovernable temper.

The divorce papers were served on Mrs. Peete in California on July 26, 1920, before her name had been mentioned in connection with the murder of Denton. He came to California during his wife's trial to assist her, asserting his belief in her innocence.

The Denton murder was one of the most sensational cases ever tried in the Los Angeles courts. Denton, a mining man, was discovered buried in a crypt in the basement of his Catalina street residence, three months after he had disappeared. Mrs. Peete was convicted of shooting him and secreting the body.

An angle of the Denton case was in progress of hearing before Judge McCormick yesterday, relating to efforts to recover $15,000 insurance carried by the deceased. Superior Judge Russ Avery, who was executor of the Denton estate, appeared as a witness. He told of his acts in administering the estate.

SALARY CUT PLAN GIVEN RICHARDSON

Proposal for Biennial Budget Calls for Slash for Nine Men

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 22.—A plan proposing cuts amounting to 50 per cent or more in the salaries of nine appointive State officers now drawing from $5000 to $10,000 a year, has been placed before Governor-elect Richardson by those assisting him in the preparation of a biennial budget, and has been taken under advisement, it was learned here today.

The proposal is the first intimation of the Richardson program of economy and is said in political circles to be the forerunner of a number of other drastic changes looking toward a reduction in State expenditures.

The four offices paying $10,000 a year are hit hardest under the plan. These are the Superintendent of Banks, General Manager of the Reclamation Board, Manager of Compensation Insurance and Director of Public Works.

Under the proposed plan the Superintendent of Banks, Jonathan Dodge, and the Reclamation Manager, Melville Dozier, Jr., would each be reduced to $5000 a year, while Director of Public Works A. B. Fletcher would be cut to $6000. The Manager of Compensation Insurance, C. W. Fellows, would be reduced to $4000.

Three jobs now paying $6000 a year would be cut to $4000. These are attorney to the banking commissioner, Insurance Commissioner and warden of San Quentin, held by J. M. Oliver, Alexander McCabe and James A. Johnston, respectively.

The RealEstate Commissioner, Edwin T. Keiser and the Adjutant-General, J. J. Roree, who now receive $5000 a year, would be reduced to $3000 a year under the proposal.

The salary of Warden Johnston originally was $5000, but was recently increased by the prison board of directors over the protests of the State Broad of Control. The matter was taken into the courts, where it was decided that the prison board had the power to increase the salary without the consent of the Board of Control.

All of the officers affected under the proposal hold office at the pleasure of the Governor or his appointees except Insurance Commissioner McCabe, whose term expires in March, 1925. Salaries of five of the offices are fixed by statute.

New Downtown Flats Planned by Hamburgers

Plans for an immense new downtown apartment house are being tentatively drawn up, according to M. A. Hamburger, who with David A. Hamburger intends to erect the building, which will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000.

The building, which will be a twelve-story class A apartment-house, will be erected on the east side of Hill street between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets and will cover a lot 120 feet on Hill street with a depth of 150 feet.

The structure probably will contain about 150 apartments of one, two and three rooms each. It will be started shortly after the return of D. A. Hamburger, who is now in Europe, to Los Angeles, and will take about a year to complete. When finished, the owners plan to give first choice of apartments to the employees of downtown stores, since it is within easy walking distance of their places of employment and will still afford them the convenience of an apartment further out.

HAMMER FIEND SEEN AT BEACH

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 22.—Reports that an infuriated man had hammered "an object" in a field near the pumping station, and the finding of a pool of blood and bits of bone at the scene, caused police yesterday afternoon to investigate a possible moron murder case.

Three employees of the pumping station at Marine and Hatch street informed police of the case. Among the employees was a man named Trewet.

He asserted that a thin-faced man, wearing a black slouch hat, speeded his machine into the field about 400 feet distant from them.

"The fellow was wild-eyed," said Trewet. "He hurled an object to the ground on the other side of the car and began to beat its head with something that looked like a hammer. It was something about three feet long that he was hitting and we could not make out whether it was a child or not. It may have been a dog. Then he lifted it into the machine and drove recklessly away. He was soon lost in the traffic."

Detective A. F. Young and Sergt. Ben Carrillo went to the scene to investigate. They found a pool of blood and blood spots that had dripped ten feet from where the machine had been standing. They also picked up a piece of bone, possibly from a skull. The bone and blood clots were taken to the office of a chemist for examination to determine whether they had come from a human being or an animal.

An investigation also was begun to discover whether any small children in the Santa Monica Bay district were missing.

Fred Harlow is Held on Motor Crash Charge

Arrested last night for reckless driving after he had collided with another car, Fred Harlow, well-known restaurant man, was placed in the city jail and his bail fixed at $500.

Harlow collided at Second and Spring streets with a car driven by C. J. Nicholls, 914½ Vernon avenue, smashing Nicholl's machine and injuring him so that he was treated at the Receiving Hospital.

According to Officer G. A. Boyer, who made the arrest, Harlow tried to escape after the accident. Surgeons, who examined Harlow at the Receiving Hospital, declared that he had been drinking. Harlow formerly conducted one of the best known cafes in the city and has a wide reputation as a restaurateur.

RED CROSS CALLS FOR MORE AID

Drive Results So Far Have Not Insured Success, Says Head

"One more week to save the home service bureau of the Red Cross," is the word from Mrs. Erwin P. Werner, city vice-chairman of the roll call.

"Many women are devoting themselves to making a success of the roll call. They have given a month of their time to this work, but the response has not been enough to insure the disabled veterans of the services of the Red Cross for another year."

Among the successful movements in favor of the roll call is the "Come across for the Red Cross" drive at the film studios. Mrs. Wilfred Buckland has distributed 4500 membership buttons at the studios.

Persons who have not yet taken out their memberships will have the opportunity at many of the downtown grills at the lunch hour this week. Among the restaurants opened for the Red Cross workers are Marcel's, the Palais Royal, Victor Hugo and the Winter Garden.

WOOLWINE SPENT MORE THAN VICTOR

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES MORE THAN TRIPLE THOSE OF RICHARDSON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 22.—Thomas Lee Woolwine, defeated Democratic candidate for Governor, spent $1400 in his recent campaign while the successful candidate, Governor-elect Friend W. Richardson spent $431.15, according to statements of campaign expenses filed in the office of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan today. In both cases the major portion was paid out for traveling expenses.

Under the law the time for filing accounts expired today although it was stated accounts would be received by the Secretary of State through the mails provided they bore today's postmark. Proponents and opponents of various measures on the ballot have until November 27 to file their campaign accounts.

The records show that Senator Hiram W. Johnson spent $271.52 during the campaign. Frank H. Kerrigan, W. A. Sloane and Emmett Seawell, successful candidates for the Supreme Court bench, spent $718.79, $760.94 and $474.34, respectively.

ALL-YEAR CLUB BOOSTERS DINE

Matchless Summer Climate is Known Everywhere

Two Millions Population in 1930, the Prediction

Nearly Quarter of Million Paid Visits Here

"United States government reports for the last forty-four years have been telling the world that Southern California has an average maximum temperature of 66 deg. all summer, and at last the people of this section are waking up to the fact that our matchless summer climate is one of the greatest assets of the Southland."

This was one of the statements made yesterday by Daniel H. Jones in an address before the All-year Club of Southern California at a luncheon given at the Alexandria and attended by 200 representative business and professional men of Los Angeles and vicinity.

Predicting a population of 2,000,000 by 1930, Mr. Jones cited, among other reasons for his prophecy, the unparalleled growth of Los Angeles within the last three years, and further, that the eyes of the commercial world are now focused upon the West Coast, with special attention to the productive Southland, and the fast-developing harbor of Los Angeles.

ORIENT TO BE CUSTOMER

"It is not Europe, but the vast Orient, that is going to absorb the greater part of America's surplus products during the next ten years," said the speaker. "Not the Atlantic, but the Pacific Ocean is going to bear the majority of American ships to foreign ports. These vessels are going to be loaded with the food and manufactured articles which the intelligence and industry of the West will produce from our soil and mines and pastures. India and China are at our door. Our opportunities for service and the reward of service are unlimited."

Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank, and chairman of the All-year Club executive committee, spoke briefly of the phenomenal influx during the last three years of visitors from the East, thousands of whom, he said, have become home owners in this city.

Presiding at the meeting was Harry M. Haldeman, vice-chairman of the club, who outlined the work already accomplished by the organization, and who said that it is to the direct interest of every business man in the Southland to contribute time and money for the purpose of informing the world of the glorious summer climate of Southern California.

"In spite of the fact that 99 per cent of the residents of the Southland prefer our summer climate to the winter season, many of our best boosters have in the past laid principal stress on the winter climate when writing to their friends in other sections of the country," said Mr. Haldeman.

VISITORS POUR IN

Mr. Haldeman quoted a statement recently made by F. S. McGinnis, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Company, to the effect that during the summer season of 1922 the Southern Pacific trains brought to the Pacific Coast 215,376 persons on tourist tickets, an increase of 31,627 over the tourist travel of 1921.

James B. Duffy, general passenger agent of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system, was quoted as having said that the passenger traffic into Southern California in June of this year was 41 per cent greater than in the same month of the preceding year.

A message was read from T. C. Peck, general passenger agent of the Union Pacific system, who said that the June passenger business into the Southland this year was 35 per cent more than for June of last year.

Statistics gleaned from reports of the managers of various hotels throughout the Southland showed an average increase in business profits for this summer over the summer of 1921 of more than 50 per cent.

Both railroad officials and hotel managers gave full credit for the increase in business to the information campaign which has been carried on by the All-Year Club.

ROBIN HOOD OF CUBA ESCAPES

Plunderer of Rich, Idol of Masses Not Expected to Be Caught

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HAVANA, Nov. 22.—Arroyito, one of Cuba's famous bandits, a Robin Hood who plundered the rich and divided with the poor and is idolized by the masses, has again broken jail in Matanzas. Friends on the outside breached the penitentiary wall with dynamite and Arroyito galloped away on horseback, followed by the shots of the guards. The army now is pursuing him.

His tremendous popularity makes recapture almost impossible. El Pais offers through its columns to aid sympthiazing friends to raise by subscription sufficient funds to facilitate the bandit's escape from Cuba.

YOUTH WILL FACE COURT AS FORGER

Julian Corbett, Dancing Teacher, Must Appear on Serious Charge Today

Despite his fatal beauty Julian Corbett, accused of forgery, must face a preliminary hearing on the charge today, Justice Baird decided yesterday following the youth's arraignment. Bail was fixed at $2000.

Corbett is charged with having forged the name of Harry P. Hubbard, 777 Central avenue, to a check for $10 which he cashed on the 13th inst. The police say Corbett has left a string of bad paper in other cities on the Pacific Coast and accuse him of having been responsible for a forged warehouse receipt in Portland.

Deputy Sheriff "Bill" Bright and Detective A. W. Fitzgerald of the Burns Agency say they found quantities of rouge, powder, and other feminine toilet accessories in Corbett's apartment in an exclusive Wilshire home. At the time of his arrest there he was in the company of a beautiful society miss whose name has not been divulged.

Corbett, who follows the profession of dancing master, is said by the police to have cashed bad checks which he induced other youths to write, and to have reversed the process by uttering checks which they cashed.

Father's Death Under Wheels to be Quizzed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 22.—The body of Walter J. Schmauss, who was killed by a train at Willcox, Ariz., Monday while en route to Lake City, Minn., to settle an estate of which he was a beneficiary, arrived here today.

Mrs. Minnie Schmauss, the widow, has requested Willcox authorities to investigate her husband's death. Reports to her from Southern Pacific officials that it appeared to be a case of suicide failed to satisfy her.

The widow asserted that her husband left Long Beach with their 9-year-old boy Kenneth and was in a happy mood. The boy told his mother today that his father had left the train at Willcox to get a sandwich. The train pulled out without him. The body was discovered by a station agent mangled by the wheels, and Kenneth was sent back on the next train to identify the body. Mrs. Schmauss denies her husband had any motive for suicide.

Brewery to be New Industry at Long Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 22.—Long Beach, generally accounted the "driest" town in Southern California, is to have a brewery, according to a Chamber of Commerce announcement.

This body declared today that the Los Angeles Brewing Company had purchased one acre of ground here from the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company for $11,000 and would erect at once a plant for the manufacture of almost beer and other malt beverages. Malt liquids for medical purposes are to be made also, and it is understood commercial alcohol will be a product of the plant.

WIFE TO FIGHT DIVORCE SUIT

Denying that she was ever involved with the police in Vienna or Lucerne, Mrs. Genevieve M. Paddleford, wife of Dr. George E. Paddleford, wealthy oil man of Hollywood, announced yesterday through Philip Cohen, her attorney, that she would sail from Europe on the 28th inst., to fight the divorce suit instituted by her husband.

In a letter to Attorney Cohen, Mrs. Paddleford declares that she has been ill in a hospital in Lucerne, and inclosed a hospital chart showing her condition. She denies ever having been arrested in Europe and states that she is prepared to fight charges made by Dr. Paddleford when she comes to Los Angeles to combat the litigation.

JAIL SLOWS UP DRIVERS IN TRAFFIC

Auto Club Survey Shows Reckless Driving is on Decrease

Traffic "observers" from the Automobile Club of Southern California, following a general survey of auto travel on the city streets here during the past three days, since the jail-sentence idea for reckless driving has gone into effect, declare that a remarkable change has come over the city.

Speeding already has materially lessened on the streets, and motorists are conducting themselves in a more orderly manner, it is reported.

About 92 per cent of Los Angles autoists really are careful drivers, says the Auto Club, and only 8 per cent are reckless. The club's suggestion that jail sentences be given was issued, according to officials of the organization, for the purpose of protecting the majority.

That Los Angeles is learning what Detroit and San Diego already have learned in the matter of stopping speeding, is the club opinion.

Shower Baths Such as This Unappreciated

Cold shower baths are all very well in their place, thinks Mrs. Cora Chantrey of Sierra Madre, but when they come unexpectedly in the middle of the night, after one has been pulled out of one's bed by the heels, and then had a chair jerked out from under one, that is something else again.

Mrs. Chantrey, who married Charles E. Chantrey, well-to-do rancher, May 12, 1919, filed suit for divorce yesterday, basing her action in part on the shower bath episode, which she declared took place about six months after the wedding. The rancher poured a bucket of water over her while she was lying on the floor, trying to recover from two violent bumps, she asserts. On another occasion, according to Mrs. Chantrey, her husband struck her from behind, knocked her through a doorway and out into a puddle of water, where he forced her to remain two hours.

The climax came recently, she charges, when he struck her and broke her glasses, cutting her face. Then she had him arrested. He got forty days' imprisonment and $125 fine. She left Chantrey, she says, on the 9th inst. Through her attorneys, Miller & McComas, she asks for absolute divorce and $75 a month alimony.

APPLE FESTIVAL

Yucaipa Valley Event Promises to Be Best Ever Held There

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 22.—Plans are completed for the Apple Festival of the Yucaipa Valley, which is to be held at the Woman's clubhouse there Friday and Saturday of this week. The plans call for an outdoor court, beautifully decorated, where there will be booths for the display of apples and apple products. It will be the finest display of the fall fruit made in Southern California this year.

The women of the valley are to serve turkey dinners at the clubhouse, and there will be plenty of apples and apple cider for all those who visit to the festival. Also a play is to be given by the women of the valley. The Yucaipa Valley is more beautiful now than ever before. The leaves of the apple, peach, pear and plum trees have turned all shades of red and yellow because of the early frost and the whole valley is a wonderful mass of color.

HUNGRY THIEF TIRES OF CHEAP UTENSILS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 22.—Redlands' "hungry burglar," who has been working the town over every two or three nights for several weeks, is thought to have tired of eating tempting viands with ordinary dinnerware, for last night he stole twelve pearl-handled knives and forks and a small sum in money from the home of Prof. S. Guy Jones, passing up other jewelry and silverware.

The "hungry" thief's record is interesting. He has stolen several three and four-pound roasts, loaves of bread, thirty or forty glasses of jelly, cakes, cookies, rolls, canned goods of all kinds, cheese and butter. All he seems to want is a little money and plenty of things to eat.

He has never been seen and locked doors and windows are "duck soup" for him.

BEACH CITY FACES LOSS OF POLICE

Higher Pay in Los Angeles Proves Lure to Many on Force Elsewhere

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 22.—This city faces a loss of half its police department all because Los Angeles has seen fit to increase the pay of its guardians of the law.

It became known today that several members of the local department are planning to apply for positions on the Los Angeles force. Many other police officers are contemplating such action. Included in the number who intend to apply for positions on the Los Angeles force are several veteran detectives and detective sergeants, it was declared.

At the present time police officers here are paid $130 a month to start. After six months of service this is increased to $140, and after a year to $150. Detectives and detective sergeants receive a maximum of $165 per month.

The Los Angeles department is paying recruits $170 per month. This is gradually increased on a basis of length of service and seniority.

NOT TO SUE FOR SALARIES

Santa Barbara District Attorney Will Follow Advice of Grand Jury About Payments to Deputies

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 22.—The District Attorney of Santa Barbara county will not bring suit to recover moneys paid illegally in salaries to deputies if the final report of the grand jury filed today with the Superior Court is needed.

These salaries were paid under the ruling of the State Appellate Court handed down many months ago. The heads of county offices in this county as in every other county in the State, where the law applied, took it for granted that the decision of the Appellate Court was sound law. Now this ruling has been set aside by the Supreme Court and for a time all was in turmoil here where heavy loss would have been sustained by deputies had the grand jury advised suit to force recovery.

A communication sent out of county auditors over the State by Ray L. Riley, State Comptroller, which has stirred things up pretty much over California, is the basis for the grand jury's recommendations. This communication reads:

"To the county auditors: Your attention is directed to a recent decision of the Supreme Court volnue 64, No. 3396, page 362, entitled 'John F. Forward et al vs. county of San Diego, State of California, C. R. Hammond, Auditor of said county.'

FORBIDS INCREASES

"It appears from the decision of the court that if your county has enacted a new county government act within the past four years that gives additional deputies or increases the salaries of said deputies during the incumbency of any county officer said increase or additional deputies is in violation of the Constitution of this State; therefore all claims for services based upon any change brought about by any new county government act cannot be legally paid. This decision was rendered October 20 and payrolls for November and December should be scrutinized carefully.

"I am requesting the Attorney-General to Construe this decision and am confident that his opinion will coincide with the above statement. Should it develop that in his opinion the decision does not apply as outlined will immediately advise you.

"Would suggest that you notify the other county officers.

"Yours very truly,

"[Signed] RAY L. RILEY,
"Comptroller."

ADVISES AGAINST SUITS

In the final report on this matter the grand jury says:

"Owing to the fact salaries have been paid to different deputies in the county of Santa Barbara under the ruling of the Appellate Court and services have been rendered by these officials and paid for by the county, we recommend that the district take no action in regard to the recoveries of these salaries.

"We express our confidence in the integrity and honesty of the various officers of the county and we are convinced that they employed no more help than is required to conduct their offices in proper manner."

Santa Barbara's grand jury is the first inquisitorial body in the State to render a report since the Supreme Court decision upsetting the Appellate Court's salary decision and county officials believe that the recommendations will be taken by other grand juries as the keynote of the policy that should be employed over the State or hundreds of county officials and deputies would be subjected to a hardship in being forced to refund salaries which it is pointed out were justly earned and it is further urged that county auditors and treasurers had a right to rely on the decision of the Appellate Court as having been based upon good law.

RESORT OWNER AGAIN SUED

For the second time within nine days Thomas Jacobs, proprietor of the Log Cabin, a road house on Washington Boulevard at Venice, was made defendant in a $51,000 damage suit whhen George E. Stoddard, University of Southern California law student, began action in Superior Court yesterday as the result of a beating he says he received at Jacobs's place during an Armistice Day celebration on the 11th inst.

Harry Liggett, also a Southern California law sudent, filed a complaint against Jacobs on the 14th inst., asserting that he had been set upon by a number of hangers-on at the Log Cabin and so badly mauled that he was confined to his bed for several days.

Through his attorneys, Fredericks and Hanna, Jacobs, who is named by both Liggett and Stoddard as one of their assailants, denies that he took part in the attack. In a formal answer to Liggett's complaint he charges the former soldier with drunkenness.

NEW CHIEF ASSIGNED TO NARCOTIC FORCE

This addition to the force will make four men on the job here—Halstead, Montgomery, Bright and Wood.

Night Life Love Brings End to Marriage Days

The responsibilities of married life rested heavily upon the shoulders of Nina Dabney, her husband, Dr. Franklin K. Dadney, a retired physician, testified in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday.

"She said I was too old," Dr. Dabney said. "She liked night life."

"Sort of a butterfly existence," the court surmised?

While Mr. Dadney was at the funeral of his brother, his wife packed her belongings and told him upon his return that she was going to leave him, he declared.

"She said she did not want to live with an old man like me; she wanted to be free. She demanded a settlement of $1200," Dr. Dabney declared.

After the separation Mrs. Dabney told a friend she was not sorry she left her husband. She declared she was far happier and did not want to live a married life. The court granted Dr. Dabney a divorce.

SALT LAKE DOCTOR IS DIVORCED

Wife Says Husband Let Son Run Wild; Took Roof Off House

The views of Mrs. Louisa Griffith and her husband, Dr. Warren M. Griffith, physician of Salt Lake City, on how to bring up a boy, caused much of their domestic trouble, Mrs. Griffith said during her divorce action in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday, where she was granted a decree.

Dr. Griffith allowed his 16-year-old son to use his automobile.

"My boy was out night after night," Mrs. Griffith declared, "and he stayed away from school to go joy riding.

"When I remonstrated with my husband he would says: 'Let him go to the devil; he will stop when he gets to the end of his rope."

The boy ran away from home, riding the brake rods. Mrs. Griffith was terribly worried; she told her husband to follow him, as he would freeze.

Dr. Griffith's reply was: "Let him freeze; it will do him good."

Dr. Griffith would never share any responsibility of the children, Mrs. Griffith declared.

Mrs. Griffith interested herself in soldiers. She planned to give them a party, but while she was on a visit her husband had the roof of the house removed. This spoiled the party and was the final break up of the family ties.

FIRST SPOUSE LURES HUSBAND

The bonds between Myrtle Lind Gesell, former bathing beauty, and Frank A. Gesell, broker and vice-president of the League of the Southwest, were severed yesterday by Judge Summerfield, who awarded a divorce decree to Mrs. Gesell.

It was after her husband had begun to stay out nights, declared Mrs. Gesell, that she became suspicious and engaged a detective to trail him. When the detective reported that he had seen Gesell in shirtsleeves and his former wife, Helen Gesell, in a kimono, she decided to sue for a divorce.

Introduced as evidence was a letter from Gesell, which read in part:

"I believe that when two people have trouble they should check up matters before coming to a final decision. I am sorry I treated you mean and don't know why I did it.

"I have grown to dislike you, although I don't know why, and don't want to come in contact with you any more than necessary. I am not worried about you, for you will find some one else. I feel that you are entitled to my best wishes. I know you are a good girl and you were square to me. I give you credit for that.

"It was just a mistake, that's all. We were not meant for each other. You are all right and I don't think I am so bad if I am with the right girl. Luck to you, at any rate."

A postscript said: "I wish you would stop using my name and use your own."

The Gesells were married Feb. 25, 1920, and separated in April of the same year. The divorce complaint was filed by Mrs. Gesell the day after she, her mother, Gesell and wife No. 1 had engaged in a battle over the ownership of an expensive coupe.

CHICAGO LOSES SOME CITIZENS

Seventeen Men With Liberal Ideas Put Away

Public in No Mood to Stand for Soviet Doctrines

Day of Unscrupulous Labor Leader is Passing

BY C. B. EVANS
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Occasionally a king drops out of regal existence and we turn a languid gaze toward the space that he has filled and that is the end of him so far as we are concerned. Almost equally does the public show indifference toward a really significant happening in this city, that is the departure of seventeen citizens from our midst to prison plus the payment of rather liberal fines. Yet the incident is a business fact of much significance. These men have been persistently followed by the administrators of justice for two or three years, and their cases have gone to the highest court but without avail to them.

William Bross Lloyd is sentenced to one to five years imprisonment and a fine of $5000 for violation of the State Espionage Act and his associates are awarded similar penalties in proportion to the responsibility considered as belonging to them. The offense is really that of insurrectionary proceedings against the government, which were typified by the appearance of Mr. Lloyd in the street flying a red flag. Lloyd is a rich man, a lawyer, grandson of William Bross, once Lieutenant-Governor of Illinois, and son of the late Henry D. Lloyd, a man of extremely sweet nature but with ideas regarding governmental affairs at variance with those held by most American citizens.

Perhaps neither William Bross Lloyd nor his associates would be set down by the ordinary person as bad men, but they have given countenance and leadership and encouragement to a class of persons whose instincts and habits of life are logically subversive not only of our government but of all industry in the sense in which we commonly use that term.

That is the offense charged against them by most business men, who are extremely sensitive to anything that looks like a change in the control of property and business. Nothing ruffles the old-style business man, or the new style for that matter, like the words Socialist, Communist, syndicalist and the rest of the terms in that category, and the pressure of the property interests in the direction of calling Communists and their ilk to legal account in very strong. It is well understood that these so-called reformers are a comparatively new type, and a dangerous one, with the ultimate destiny of murder and robbery as characteristic of the status toward which they are tending. Reversion to a gross animal condition is inevitable if their principles are carried into full operation.

In some instances, such as that of Mr. Lloyd, the unfortunate thing will be that so much real goodness and knowledge and mental discipline would go down to the beast status and be wasted. Most people observing these persons pronounce them paranoiacs, and surely if they are sane the rest are not sane.

That applies to the philosophic portion of the group. The rest of the members are simply envious persons that want to get other people's property away from them. Anyhow they are not like the great reformers of history, such as Luther, William The Silent, Cromwell and Garrison.

This class has caused a great deal of injury to the business affairs of this city, which has become notorious for its labor troubles and in which the building industry was for a long time under the thumb of unscrupulous labor leaders, and is not altogether free from that domination at the present time. Along with this has been an extraordinary era of crime, largely inspired by the very principles of these convicted men, whose purpose is to destroy or greatly modify our present financial and social order.

It is a satisfaction therefore that these worms of the community are to be placed in structures of material harder to bore into than the rather thin fabric of civilization.

It is gratifying to see with what confidence the American looks forward to the future of his country and its business in the face of unquestionably great menace from the revolutionary classes, chiefly in foreign countries. Our system has so much strength in itself that such happenings as the sending of these men to prison or even a sudden outbreak of rioting are considered trivial incidents. Today in the most hazardous of all lines of business we find stock traders holding on and as one prominent broker puts it "buying more."

Nothing short of old-fashioned fever and ague, which used to trouble us here a great deal in the early days, can shake the Chicago trader loose from his stocks. He can stand Lloyd and his associates multiplied many times over, if necessary, and still wear a smile.

EXPANDING USE OF ELECTRICITY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Investment in plant and equipment is fifty-nine times the original outlay. Demand for electric power here is 350 times what it was twenty-nine years ago. Net income has expanded from below $330,000 in 1892, when there were 4452 customers, to more than $10,000,000 for 1922. Since 1910 the stock has never sold below 100 and reached 155 in 1913. Last year's high was 117. The Middle West Utilities and its twenty-six subsidiaries had 387,354, or 16.6 per cent more than a year ago. Connected electric load was 526,715 kilowatts, up 24.1. Sales of appliances incidental to the main business totaled for the nine months $1,034,110, a gain of 17.6.

Reflecting the expanding use of electricity for heating and cooking, 6221 customers used electric ranges, against 5151 a year previously. Number of electric customers was 288,593, a gain of 18.5 per cent, and of gas customers 63,313, a gain of 13.6.

Marketing of cattle from western ranges this season, within a fortnight of closing, has been liberal, much more so than a year ago, but considerably under war-time tops. Grass has been below average, which explains disappointing average weight and the disparity in price. High freight rates and car shortages were handicaps, and it is said that many cattle were turned back after being rounded up for shipment.

WALL STREET NEWS

BY MONITOR
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
(Copyright 1922, Public Ledger)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Apparently Wall Street is not entirely satisfied with the tremendous outstanding supply of General Motors and recent reports which have been in circulation that directors of the company might consider a plan to restore the par value of the common stock to $100 seems to be met with general approval. Such a move would reduce the outstanding supply to a point where daily fluctuations would naturally be much greater. At the present time General Motors has been backing and filling between 12 and 15 for so long that any small speculative profits which have been made from time to time have been eaten up by commissions because of the large turnover necessary.

Public Service of New Jersey has responded to the good earnings of the company by again increasing the dividend rate on the common. In March the quarterly rate was increased from $1 to $1.50, or from $4 per year to $6 per year. Now directors, by declaring a $2 quarterly dividend have raised the rate to $8 per year, bringing the common to a par with the preferred.

According to street gossip Julius Kayser earnings at the present time are running well above a total for the same comparative period a year ago. This company naturally feels the increased holiday demand before others, and at the present time trade is very good. From present indications the current fiscal year should show an increase over the year ended August 31, during which period the company earned a tride more than $11 a share on the common.

Increases in ore, grain and coal tonnage have again enlarged the total of freight loadings on the Great Northern, and the first of fifteen days of November showed an increase of nearly 30 per cent over the same fifteen days a year ago.

Announcement that the Cuban government had asked for bids on a $50,000,000 loan improved sentiment in regard to the sugar stocks in the early trading. It was later stated by one of the bankers mentioned as among the bidders for this issue, that bids had not as yet been asked for. However, it is generally assumed that this loan will come true in the near future and that when it does business conditions in Cuba will improve to a point where all of the sugar companies will benefit indirectly.

October railway earnings are just beginning to come out, and as yet there is no clear indication as to what extent the strike will still be reflected. However, professionals who apparently played the major part in today's drive on the rails, found plenty of ammunition in the possibilities of adverse legislation by the coming Congress and full advantage was taken.

Allied Chemical weakned unexpectedly with a sharp drop of more than three points ascribed to professional operations. In several cases recently where such sudden weak spots have appeared, it has developed that forced liquidation by weak holders has either made the situation or that selling by professionals in anticipation of such pressure has weakened the market to an extent where the actual sales have been made at even lower prices. It is considered probable that such forced selling is about over.

President F. B. Underwood of the Erie today denied the rumors of impending receivership for that road. He declared that the road has sufficient funds to make all payments up to and including January 2. Mr. Underwood called attention to the fact that the loaded car movement on the Erie at present is running well above the total for the same time last year, as well as 1920, and at present is offered more tonnage than it can handle.

A reflection of the decidedly favorable condition existing in the sugar industry at present is offered by the action of National Sugar in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on its $15,000,000 capital stock. This company has recently increased its outstanding stock by 50 per cent and its ability to pay the same rate on $15,000,000 in stock as it had on $10,000,000 is decidedly encouraging.

There is still considerable discussion of the possibilities of a stock dividend on Endicott Johnson. According to market gossip, the market may declare a distribution of 20 per cent which would amount to about the same as an increase to $6 per share on the common stock, providing that the company maintained its present dividend rate of $5 per share.

When directors of Columbia Gas & Electric meet tomorrow, it is believed that some action may be taken on the dividend. Earnings for October and possibly for the first ten months of the year will be issued. At the last meeting of Columbia it was believed that dividend action was deferred until after the election for political reasons.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Rail Liens Heavy

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—There were several points of strength in today's fairly active market, but free offerings of railroad mortgages, particularly the second grade issues, turned the whole list somewhat irregular. The volume of trading, however, was comparatively light. United States Government issues held firm, Liberty 3½s jumping up 32s on $100 and the others showing only nominal changes.

New York, Westchester and Boston 4½s broke 2½ points and Seaboard Air Line consolidated 4s, while issues of approximately the same rate were in Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4s, St. Paul debenture 5s and convertible 4½s, Norfolk and Western convertible 6s, Friscos prior lien 5s, Kansas 4s and adjustment 5s, Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5s, West Shore 4s and Central of Georgia consolidated 5s. Minneapolis-St. Louis consolidated 4s and 5s, New Haven 6s and Missouri Pacific 5s were strong at the start, but fell back under the depressing influence of lower stock prices.

Chile Copper 7s, Oils Steel 5s, Magma Copper 7s and Julius Kayser 7s were the weak spots in the industrial division, while Brooklyn Rapid Transit certificate 7s and stamped 7s had the most ground in the public utility group.

Mexican 4s, Lyons 6s and Canadian Government 5s each pushed a point or so in the foreign list. Investors in foreign securities were interested in Havana dispatches indicating that bids for the proposed $50,000,000 Cuban loan would be opened next week and that four New York syndicates, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., Speyer & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co. and Blair & Co., would submit bids.

Public offering was made today of an issue of $2,500,000 Erie Railroad 5 per cent equipment trust certificates, maturing from 1923 to 1937, at prices to yield from 4.75 to 5.50 per cent. Total sales, par value, were $11,490,000.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22.—"Further additions are being made to active iron and steel capacity and the rise of production still is the commanding feature," says Iron Trade. "Operations are reaching close to or are over the rate prevailing in 1920. At Pittsburgh the Steel & Tube[illegible] Steel Co. for the first time in two years has all its twelve blast furnaces in operation. The last furnace of the Cleveland Steel Company goes out of commission for a period in January. Three of the Republic plant will be relined, but only one will be out at a time. The Inland Steel Co. has reported additions which will increase its output of steel by 50 per cent in October. The Ohio Steel Foundry Co. is making up a large volume of business.

"Many car builders are speeding up on. Chicago mills, which are getting the best of business, have heavy negotiations in western roads, and have production about 100,000 tons of steel for all kinds of cars now pending in this territory.

"American Locomotive are bidding on 25,000 tons of large size pipe for San Juan, Porto Rico, and Pittsburgh is said to have taken the order. Pipe orders on November was 8,000,000 more than the corresponding date in 1921. This indicates that the year is nearly until resumption of drilling operations.

"While the expected buying movement of steel has not yet set in on a large scale, indications are more encouraging. A Central Michigan railroad recently inquiries for 15,000 tons of freight cars and another for 5000 cars for next year. Two other roads have up 17,000 cars between them.

"The Iron Trade's composite price of Bessemer iron has not yet agreed, being $31.71 for this week compared with $31.61 for last week, $30.61 for the first of October, and $24.71 for November, 1921.

CHICAGO LOSES SOME CITIZENS

Seventeen Men With Liberal Ideas Put Away

Public in No Mood to Stand for Soviet Doctrines

Day of Unscrupulous Labor Leader is Passing

BY C. B. EVANS
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1922, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Occasionally a king drops out of regal existence and we turn a languid gaze toward the space that he has filled and that is the end of him so far as we are concerned. Almost equally does the public show indifference toward a really significant happening in this city, that is the departure of seventeen citizens from our midst to prison plus the payment of rather liberal fines. Yet the incident is a business fact of much significance. These men have been persistently followed by the administrators of justice for two or three years, and their cases have gone to the highest court but without avail to them.

William Bross Lloyd is sentenced to one to five years imprisonment and a fine of $5000 for violation of the State Espionage Act and his associates are awarded similar penalties in proportion to the responsibility considered as belonging to them. The offense is really that of insurrectionary proceedings against the government, which were typified by the appearance of Mr. Lloyd in the street flying a red flag. Lloyd is a rich man, a lawyer, grandson of William Bross, once Lieutenant-Governor of Illinois, and son of the late Henry D. Lloyd, a man of extremely sweet nature but with ideas regarding governmental affairs at variance with those held by most American citizens.

Perhaps neither William Bross Lloyd nor his associates would be set down by the ordinary person as bad men, but they have given countenance and leadership and encouragement to a class of persons whose instincts and habits of life are logically subversive not only of our government but of all industry in the sense in which we commonly use that term.

That is the offense charged against them by most business men, who are extremely sensitive to anything that looks like a change in the control of property and business. Nothing ruffles the old-style business man, or the new style for that matter, like the words Socialist, Communist, syndicalist and the rest of the terms in that category, and the pressure of the property interests in the direction of calling Communists and their ilk to legal account in very strong. It is well understood that these so-called reformers are a comparatively new type, and a dangerous one, with the ultimate destiny of murder and robbery as characteristic of the status toward which they are tending. Reversion to a gross animal condition is inevitable if their principles are carried into full operation.

In some instances, such as that of Mr. Lloyd, the unfortunate thing will be that so much real goodness and knowledge and mental discipline would go down to the beast status and be wasted. Most people observing these persons pronounce them paranoiacs, and surely if they are sane the rest are not sane.

That applies to the philosophic portion of the group. The rest of the members are simply envious persons that want to get other people's property away from them. Anyhow they are not like the great reformers of history, such as Luther, William The Silent, Cromwell and Garrison.

This class has caused a great deal of injury to the business affairs of this city, which has become notorious for its labor troubles and in which the building industry was for a long time under the thumb of unscrupulous labor leaders, and is not altogether free from that domination at the present time. Along with this has been an extraordinary era of crime, largely inspired by the very principles of these convicted men, whose purpose is to destroy or greatly modify our present financial and social order.

It is a satisfaction therefore that these worms of the community are to be placed in structures of material harder to bore into than the rather thin fabric of civilization.

It is gratifying to see with what confidence the American looks forward to the future of his country and its business in the face of unquestionably great menace from the revolutionary classes, chiefly in foreign countries. Our system has so much strength in itself that such happenings as the sending of these men to prison or even a sudden outbreak of rioting are considered trivial incidents. Today in the most hazardous of all lines of business we find stock traders holding on and as one prominent broker puts it "buying more."

Nothing short of old-fashioned fever and ague, which used to trouble us here a great deal in the early days, can shake the Chicago trader loose from his stocks. He can stand Lloyd and his associates multiplied many times over, if necessary, and still wear a smile.

EXPANDING USE OF ELECTRICITY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Investment in plant and equipment is fifty-nine times the original outlay. Demand for electric power here is 350 times what it was twenty-nine years ago. Net income has expanded from below $330,000 in 1892, when there were 4452 customers, to more than $10,000,000 for 1922. Since 1910 the stock has never sold below 100 and reached 155 in 1913. Last year's high was 117. The Middle West Utilities and its twenty-six subsidiaries had 387,354, or 16.6 per cent more than a year ago. Connected electric load was 526,715 kilowatts, up 24.1. Sales of appliances incidental to the main business totaled for the nine months $1,034,110, a gain of 17.6.

Reflecting the expanding use of electricity for heating and cooking, 6221 customers used electric ranges, against 5151 a year previously. Number of electric customers was 388,593, a gain of 18.5 per cent, and of gas customers 63,813, a gain of 13.6.

Marketing of cattle from western ranges this season, within a fortnight of closing, has been liberal, much more so than a year ago, but considerably under war-time tops. Grass has been below average, which explains disappointing average weight and the disparity in price. High freight rates and car shortages were handicaps, and it is said that many cattle were turned back after being rounded up for shipment.

Cattle: Wednesday's cattle market was unchanged, selling only 443, but fair clearance was effected into the day. Sales also on an easier trend. No strictly good cattle were sold up to a late hour. A load of medium 978-pound Colorado steers sold at 7.25, while 35 951-pound Wyoming steers at 7c, and 32 head averaging 1078 pounds at 6.85. Beef cattle needed further trade.

Two loads of good framed steers sold on feeding account at 8.75. There were no strictly good cows sold. A string of 143 medium cows, averaging 909 pounds, brought 5.20, and another load of common cows went at 4c, with canners at 2.50@2.50. Odd lots of bologna bulls sold at 3.75.

Calves: Calf market was about steady, with nothing choice offered. A load of plain heavy steers sold at 6.50.

Hogs: Further sharp break in price at the Midwest River market, together with a larger influx of hogs due to the easing up of the car shortage, tended to force a lower market here. No choice light hogs had been sold up to a late hour.

Sheep: Two loads of medium quality Utah lambs had not sold up to a late hour. The market was quoted steady.

WALL STREET NEWS

BY MONITOR
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
(Copyright 1922, Public Ledger)

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Apparently Wall Street is not entirely satisfied with the tremendous outstanding supply of General Motors and recent reports which have been in circulation that directors of the company might consider a plan to restore the par value of the common stock to $100 seems to be met with general approval. Such a move would reduce the outstanding supply to a point where daily fluctuations would naturally be much greater. At the present time General Motors has been backing and filling between 12 and 15 for so long that any small speculative profits which have been made from time to time have been eaten up by commissions because of the large turnover necessary.

Public Service of New Jersey has responded to the good earnings of the company by again increasing the dividend rate on the common. In March the quarterly rate was increased from $1 to $1.50, or from $4 per year to $6 per year. Now directors, by declaring a $2 quarterly dividend have raised the rate to $8 per year, bringing the common to a par with the preferred.

According to street gossip Julius Kayser earnings at the present time are running well above a total for the same comparative period a year ago. This company naturally feels the increased holiday demand before others, and at the present time trade is very good. From present indications the current fiscal year should show an increase over the year ended August 31, during which period the company earned a trifle more than $11 a share on the common.

Increases in ore, grain and coal tonnage have again enlarged the total of freight loadings on the Great Northern, and the first of fifteen days of November showed an increase of nearly 30 per cent over the same fifteen days a year ago.

Announcement that the Cuban government had asked for bids on a $50,000,000 loan improved sentiment in regard to the sugar stocks in the early trading. It was later stated by one of the bankers mentioned as among the bidders for this issue, that bids had not as yet been asked for. However, it is generally assumed that this loan will come true in the near future and that when it does business conditions in Cuba will improve to a point where all of the sugar companies will benefit indirectly.

October railway earnings are just beginning to come out, and as yet there is no clear indication as to what extent the strike will still be reflected. However, professionals who apparently played the major part in today's drive on the rails, found plenty of ammunition in the possibilities of adverse legislation by the coming Congress and full advantage was taken.

Allied Chemical weakned unexpectedly with a sharp drop of more than three points ascribed to professional operations. In several cases recently where such sudden weak spots have appeared, it has developed that forced liquidation by weak holders has either made the situation or that selling by professionals in anticipation of such pressure has weakened the market to an extent where the actual sales have been made at even lower prices. It is considered probable that such forced selling is about over.

President F. B. Unnderwood of the Erie today denied the rumors of impending receivership for that road. He declared that the road has sufficient funds to make all payments up to and including January 2. Mr. Underwood called attention to the fact that the loaded car movement on the Erie at present is running well above the total for the same time last year, as well as 1920, and at present is offered more tonnage than it can handle.

A reflection of the decidedly favorable condition existing in the sugar industry at present is offered by the action of National Sugar in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on its $15,000,000 capital stock. This company has recently increased its outstanding stock by 50 per cent and its ability to pay the same rate on $15,000,000 in stock as it had on $10,000,000 is decidedly encouraging.

There is still considerable discussion of the possibilities of a stock dividend on Endicott Johnson. According to market gossip, the market may declare a distribution of 20 per cent which would amount to about the same as an increase to $6 per share on the common stock, providing that the company maintained its present dividend rate of $5 per share.

When directors of Columbia Gas & Electric meet tomorrow, it is believed that some action may be taken on the dividend. Earnings for October and possibly for the first ten months of the year will be issued. At the last meeting of Columbia it was believed that dividend action was deferred until after the election for political reasons.

BOND QUOTATIONS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—There were several points of strength in today's early bond dealings, the offerings of railroad mortgages, particularly the second grade issues, turbed the whole list heavy, the volume of trading, however, being comparatively small. United States Liberty issues held firm, Liberty 3½s jumping up 32c on $100 and the others showing only nominal changes.

New York, Westchester and Boston 4½s broke 2¼ points and Seaboard Air Line consolidated 4s 2, while issues of approximately a point were in Baltimore and Ohio convertible 4s, St. Paul debenture 4s and convertible 4½s, Norfolk and Western convertible 4s, Pere Marquette 4s, Panama 2s and adjustment 4s, Chesapeake and Ohio convertible 5s, West Shore 4s and Central of Georgia consolidated 5s. Minneapolis-St. Louis consolidated 4s and 5s, New Haven 6s and Missouri Pacific 5s were strong at the start, but fell back under the depressing influence of lower stock prices.

Chile Copper 7s, Otis Steel 6s, Magma Copper 7s and Julius Kayser 7s were the weak spots in the industrials. Rumors, while denied, that the Transit certificate 7s and stamped 7s had the most ground in the public utility group.

Mexican 4s, Lyons 4s and Cuban-Dominican 8s each yielded a point or so in the foreign list. Investors in foreign securities were interested in Havana dispatches intimating that bids for the purpose of $50,000,000 Cuban loan would be opened next week and that four New York syndicates headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., Speyer & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., and Blair & Co., would submit bids.

Public offering was made today of an issue of $2,000,000 Erie Railroad 3 per cent equipment trust certificates, maturing from 1923 to 1937, at prices to yield from 4.75 to 5.50 per cent. Total sales, par value, were $11,490,000.

Market Review

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND, Nov. 22.—"Further additions are being made to active iron and steel capacity and the rise of production still is the commanding feature," says Iron Trade. "Operations are running close to 85 per cent, the best record in two years. At Pittsburg the mills of Jones & Laughlin and the Carnegie Steel Co. have been blown in, as have all the Steubenville furnaces of the Carnegie Steel Company. Furnaces at Youngstown are going in slowly. The Steubenville district, which was the last to feel the depressed times, will be reported additionally, as has already been put under fire in Ohio. The heavy volume of new orders is bringing in prices at an early date.

"More car inquiries are coming out. Chicago mills, which are getting the bulk of the business of heavy negotiations by western roads, again put production about 100,000 tons of steel for the week ended yesterday in their territory.

"American Pipe and Construction has an $8,000,000 line of large size pipe for San Jose, Cuba. Shipments are now under way and it involves about 40,000 tons of steel. Contracts and inquiry have been made on account of the drought in Cuba, which cut the corresponding crop in 1921. This calls for an entirely supply until requirements of this year.

"While the expected buying movement of pipe has not yet appeared, large quantities of pipe are under negotiation. A Central Michigan automobile company inquiries for 15,000 tons of foundry and machinery for this year. Two pipe mills have been set in motion.

"The Iron Trade's composite price of finished iron and steel products is $41.75 for November, compared with $41.41 for last month, $41.27 for all of October, and $34.71 for November, 1921.

BUSINESS NEWS OF BUSY MARTS

Dry Goods Price Advance; Brisk Trade in Men's Hats

Hay Market Steady; Industrial Activity in Italy

Oil Development; Turkey Crop Heavier

California's turkey crop will be from 5 to 10 per cent greater this year than in 1921, according to the Bureau of Markets of the California State Department of Agriculture. Prices reported to the State officials by wholesalers vary, the majority of quotations ranging around 38 cents per pound on fat, live turkeys and 45 cents on turkeys delivered dressed and in good condition.

If early receipts prove light, prices may soar above 45 cents on dressed turkeys, while heavy shipments may act to the advantage of the buyer and consumer and bring lower quotations. In most sections feed appears to be plentiful, but in a few localities growers plan to market their turkeys early because of a scarcity of feed. Reports from some places indicate that Thanksgiving will arrive too soon for the growers, and they will be forced to hold their shipments for the Christmas trade when they can obtain higher prices and offer a better conditioned turkey.

Cold storage holdings are light, totalling approximately 27,000 pounds of dressed turkeys. At this time last year there were close to 100,000 pounds of dressed turkeys in storage in the State.

WHOLESALE GOODS

Woolen and cotton blankets have advanced 12½ per cent within the last few days, according to a leading Los Angeles wholesaler. Blankets are moving off the shelves at a brisk rate despite the increases, and retail store buyers are prophesying a continuance of the demand. Wash dresses for spring delivery are being ordered in volume, although for present needs, black chiffons and velvets are equally popular. Woolen hosiery for both men and women are being sold at a lively rate in anticipation of colder weather. Printed crepes for spring wear are finding the best sale among silk goods.

BUSINESS IN ITALY

Industrial activity in Italy continues to show improvement, despite the recent political disturbances. Bank clearings, while slightly less than a year ago, surpass those of the early months of the present year, and indicate a healthy condition, declares a late analysis of Italian business by the Department of Commerce. Investment of capital in industrial enterprises is increasing, and most manufacturers report increased demand for their products, although the disturbance in the Near East has checked Italian textile exports to that region.

The only interruption in business during the Fascisti uprising, according to the department's representative in Italy, was the closing of the stock exchange, which reopened on November 2 with prices firm. The fiscal program of the Fascisti calling for promises of financial reforms, reduction in government deficits, and the return of government operated public services to private hands, has compelled confidence in banking and financial circles and has eliminated panic probability.

HAY MARKET

Receipts in the majority of the hay markets of the country are about equal to the demand, as the car situation is showing some improvement, according to the latest crop report by the Department of Agriculture. Prices are firm, and for the week ending November 4, a slight premium was paid in some market for deliveries because of local car shortages. Receipts in Los Angeles for the week amounted to 190 cars, an increase of thirty cars over the previous week and eighty-one over the corresponding week of 1921.

Current high prices and warm weather have strengthened the alfalfa market in the Middle West, Texas and other portions of the

OPENING SALE OF DAIRY CATTLE

The first sale of dairy cattle to be held at the Los Angeles Union Stockyards took place yesterday, when twenty-seven head of dairy cows brought in from Wisconsin, were sold for an average price of $140.82.

While the crowd was a representative one, the cattle were somewhat at a disadvantage in being below the majority of the bidders, who sat on the stockyard fences, hence could not see the cows as in a regular sales ring. The long shipment also worked against the condition of the cattle, which were from Federal accredited herds.

The policy of the stockyards of establishing a dairy sales center is to be carried out as quickly as possible, it is stated, work having already been started on a model dairy barn with latest barn equipment for 192 head of cattle, connecting with a sales pavilion with raised platform for cattle to be offered to bidders. The pavilion will have a seating capacity of 2000 persons.

COTTON PRICES TAKE DOWNWARD MOVE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Cotton prices moved quickly lower today. The morning decline was due more to absence of trade demand or new buying for local bull account than to anything else, and amounted to a 50 to 55-point drop in the first couple of hours. Offerings from the South were on a heavier scale and there was further moderate long liquidation by the more timid operators. Several foremost rallies succeeded in bringing the list back to within 5 to 10 points of yesterday's finals, but the pressure increased in the afternoon, several options moving into new low ground for the day. The extent of the decline was from 30 to 55 points net. Weakness in stocks was a later factor and hearish agencies from the South tended to increase long selling. The close was slightly up from the day's low, 10 to 25 net off.

Spot cotton quiet, 20 points decline, $25.20 for middling upland.

Southern spot: Galveston 25.05, 25 points decline; New Orleans 25.00, unchanged; Savannah 24.75, 25 points decline; Augusta 24.75, 25 points decline; Memphis 25.50, unchanged; Houston 25.00, 30 points decline; Little Rock 25.25, 15 points decline.

LONDON MARKET

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Inactivity still prevailed on the stock exchange today. British funds on the gilt-edge market gave way further. In foreign bonds there was considerable reaction. Home rails were almost without business, dollar rails held steady and foreign rails recovered. Industrials were irregular, while iron, steel and engineering shares were depressed. Continental selling affected oils. Mexican Eagle, 2 19-32; Shells, 4 3-32; Royal Dutch, 58. African minings were mostly weaker and American issues were neglected.

There was a slight tension in loanable credits in Lombard street. Overnight money was still below 2 per cent and in most cases fixtures were renewed at 1½ per cent.

Foreign exchange: New York, 4.48½; Paris, 68.50; Berlin, 29,000.

IN BANKRUPTCY COURT

Clarence Flynn, an investigator in the office of the District Attorney, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday. He scheduled his debts as $2725, and his assets at $95. The bulk of the indebtedness is an unrelished judgment secured by Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Watson of Calabasas for $2500.

George A. Ferrell, a member of Long Beach, owes $13,257.65, according to a petition in bankruptcy filed in the United States District Court yesterday. The assets are claimed to be $3368.25.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Battle Lines Forming to Fight Branch Banks; Trade Active; Financial News

BY CHAPIN HALL

The San Bernardino County Bankers' Association is apparently very much in earnest in the organized attempt originating within that group to put the kibosh upon branch banking. A resolution adopted at a meeting last week authorized the formation of a "League to Oppose Branch Banking." Now a call has gone forth for the initial dinner meeting of the league, which is scheduled for the Mission Inn, Riverside, Saturday at 6 p. m. At this time, it is expected, organization will be perfected and plans laid for an intensive campaign culminating in Sacramento, where the Legislature will probably be invited, in the language of Article I of the articles of association, to "demand a change in our present banking law to the end that branch banking will be eliminated as part of our economic lives."

A number of leading bankers in the San Bernardino "conference," are "viewing with alarm the growth of branch banking in California as permitted under our present law. If allowed to continue, the preamble says, "the banking resources of the State of California will be under the control of a small, powerful group of individuals. We believe that branch banking is economically wrong, monopolistic by nature, and un-American in principle; that the present independent banking system of the United States, under which system our individual, community and national development has never been equalled, should be upheld."

Naturally enough, the Los Angeles bankers take an entirely different view of the situation, and point to the remarkable advance made during the past two years in the development of the branch bank idea and the many advantages which this development has brought the customer of the branch in outlying communities centers or small cities distant from the financial hub, where, it is pointed out, all of the facilities of the great metropolitan bank are brought to the door of the rural depositor.

The branch bank war is attaining no mean proportions in several parts of the country, and if the league sponsored by the San Bernardino bankers goes through California may become a national battleground. A number of Los Angeles financiers have been invited to attend the Riverside meeting.

The organization committee is composed of R. D. McCook, president of the American National Bank, San Bernardino; W. T. Smith, president of the Farmers' Exchange National Bank, San Bernardino; H. S. Wilson, cashier of the First National Bank, Upland; H. C. Moore, cashier of the Commercial National Bank, Upland and E. J. Sandford, vice-president of the Ontario National Bank, Ontario.

TRADE IS ACTIVE

Trade Talk advices from strategic trade centers throughout the State indicate unmistakably that retail business is on the upgrade and showed a marked increase during the past week. Operations have set a record in many cities. Bank deposits and clearings are steadily increasing and the volume of general business is far ahead of that for a corresponding period last year.

There continues to be heavy demand for builders' supplies in the south, while San Francisco reports a revival in the hardware trade. Some increase in unemployment has occurred among common laborers owing to the closing of the crop season, but public works and the carrying on of large developments is going far, in this community at least, toward absorbing this seasonal surplus. The usual influx of job seekers as well as job evaders has commenced, and there will probably be plenty of labor in this market during the next four months. There is a steady demand for skilled workers which is more than local while the oil fields continue to absorb a liberal quota. Production is still increasing, but the recent closing of large contracts for fuel oil, and the expansion of export demand, have tended to relieve the situation.

TAX LOSSES

The sale of stocks for the purpose of establishing tax losses is a subject of interest in the speculative financial community. There has already been considerable selling of this character and it will probably be an appreciable factor in the market for the remainder of the year. Contrary to the views held by some, it is pointed out that the legal requirement that thirty days must elapse after the sale of stock for tax purposes before it can be re-bought, does not mean that selling of that nature cannot be done after December 1. Sales may continue up to the end of the year, but if the loss is deducted from total income, the securities thus sold may not be repurchased for at least a month.

MARKET STREET DEAL

Ever since election day, when the people of San Francisco voted favorably upon a proposition looking toward the purchase and operation of the Market Street Railway, the investment seekers have been "sweet" on that stock, and several large deals have been accounted, some of which at least have been based upon misunderstanding as to just what the vote meant.

It appears that the amendment adopted by popular vote at the general election authorizes submission to the people of a plan for the purchase and taking over by the city of the Market Street Railway. It provides that whenever such an election is called in the future, two-thirds of all the people voting must vote in the affirmative. It allows the city to buy the railway's extensions outside of the city limits. It gives the people the right to place the matter of purchase on the ballot by petition and removes the bonding limits of the city to allow the raising of cash for the purchase. It does not by any means authorize the purchase without another election.

BIG CONTRIBUTION

Southern California makes a big contribution to the freight movement of the country, some interesting figures along this line having been prepared for the use of the committee now in Washington representing the fruit growers and other shipping interests in California where they are witnessed before the Interstate Commerce Commission on behalf of the Southern Pacific's petition to retain control of the Central Pacific. The committee is said to represent shippers who pay over $25,000,000 freight charges annually, sending 55,000 cars of perishables east every year.

If the Southern Pacific loses control of the Central and the Union Pacific gains it, California shippers, it is claimed, would pay at least $5,000,000 annually in increased freight charges, and a competitive fight between two roads serving identically the same territory would be precipitated.

AN OLD PROBLEM

President Cromwell of the New York Stock Exchange tackled an old problem in a speech at Akron, on a method to eliminate spurious investments from the financial markets. His suggestion is that corporations be required to file sworn financial statements before issuing securities.

CUBAN FINANCING

Los Angeles bond men were interested yesterday in the report that President Zayas will receive bids next week for a $50,000,000 Cuban loan. A Dow Jones dispatch said that Secretary of Treasury Despaigne looks for no foreign competition other than that emanating from American bankers. Thus far only J. P. Morgan & Co., Speyer & Co., Lee Higginson & Co., and Blair & Co., have been actively represented.

MARKET REVIEWS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. — The really significant movement in the markets today was the renewed advance in foreign exchange; but Wall street's attention was absorbed in the returning weakness of the stock market. Some of the day's declines were considerable, ranging from 1 to 3 points in various active shares, both railway and industrials. For this weakness there was no obvious cause—a fact which some times frightens speculative Wall street more than if it could see why prices are declining. Whether, as in other recent years, we have reached the period where certain large investors take their time about replacing stocks which they have sold and on which they propose to "declare losses" for the income tax, is merely a matter of conjecture. The market closed with fairly substantial recovery from the day's lowest prices.

Some foreign bonds went higher but as a rule they dropped back fractionally from the high point of recovery, reached on Tuesday. Inasmuch as the high prices of that day, in the French government bonds especially, represented advances running as far as 4 or 5½ points within less than a fortnight, today's halt was natural enough. The day's foreign exchange market was more interesting. In view of the franc's recovery of 1 1-4 cents between November 8 and November 20, there had been some disposition to consider Tuesday's reaction as the beginning of another fall, and the same feeling had existed regarding sterling and the Italian lire. All three of the exchanges, however, advanced again emphatically today.

Wall street has learned many times in the last few years that in foreign exchanges neither the scope of a bear account, nor the effect on prices of its attempts to extricate itself when the market turns against it, can be judged by the casual bear movements, on the stock exchange. Such a turn in the market for sterling or francs or lire not only causes a great rush of purely speculative covering purchases, but it usually brings into the market a great mass of legitimate buying orders whose execution had been deferred with an eye to possibly still lower rates.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22. — Today's news of business and industry presented an unusually interesting array of constructive developments.

Improvement in foreign trade was shown by preliminary figures for October issued by the commerce department, exports of $372,000,000 being the largest month's business year and comcomparing with $317,000,000 in September and $303,000,000 in August.

The steel industry is operating close to 80 per cent capacity, which is the best record in two years, according to the mid-week reviews. The automobile industry is also maintaining an unusually high rate of production, considering the season, the output is close to the October level, which was 244,000 units.

There was another grist of corporation announcements of stock dividends and increased cash disbursements.

The directors of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing Company today approved plant additions which will increase production of between forty and fifty taxicabs per day.

The Kellogg Switchboard and Supply Company declared a 15 per cent stock dividend on its $5,500,000 capital stock outstanding, payable December 21 to stock of record December 1. This will increase the capital stock to $6,325,000. The shares are of $25 par value.

Santa Rita Hotel Company
(Tucson, Arizona)
First Mortgage 6% Serial Bonds

This property has been successfully operated since 1906 and has built up largely out of earnings; in fact, during two of the worst years it has ever experienced, namely, the years of 1920 and 1921, the net earnings averaged over twice interest charges. These bonds are secured by a first mortgage on land, combination hotel and office building and equipment conservatively appraised at over $850,000. The Santa Rita Hotel is in Tucson, Arizona, at the corner of Scott and Broadway. It is fireproof, high with roof garden and basement. There are 175 rooms and baths. It has its own heating, vacuum cleaning and refrigerating plants, and its equipment is modern throughout. The property is owned by a syndicate group of Tucson bankers and business men and is under the management of Henry Poppen, a successful and experienced hotel man, formerly in charge of similar properties for the Phelps-Dodge Corporation. We recommend these bonds for investment.

PUBLIC UTILITIES

Are so extensively operated that few realize their tremendous size and importance.

Contrast $4,000,000,000 invested in the iron and steel industry, with over $15,000,000,000, the estimated investment in public utilities. The contrast in these figures is the more remarkable when we consider that this enormous development has taken place only since 1870—a short period of 43 years.

One of the strongest electrical combinations in the country, controls the well-managed and dividend-paying UTAH POWER & LIGHT CO. We recommend for conservative investment its 7% First Preferred Stock, at 96 to yield 7.29%.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Nov. 22. — Speculators for the decline again rode on the top of today's stock market, bringing about a more extensive liquidation of long stock and hammering prices down 1 to 5 points. Trading was again largely in the hands of professionals, but some of the selling came from disillusioned stall operators and investors who had bought recently in the belief that a turn for the better was imminent.

Railroad shares, which heretofore had not been liquidated as freely as the industrials, proved more vulnerable today, nondividend-paying stocks being especially weak in the afternoon reaction. St. Louis and San Francisco preferred broke below 35 for a net loss of more than 5 points, but rallied to 36 at the close. Baltimore and Ohio dropped more than 4½ points, selling pressure being influenced by President Willard's declaration that the shopmen's strike cost more than $10,000,000, and the intimation that the prospect for a resumption of dividends this year was none too bright. Expectation of an early resumption of dividends on St. Louis-Southwestern preferred sent that stock soaring to 58 for a net gain of nearly 4 points, the common improving fractionally.

Investment issues also fell under the weight of the selling movement, Union Pacific yielding 1½, while losses of a point or more took place in New York Central, Chicago and Northwestern common and preferred; Delaware and Hudson, Great Northern preferred and Porthern Pacific, the last named sagging 2¾.

Outside news developments were largely favorable. These included reports showing the steel industry to be operating at 80 per cent of capacity, announcements of additional stock or increased dividends and preliminary figures on October foreign trade showing exports of $372,000,000, the largest to date, as compared with $317,000,000 in the preceding month and $302,000,000 in August.

Steel shares offered a little better resistance, although United States Steel common broke below 103 and then rallied to 103¾, for a net loss of 1⅛. Gulf States Steel yielded 1½, but recessions in Bethlehem B, Crucible, Lackawanna and Republic were limited to a point or less. Baldwin, Studebaker, Corn Products and General Asphalt all fell 1 to 2 points, while Pan-American A broke 3½ and the B 2¾. American Cotton Oil established a new low 1922 record at 14¾, closing at a net loss of nearly 3 points, and the preferred receding nearly 5 points, in reflection of speculative disappointment over the last annual report.

Some of the other outstanding weak spots were American Ice, American Express, Barnett Leather, Famous Players, Kresge, Mexican Petroleum, Otis Elevator, Lorillard Tobacco, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Woolworth, the losses ranging from 3 to 6 points.

There were a few exceptions to the downward trend, Continental Can being pushed up nearly 2 points to 103¼, a new high record for the year, and Sterling Products establishing a new peak price at 61¼ in response to an extra dividend of 75 cents. American Bank Note, also at a new high, Elkhorn Coal, Consolidated Gas and South Porto Rican Sugar were other outstanding strong spots.

Call money held steady at 5 per cent throughout the day. Time money loans were made at 5 per cent for all maturities, only a limited amount being available for lending purposes. Commercial paper trading was moderately active, with no change in rates.

Foreign exchanges opened easier and then rallied, demand sterling getting up to $4.49⅛ and French francs to 7.29. Canadian exchange sold at a slight discount for the first time since the latter part of September.

The day's total sales were 986,000 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 94.20, off 1.33. High, 1932, 103.43; low, 78.59. Twenty railroads averaged 84.21, off 1.52. High, 1932, 93.99; low, 78.43.

OPENS NEW TRADE LINE TO ISLANDS

City of Los Angeles Bringing Pineapples Here for Shipment to East

New trade channels out of Los Angeles to Hawaii and the Atlantic Coast will be opened by the arrival here at daylight Saturday, from Honolulu, of the liner City of Los Angeles. Radio advices from the vessel yesterday stated that she is bringing large consignments of canned pineapples from the islands for trans-shipment to the East Coast.

The shipment marks the inauguration of a new service to the East Coast from Hawaii with Los Angeles as the distribution terminal. The initial shipment of pineapples will be sent to Boston, New York and Philadelphia on fast freight steamers of three separate intercoastal lines: the liner Dakotan, of the United American Lines; the Isthmian liner Robin Gray, and the Felix Taussig, in the intercoastal service of Crowell & Thurlow, Inc.

In addition to offering lower transportation costs than the San Francisco route, the new service will permit shippers to anticipate favorable markets on the Atlantic seaboard, as the Los Angeles route will also cut down the transport period by more than a week.

In addition to a large passenger list, the City of Los Angeles is also bringing in a heavy consignment of bananas, according to the dispatches received yesterday from Capt. Hans Poulsen.

Officials of the Los Angeles Steamship Company announced yesterday that the steamer Sherman will also be equipped with refrigerating apparatus when she goes into the service to the islands next January.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22.—Shipping authorities in Oakland expect November will show the greatest record for foreign exports of State products. The statistical records of the Commerce Chamber, compiled for the first two weeks of this month, show that exports for November has surpassed all previous months with the exception of October. Sailing of the Pacific Mail liner President Taft, scheduled for 1 o'clock tomorrow for oriental ports, has been set back until the same hour on Saturday. Delay in sailing is due to the fact that many changes have been made in the vessel's machinery and also in the accommodations. The Taft will call from here in the best possible condition, many new features having been added by operators having been added in her time in port.

Two trans-Pacific liners, carrying both freight and passengers to the Orient, are being delayed in their sailings because of urgent repairs that must be given on the dry dock longer than usual. The Williamstown, 12,000 tons, for Manila, Kobe and Yokohama, will sail Saturday instead of tomorrow. The China, sister steamer Nanking will sail on Thanksgiving, having remained in port Gibson Cove, three days more than the usual schedule. The Nanking is now in dry dock having a new tail shaft installed.

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 22.—The Japanese steamer Kaikyu Maru arrived here tonight from Coos Bay, where she had loaded a part cargo of lumber. She will complete loading here and then depart for the Orient.

The steamer Deerfield arrived from Tacoma and is loading 100 thereos of mild cured salmon as well as 2500 cases of frozen fish and shed roe and a shipment of salted salmon for New York.

Other steamers scheduled to take on freight at the terminals between now and the first of the coming month include the Doctra, 4,000,000 lath, New York; Lewis Luckenbach, 7000 cases of canned fish and salmon; John Luckenbach, 3000 cases of salmon for Philadelphia, and Rex Wahnfried, lumber and general cargo for the Hawaiian Islands. The latter had been listed to load 500,000 feet of lumber at St. Helens, but the steamer Makona will come later to get that cargo.

The steamer George O. Olson, laden with 1,500,000 feet of lumber from St. Helens, sailed this morning for Los Angeles.

The steam schooner Annette Bolch arrived this morning from California, bringing freight for Astoria and Portland.

SEATTLE, Nov. 22.—Departure soon from this port of the Funnel steamship Tuscan, Star with more than 80,000 boxes of apples will bring the total of water shipments of that fruit to 190,000 boxes to date. Early estimates were that 250,000 boxes would have been shipped by water by December 1. Forty-one thousand tons, or nearly 1,500,000 bushels, of wheat of the 1922 crop have gone through this port, divided about equally between Europe and the Orient.

The Alameda of the Alaska Steamship Company opened the winter schedule of the line, eliminating calls on Cook Inlet, when she left here today for Seward. She carried a large cargo and more than 100 passengers. Freight offering delayed her departure more than five hours.

The Norwegian steamship Remus, which has been four days discharging South American ore at Tacoma, is to shift here tomorrow morning and go on dry dock for hull cleaning. After the work is done she will load for return to South America.

After discharging 1200 tons of cargo, mostly of steel, the steamship Howick Hall of the Isthmian Line today shifted to Vancouver, B. C., to load for Manchester, Eng. She will return here to complete cargo, all of which will be from the Pacific Coast and all for Manchester.

PORT NOTES

Eight tankers, with a total capacity of more than 560,000 barrels, were in port yesterday and by daylight this morning had sailed for various parts of the world with full cargoes. Included the Standard Oil tankers W. S. Rheem, Col. E. L. Drake, Atlas and Hauser, from San Francisco and Coast ports; the San Gonzalo and La Brea of the Shell fleet, from Antofagasta and San Francisco, respectively; the Shipping Board tanker Stockton, from Manila, and the Delaware Sun, loading out for Philadelphia.

Yesterday was also a busy period in the port's offshore freight trade, as many boats lay in the Outer Harbor and the Wilmington district being jammed, with several craft forced to lie at anchor while awaiting berths. Among the vessels which was the Swedish motorship Lima from Gothenberg with one of the largest European cargoes in several months, and the Isthmian liner Robin Adair arrived in from the north to load out for the East Coast, while from Mobile and New Orleans the Swayne & Hoyt liner Carolyn arrived with 3600 tons for Los Angeles. The steamer Cold Harbor, in the intercoastal service of the Nawsco Lines, also brought several thousand tons for this port from Portland, Me., and East Coast ports.

Clay Hutchinson, manager of the Pacific Mail's activities in Southern California, is back at his desk again after several weeks' absence necessitated by a severe attack of influenza.

Five million dollars is paid annually by the United States for the transportation of ocean mails, according to E. T. Chamberlain of the transportation division of the Department of Commerce, in an analysis of ocean mail figures that will appear in the forthcoming issue of Commerce Reports.

Trans-Atlantic mail transportation costs on American ships are nearly three times that of trans-Pacific shipments across the Pacific. For the year ending June 30, 1921, the cost of transporting American ocean mails was as follows: trans-Atlantic mails, $2,084,399.97; trans-Pacific mails, $744,741.68, and miscellaneous, $1,022,622.12.

Trans-Atlantic mails last year exceeded in volume and weight those of all the rest of the world combined, comprising almost 2,896,000 pounds of first-class matter and 30,500,000 pounds of other material. Trans-Pacific mail service is concentrated in fewer lines and the volume is much less, there being 576,000 pounds of first-class matter and 11,000,000 pounds of other mail. The principal lines and the payments last year were: Admiral Line, $286,543; Oceanic (Shorecoats) contract, $186,384; Pacific Mail, $144,884; China Mail, $12,930; all others, $4290; total, $744,741.

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR WINS LEGAL POINT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ADA (Okla.) Nov. 22.—Gov. J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma scored another court victory here today in his defense against a charge lodged in Okmulgee county that he accepted a bribe, and the way was opened for an attempt next Monday by the executive's attorneys to have the indictment against him dismissed.

The case was definitely rested in the Pontotoc County District Court here before Special Judge Thomas A. Edwards, for all further action, when Gov. Robertson's attorneys today defeated efforts of Prosecutor James Hepburn of Okmulgee county to have the case sent back to Okmulgee county.

The hearing which is set here for Monday morning, on the Governor's motion to quash the indictment against him, will determine whether the executive is cleared of the bribery charge or whether he must go to trail before a jury.

WOOLWINE DIGS INTO MINISTERS

Assails Foes as "Character Assassins"

Brands Recall Move Unjust, Despotic, Bullying

Asserts Politicians Are Backing Pastors

Dist.-Atty. Woolwine last night responded to attacks by the Ministerial Union with a long statement defending his position in enforcing the prohibition law, which he declares will not be affected by his personal beliefs.. He decries his clerical combatants as being backed by elements that would "wreck the county of Los Angeles to see me out of office," and he insists that he will "fight them to the very end and remain in office so long as my term lasts."

Mr. Woolwine's statement reads as follows:

"Within the last few days I have been subjected to the most unjust, high-handed and despotic series of attempts at intimidation and bullying with which I have ever come in contact.

"In the first place, a company of ministers banded together advocating my recall from the office to which the people have elected me, on the ground that, inasmuch as I had advocated the modification of the Eighteenth Amendment in my campaign for Governor, and that therefore I could not be trusted to enforce the Wright Act, and upon the further ground that, as an official, I had assumed a lax attitude on law enforcement and had been guilty of misconduct in office.

CALLED TO GRAND JURY

"I immediately had these ministers summoned before the grand jury, so that they might testify under oath as to what they knew of any specific act of misconduct in office or lax attitude on law enforcement.

"I cannot conceive of anything more just and fair, inasmuch as the grand jury is a body composed of nineteen men and women chosen by the judges of the county and which has jurisdiction to file charges against me, or any other county official for any act of misconduct in office that may be called to its attention.

"It was explained and made perfectly plain to the witnesses by the foreman and members of the grand jury that the sole and only purpose in calling them before that body was to ascertain from them whether or not they knew of any specific instance of misconduct in office or lax law enforcement on my part.

"After the testimony was all in, the foreman gave out a statement to the effect that they had no evidence of any misconduct in office or lax law enforcement. For obvious reasons I was not present in the grand jury room while these witnesses were testifying.

RESIGNATION DEMANDED

"On last Monday two of these witnesses who had previously testified before the grand jury called upon me in my office, and, assuming a most threatening and dictatorial attitude, demanded my resignation from the office of District Attorney, on the ground that I could not be trusted to enforce the Wright Act when it goes into effect by reason of my attitude on the Eighteenth Amendment as expressed during my gubernatorial campaign.

"I am opposed to the last degree to the return of the open saloon or of ardent spirits, so called, and have never failed so to state from the public platform in my campaign for Governor. My position in relation to the Wright Act has been fully set forth in the

Girl Driver is Sentenced to Day in Jail Cell

Miss Margaret Henry Leaving "Speeders' Court" for Jail

JUDGE SHOWS NO MERCY TO RECKLESS DRIVERS

Thirty-three More Motorists Sent to Jail; Redondo Girl Gets One Day

Sentencing thirty-three persons to jail yesterday for speeding and reckless drivinfi Police Judge Chambers brought the total number of prisoners in the first three days of his traffic campaign up to fifty-seven.

The court issued bench warrants for twenty more asserted speeders who failed to appear and transferred the cases of four minors to the Juvenile Department. Three men charged with speeding asked for jury trials and four others pleaded not guilty.

Judge Crawford of the University Police Station also took a vigorous hand in the campaign yesterday, sentencing John Lang to 100 days in jail on a charge of reckless driving. This was the heaviest sentence meted out since the inception of the drive against speeders and traffic law violators.

Lang was arrested on the 6th inst. by Deputy Sheriff Packard on West Sixteenth street, after he had driven his car into that of Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Comer of 436 West Sixty-fifth street. He also crashed into the deputy sheriff's car.

COURTROOM CROWDED

Judge Chambers's court was so crowded with traffic offenders that many of them were forced to wait in adjoining courtrooms and in the corridors until the first batch of cases could be disposed of. The room was so wedged with humanity that Attorney Gordon Hair, 4206 Halldale, avenue, collapsed. He was carried to the Receiving Hospital and revived.

Speeders who hoped that the judge would relent in his jail policy after making an example of violators for two days were greatly disappointed.

"There will be no let-up in this campaign," Judge Chambers said before beginning the hearings. "Every motorist found guilty of speed-

EXPECTED TO ACCEPT ORDINANCE

Mayor Wants "Teeth" in Regulation of So-Called Social Clubs

Mayor Cryer is expected to sign an ordinance adopted by the City Council, upon recommendation of the Board of Police Commissioners and Chief Oaks, placing social clubs under city control. When the ordinance becomes effective, in thirty days, it will be followed by an intensive war against gamblers who make their headquarters at these clubs. The Mayor desires time to examine the ordinance carefully before signing, to make certain the city will have absolute control over these clubs, which now operate under State charters.

If the ordinance is approved, Mayor Cryer said yesterday, the Board of Police Commissioners will order the clubs to remove the steel doors or city permits will be revoked.

Theophilus Gray owned a brand new coupe,
With varnish and glass shiny-bright,
He always refrained, in fact never deigned,
To signal a turn, left or right.

"So," says a mourner, "one day at a corner,
He turned without showing a flipper.
A car in the rear threw him out on his ear,
"And they gathered him up with a dipper."

Miss Ethel G. Barlow is Made Beneficiary in Will of Deceased Chicagoan

Miss Ethel G. Barlow, of Los Angeles, w hose d reams of marital bliss were lately shattered by the death of her intended husband, yesterday received word that her fiance by his will had made her the beneficiary of a $45,000 trust fund.

Miss Barlow left her fiance, Thomas M. Ball, former vice-president of Rogers & Co., printers, of Chicago, only a few months ago when she came to California on account of her own poor health. She will receive $5,000 immediate payment, the remaining $40,000 to be held in trust from which she will receive the income during her life. Upon her death, the principal will be divided equally among Mr. Ball's two brothers, James D. Ball and Gardiner H. Ball, and his two sisters, Mrs. Etta Adams and Mrs. Agnes Davidson, who shared equally in the division of the residue of Mr. Ball's $125,000 estate.

BOARD TO SIFT SCHOOL SCANDAL

Members to Take Action on Charges Soon

Proof of Gambling and Drinking Promised

County Superintendent Now Away—May Hurry Home

An official investigation of the charges of gambling, drinking and neglect of duty brought by Mrs. Ella E. Bagnall against Dr. Ernest J. Lickley, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles public schools, and five other public school officials, will be made by the County Board of Education.

This was the substance of a statement made by Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, when informed of the charges yesterday. Dr. Keppel at present is in Oakland attending a school superintendents' convention. He was informed of the accusations by The Times over the telephone.

"I know nothing of the charges and can make no comment on them, but if such accusations have been made against any teacher, the law requires they must be verified under oath. It is inevitable that the County Board of Education will inaugurate an investigation," he stated.

MAY HURRY HOME

Mr. Keppel had intended to remain in Oakland until Sunday, but declared that in lieu of the serious charges made by Mrs. Bagnall, and the need for immediate investigation, he would possibly cut short his visit.

All of the school officials yesterday reiterated their denials of the day previous and maintained the charges were false and merely the outgrowth of jealousy on the part of a few teachers and school officials who had become disgruntled because they had failed to secure the promotions they desired.

Dr. Lickley declared the charges emanated from irresponsible persons and that they lacked an "iota of truth."

"I have asked the Board of Education to call Mrs. Bagnall and demand that she either prove her charges or retract her statements and publicly apologize to myself and other school officials concerned," he declared, "and the board has promised to act."

BELIEVES CHARGES

Mrs. Bagnall, author of the letter making the charges, when seen in her home at 1724 West Fifty-eighth street, declared she was not worried by Dr. Lickley's statements and that she firmly believed every charge could be substantiated by at least four witnesses.

"I am not the accuser," she declared. "I am only acting as the mouthpiece of many who have convinced me they can substantiate every charge made in my letter. The condition in our schools at present is one that should be of concern to every parent. Unless attention is focused on the flagrant irregularities which are being perpetrated daily the welfare of our children, as well as the schools, is at stake."

Mrs. Bagnall, who was a candidate for election as a member of the school board three years past, would not disclose the identity of the persons who will appear before the Board of Education in an attempt to prove the charges made.

"I do not think the time is ripe to give out the names of these persons," she stated. She admitted, however, that some of them were teachers and school officials, and stated that Susan M. Dorsey, superintendent of Los Angeles public schools, would appear as a witness.

"Mrs. Dorsey, however, is not the instigator of this movement," she declared, "and I want to emphatically deny insinuations to the contrary which have been made.

STEEL MERGER PLANNED HERE

Coast to be Independent of Eastern Mills

$20,000,000 Corporation Will be Formed

Iron and Coal Deposits in Utah Included

With the arrival here of a group of San Francisco and Utah capitalists, who were in conference yesterday with A. C. Denman, Jr., president of the Southern California Iron and Steel Company, announcement will shortly be made, it is expected, of plans for the great $20,000,000 merger of Pacific Coast steel and coal resources, a merger that will make the West entirely independent of eastern mills for its steel supply.

Mr. Denman yesterday refused to make any statement in regard to the plans of the new corporation, but stated that the announcement would be forthcoming shortly. Representatives of the interests which his company is associating were in conference with Mr. Denman yesterday.

First announcement of the project was made last September, with the incorporation of the Pacific Steel Corporation, under the laws of Delaware for $20,000,000.

PROPERTIES INCLUDED

Under this plan the properties of the Pacific Coast Steel Company, which operates plants in San Francisco, Portland and Seattle, the local plants of the Southern California Iron and Steel Company, and valuable iron and coal deposits in Utah owned by the Milner interests, are to be taken over and operated by the new steel company These deposits are near Zion City, Utah.

The plan also contemplates the erection of blast furnaces, to cost approximately 7,500,000 in Utah close to the iron and coal deposits. The new company is to be organized so that it will operate in units independently of the eastern steel-manufacturing plants. The pig-iron manufactured in Utah will be shipped directly to the various steel plants owned and controlled by the company for reduction into the finished product.

The entire project is to be financed by Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Utah capital, making the company entirely a western concern. The Judson interests of Oakland, operating the second largest steel plan' on the Pacific Coast, are also expected to join the merger.

FOUNDED IN 1901

The Southern California Iron and Steel Company, which will become a part of the new corporation under plans previously announced, was founded in Los Angeles in 1901. For many years it has been operating a plant at Fourth and Mateo streets but it has also under construction a new plant, on a 20-acre site on Slauson avenue on the Union Pacific right-of-way.

The local company is headed by A. C. Denman, Jr., president and general manager; E. G. Pratt, vice-president; Russell McD. Taylor, treasurer, and A. W. Grier, secretary.

Through this consolidation the ambitions of Pacific Coast steel men will be realized, since for

INDICTS FRAUD CASE WITNESS

Jury Names E. K. Albright in True Bill

Accused Man is Investigator in Marks Land Suit

Says He Has Documents to Prove His Innocence

An indictment charging the use of mails in a scheme to defraud has been returned by the Federal grand jury against E. K. Albright, investigator of the District Attorney's office, and one of the principal witnesses for the State in the alleged land-fraud cases pending against B. W. Marks and eleven others.

This became known last night, when it was learned by The Times that the grand jury voted the indictment more than a month ago. The matter was kept secret. The government's action is based on asserted transactions by Albright in 1920, when he was a broker with offices in the Story Building. The indictment was filed in Judge Bledsoe's court October 23, Mr. Albright gave $2500 bond and has not appeared in court since.

NO ACTION TAKEN

According to Mark Herron, Assistant United States Attorney, the case has not been placed on the calendar and no action was taken by the Federal authorities in order that the State's case in which Mr. Albright is interested as an investigator and important witness, may not be hindered when it comes to trial in the Superior Court next month.

Mr. Albright, on the other hand, declared the indictment was not warranted and was obtained on evidence furnished the Federal officials by persons interested in the acquittal of Marks and his co-defendants.

"I have in my possession documentary evidence that will show me innocent of every count in the indictment. None of this evidence was examined before the action was taken. Two of the witnesses who appeared before me in the Federal grand jury hearing are bondsmen for Marks and his associates," Mr. Albright said in making public the documents in his possession.

PROPERTIES MENTIONED

Curiously enough some of the properties involved in the case against Marks and his associates, said to have been part of the $1,250,000 transaction that led to the indictment of Marks and his co-defendant, are mentioned in a letter quoted in the indictment against Mr. Albright.

In its indictment against him the government charges that Mr. Albright on March 16, 1920, deposited in the United States mail at Los Angeles a letter to W. A. Sayler, Oakdale, Cal., in which he represented himself as an agent for the Banque de la France Financiere of Paris, and that the said bank was anxious to place loans in the United States, and that he, Albright, was empowered to make deals for the Paris institution. All of this, the indictment alleges, was untrue and written for the purpose of defrauding. Among the other charges in the five counts of the indictment, all based on the letter written more than two years ago, Mr. Albright is accused of

LASKY STUDIOS WILL HUM

Twelve Production Units to be Kept Busy Here and Old Realart Lot Will be Opened Again

Paramount studios are to make the proverbial beehive look like a slow motion subject during the next six months judging by the schedule of production outlined to Paramount convention delegates by Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president of the Paramount organization, in charge of production.

Los Angeles is to be the scene of by far the greatest activity. Out of every five pictures produced by Paramount, four will be made in Los Angeles, and only one in the Long Island studio.

MILLIONS PROVIDED

Out of a total of $10,000,000 which Paramount plans to spend in the next six months, $8,000,000 is destined to be used in productions made in the Los Angeles studios.

Mr. Lasky plans to have not less than twelve companies working at any one time. That means that the old Realart studio on Occidental and First streets must be reopened, for the Vine-street studio is by no means large enough to accommodate twelve production units.

The Realart studio is to be rechristened as well as reopened. In the future it will be known as the Wilshire Paramount studio.

This old "shooting gallery" has given many of today's Famous Players stars the start which has finally landed them in stardom. Practically all of the younger Paramount stars first began to scintillate when they were working under the old Realart banner.

CONVENTION RESULT

The new Paramount schedule, which is on a far larger scale than that of any preceding period, is the direct result of the Paramount convention being held here this week. Representatives of every branch of the Paramount organization are in attendance, and every delegate is directing his efforts to making Paramount a bigger factor in the motion-picture world. Mr. Lasky's plans were discussed yesterday at a closed session in the Ambassador Hotel theater.

This increased Paramount activity is indicative of the general pick-up in motion-picture production. There has been a slump during the last two years, but things seem to be on the boom again, and evidently Mr. Lasky is going to see that Paramount remains in the vanguard.

PASTORS TO BACK RECALL

Secret Meeting Results in Determination to Proceed Against Woolwine; Short Statement Made

Los Angeles Ministerial Union converted itself into a clerical grand jury yesterday and after a secret session decided that its members shall hold themselves sympathetic to and co-operate with a movement to recall Dist.-Atty. Woolwine.

Some 150 members of the union responded to an appeal for a secret meeting in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium. The announcements set forth that Dr. James A. Francis would be the speaker, discussing the present status of the controversy now existing between the District Attorney's office and the ministers and that definite action would be considered.

HALED BEFORE JURY

The last meeting of the ministers was an open one, resulting in several of the speakers being haled before the grand jury to give proofs of their charges against the District Attorney. Everybody attending yesterday's meeting was asked to present the postal card invitation at the door.

While the newspaper reporters had their invitations, they were not admitted because of the vigilance of Rev. R. P. Shuler, who as keeper of the outer portal of the auditorium, was as keen as a klexter.

The first reporter to appear wore knickerbockers of loud check, very shaggy golf stockings, much beaded brogues and a plaid cap, not to mention a very jaunty, waxed mustache. When he presented the admittance card, Mr. Shuler gasped, and then cried, in East Texas accents, "You are a—reporter. You may not enter."

This extraordinary insight on the part of the minister so staggered the reporter that he could not speak for several moments, standing dazed whilst eighteen soberly

NEW FILM FIRM FORMED

Former Manager of First National Establishes Independent Distributing Company

The formation of a new and independent film distributing corporation assertedly on a par with any other such agencies now in the field, was admitted by J. D. Williams, former manager for First National Productions, last night.

Financial backing for the project, he declared, had already been secured and that the registration of the corporation would take place within the next fortnight under the laws of an Eastern State.

Mr. Williams would not make known the name under which the new film distributing agency would function, but indicated what he believed would be its future in the motion-picture industry by saying that it was the biggest proposition with which he ha dever been connected.

A rumor current in motion-picture production circles that Joseph Schenck intended to desert First National Productions and send out his future pictures under the colors of the new Williams agency was exploded by Mr. Williams. Schenck's contract with the First National agency has two years to run, he stated.

He refused to comment on the underground rumor that several other First National units were considering joining his organization until after his return from a two weeks' visit to New York City in connection with the registration of his new concern. Mr. Williams leaves for the East Friday. Los Angeles will be western headquarters of his organization, he intimated.

BEATEN BY BANDITS

Pasadena Manufacturer Reports He Was Attacked and Robbed by Two Men on Lonely Street

Beaten unconscious by two bandits who forced him to drive to a lonely place, George Darsie, president of the Darsie Manufacturing Company, whose residence is 555 Fillmore avenue, Pasadena, was robbed last night of an expensive automobile owned by Mrs. L. N. Brace, 1200 Oak Knoll avenue, Pasadena.

Reporting the attack to the police, Darsie said that as he was driving here from Pasadena, two men jumped on the running board of the car at Aliso and Anderson streets. One of them drew a revolver and forced Darsie to drive to Pleasant avenue. When a dark place on the lonely thoroughfare had been reached, they ordered the manufacturer to stop and then beat him with a sandbag until he became unconscious.

When he recovered consciousness the automobile and men had disappeared. Officers Gibson, McCarren, Farney and Sergt. Massie immediately started a search for the two bandits, who are believed to have stolen the car to use in hold-ups. The license number of the machine has been telegraphed to adjacent towns.

CHAMBER BACKS SANTA FE AIMS

Directors Will Ask for Franchise Action

Want Railroad to Have Harbor Outlet

Arguments to be Presented to Councilmen

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at noon today to urge immediate action by the Council in ordering the City Attorney to prepare the long-pending franchise permitting the Santa Fe Railroad Company to extend its transcontinental line to Los Angeles Harbor.

Secretary Wiggins of the chamber said yesterday:

"The Chamber of Commerce is strongly in favor of the Santa Fe extending its lines to the harbor and has worked hard to end the long delay and bring about the granting of the franchise. The chamber's position is set forth fully in resolutions forwarded to the City Council months ago and to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, which has already approved of the extension."

The chamber's indorsement of the Santa Fe harbor line is set forth in the following letter to the Federal Interstate Commerce Commission which is practically the same as the resolution forwarded to the City Council:

FRANCHISE SANCTIONED

"We most respectfully urge your favorable action on the application of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad to extend its lines from Los Angeles proper to the harbor district of the city.

"When the Los Angeles Harbor was constructed by the city at a great expense, it was the intent of the city, and that intent has always been maintained, that all of the transcontinental railroads entering Los Angeles should reach the harbor on equal footing.

"The Santa Fe Railroad, at the present time, is the only one of the three transcontinental railroads which does not reach Los Angeles Harbor and it is desirable, and in fact necessary, that this extension be made for the good of Los Angeles. The Santa Fe Railroad taps a huge territory and it is vitally necessary to the continued growth of this city and its foreign trade that this road reach the water front here.

"From a purely local standpoint there are many matters which are 'hanging fire' due to the inability of the Santa Fe Railroad to reach the harbor. These matters are of great importance to Los Angeles in its development as an industrial center."

DELAYS OF COUNCIL

After the Chamber of Commerce filed its original indorsement of the Santa Fe's harbor line application with the City Council, and at the same time numerous other civic and business organizations and establishments in the Greater Los Angeles district filed similar indorsements, and still the City Council delayed action, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce under date of August 22 sent to the City Council a second communication giving specific instances of important inland industries which were anxious to ship through Los Angeles Harbor but which were being delayed by the City Council's failure to act.

The Oakley interests, owners of Bixby Slough, which the Santa Fe extension will pass through, first secured the support of the Palos Verdes syndicate in their efforts to block the Santa Fe. The Palos Verdes backers have apparently dropped out, not having been seen at the Santa Fe hearings recently. Then the Oakleys sought to line up the Harbor Board to block the Santa Fe, but failed.

TURN TO OFFICIALS

Next the Oakleys turned to the Board of Public Utilities and secured the support of Commissioner John P. Kennedy, who was accused on the floor of the Council by Utilities Commissioner Leeds of doing everything in his (Kennedy's) power to block the Santa Fe, the utilities board turning in a majority report indorsing the rail extension, signed by Commissioners Leeds and King, and Commissioner Kennedy turning in a minority report.

Defeated at every turn, the Oakley interests were made happy to received apparent support from former President Weaver of the Chamber of Commerce, who, in his remarks asking for delay, said that he believed that the Santa Fe would change its route across Bixby Slough, which would add another $200,000 or more expense to the Santa Fe in addition to the $1,000,000 the extension will cost, as a result of valuable concessions granted the city by the road. The Santa Fe has already agreed to move its lines at its own expense at Bixby Slough, should this section be developed.

NOT COUNCIL'S CONCERN

President Criswell and Councilmen Mallard stated from the floor of the City Council on Tuesday that the Bixby Slough matter was one solely between the Oakleys and the Santa Fe and these two Councilmen said they did not propose to have the city government used in a private land-development scheme.

The public utilities committee of the City Council has unanimously reported that the Bixby Slough matter was one which did not concern the city, and the committee of safety, city and harbor engineers have similarly reported to the City Council, and thus the expert opinion has been unanimous that the Bixby Slough private land scheme should not be used as an excuse to keep the Santa Fe waiting for years at the door of Los Angeles Harbor until a channel is dug from the harbor to the slough and the land sold off by the Oakleys.

SEEK GRADING BIDS

Bids for grading the uncompleted section of the State highway of 7.4 miles, extending from the Rindge ranch to a point about three miles south of the Hueneme road, have been called for by the State Highway Department, to be submitted by December 18. The filing of this contract will complete grading of the highway from Santa Monica as far north as Oxnard, Ventura county.

DEVOUT SPEEDER LANDS IN JAIL

Religious Zeal no Excuse for "Wild" Motoring in Pasadena

[By a Times Staff Correspondent.]

PASADENA, Nov. 22.—Albert Krist, rancher, near La Canada, was so anxious to attend an early morning church service here that he forgot all about the speed and traffic regulations. As a result, he will be forced to pray in the City Jail for the next three days.

Krist was arrested early yesterday morning. He was roaring down Lincoln avenue at forty-five miles an hour with his muffler wide open. This morning he was tried before Justice Frank Dunham and given a three-day jail sentence, a $25 fine for speeding and a $10 fine for driving with the cutout open.

MINISTERS IN RECALL MEET

dressed men passed through the portals.

Mr. Shuler explained that the executive committee had decided not to admit the press, and that the meeting had voted unanimously for secrecy except for a formal statement of the outcome.

The meeting was called for 10:30 p.m. but few were there before 11. Mr. Shuler then closed the door and all was silent in the concrete corridor. It was understood that Dr. Francis was speaking. After a half-hour Dr. Francis appeared at the door and hastened away, oblivious to questions and with a determined look on his face that was eloquent in itself.

Then other ministers left, hurrying down the corridors until some twenty had departed. Among them was Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher. No one would talk but it was stated that no vote on the question at hand had yet been taken.

While many left the hall, only one entered. He was a middle-aged man with a halting walk but a very determined face, and he carried a grip that seemed to be heavy. He tripped up the corridor, looked up and down and then tried the door of the auditorium. Mr. Shuler at that time must have been absent from the inner portal; at any rate the man with the grip entered unhindered.

COMES OUT RAPIDLY

But two minutes later he came out, very rapidly, and then stood a moment gazing at the door that had been closed behind him with an expression of the utmost astonishment on his face.

"I am a local minister," he explained, "but I am not ordained. They put me out."

He did not say what he had in the grip.

After the meeting Rev. Dan A. Trundle, executive secretary, gave out the following formal written statement:

"It is the sense of the Ministerial Union of Los Angeles and vicinity that we hold ourselves sympathetic and co-operate with any responsible movement looking to the recall of the District Attorney, Thomas Lee Woolwine."

SCHOOL BOARD WILL ACT SOON

She will be called only as a witness."

LICKLEY "POLITICIAN"

Mrs. Bagnall stated that she had always considered Dr. Lickley as a politician, and that she knew he had been quietly building up a political machine within the ranks of the school officials.

Three civic organizations have considered the charges which she brought against the school officials, according to Mrs. Bagnall, and all were willing to launch investigations of conditions in the schools.

"It was decided after mature deliberation, however, to let the County Board of Education hear the charges and thus give the investigation an official standing," she declared.

The names of Raymond B. Dunlap, supervisor of attendance, and John R. Doyle, principal of Central Special school, and an instructor in the Macy Evening High School, were mentioned in connection with possible witnesses to appear before the Board of Education.

Prof. Doyle, until June, 1921, was assistant director of compulsory education. At that time he was given his present assignment.

He yesterday admitted he was interested in the investigation, but would make no formal statement, declaring he preferred to go before the board to tell anything he might know. He further admitted that Prof. Dunlap also was interested.

It is believed that both of these school officials will be called before the Board of Education to testify.

WOOLWINE IN FINISH FIGHT

public press to the effect, among other things, that I am unalterably in favor of the enforcement of all laws passed by the people, and that it was my intention to enforce this law vigorously and unyieldingly whenever it comes into effect.

"I am now, and always have been, for the enforcement of all laws so long as they remain upon the statute books, but I regard it as outrageous and despotic for any man or set of men to question my inalienable right to express myself upon the wisdom or unwisdom of amending any law.

"I have the same right to urge law as those who criticised me had in advocating its passage in the first instance. Their position is just as illogical as though they had advocated the recall of President Wilson for vetoing the Volstead Act, or President Harding for vetoing the Soldiers' Bonus.

"These men not only would deny me the American right of free speech, but they seek to pre-judge and condemn me before I have had an opportunity of demonstrating my good faith in upholding the Wright Act and enforcing the same, for it has not yet gone into effect and is not, in fact, a law under which I could act.

"It means nothing to them that I have been making and am now perfecting my plans for putting the machinery of this law into operation just as soon as same goes into effect, and that it is my intention to enforce it with such vigor as to bring to the minds of the people a respect and regard for this law where other laws of similar nature have neither been respected nor regarded.

STAR CHAMBER SESSION

"These same men, guilty of this uncalled-for, premature and dictatorial conduct, met with others today in star chamber session at which not even newspaper reporters were allowed to be present, and passed a resolution that seeks to shift the responsibility of this whole movement to the shoulders of others and, at the same time, to continue the work of harassing and annoying me by inciting and encouraging others to carry on this illogical and unwarranted crusade.

"I have always had the greatest regard and respect for the truthful, God-fearing, conscientious, sane minister of the Gospel, but I have no regard, respect or admiration for advertising hypocrites and publicity seekers. They might better spend their time in some charitable attempt to uplift the forsaken of this earth than to denounce and crush down the duly authorized officers of the law, who are conscientiously trying to do their duty.

"Whether they know it or not, they are backed by a band of character assassins and unscrupulous politicians, who would wreck the county of Los Angeles to see me out of office. I am as free now as I was when I went into office eight years ago. I have never been controlled by any man or set of men, whether they be ministers, confidence men, crooks or character assassins, and I do not propose to change my way nor to yield to them one iota.

"I was elected by the people of this county, and I propose to be the people's official, and I will fight them to the very end and remain in office so long as my term lasts, in spite of their machinations and unjust and un-American attitude."

ASKED RESIGNATION

Rev. James A. Francis and the Rev. Herbert Booth Smith were the ministers whom Dist.-Atty. Woolwine in his statement referred to as calling upon him in his Hall of Records office and demanding his resignation.

Dr. Francis took first rank in the ministerial onslaught upon Woolwine at the Wright Act Jubilation in the evening of the day on which the eight pastors testified before the grand jury. At the same time Rev. Smith read to the assembled throng a poem of his own composition which ridiculed the District Attorney, it is asserted.

Dr. Francis last night admitted that in company with Rev. Smith he called upon the District Attorney and advised him to resign from his post as county prosecutor for "the benefit of the county."

SELECTED AT CONFERENCE

"Dr. Francis and I were selected by a conference of ministers to call upon Mr. Woolwine upon my suggestion that it was only Christian-like and fair for us to meet him face to face, the Rev. Smith said last night.

"Mr. Woolwine's statement that our attitude was dictatorial and high-handed is untrue. We were Christian and patient in our dealings with Mr. Woolwine. The meeting was quiet and free from any open antipathy.

"We reiterated our belief that Mr. Woolwine should resign. The District Attorney's answer was that he would remain in office until the completion of his term.

"When we had accomplished our mission we quietly withdrew and made our report to the conference which selected us to call on Mr. Woolwine a few days ago," Rev. Smith concluded.

STATEMENT CORROBORATED

"Dr. Smith's statement as to what transpired when we called on Mr. Woolwine is correct in every particular, "Dr. Francis said after he had conferred with Rev. Smith.

"No demand was made upon Mr. Woolwine for his resignation. In the kindest and frankest way Dr. Smith advised him that we believed the best interests of all concerned would be served by his resignation.

"Now as for the star chamber session today,—that was a calm and kindly discussion as to whether we ought to do anything or not. We reached a conclusion, and our conclusion has been given to the press."

SWORN .. IN .. ON .. LOCAL .. BENCH

Late Secretary to Governor Begins Duties as Jurist

Judge Arthur Keetch

APPOINTED judge of the Superior Court recently to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Wellborn, Arthur Keetch was sworn in yesterday and took his seat on the bench in Department 6.

Judge Keetch has had a remarkable career. In his youth he sailed before the mast on a clipper ship. Then he turned his attention to newspaper work, and later became a lawyer, rising to the post of assistant Attorney-General of California. Before accepting the present appointment, Judge Keetch was secretary to Gov. Stephens.

"I believe I want to get a look over the shoulders of the lawyers sometimes to get a glimpse of their clients. The client's interest is always to be considered," he says.

The first case assigned to Judge Keetch was the joint suit of Walter J. Lautenschlager against Altje H. Sheldon for $10,000 for breach of covenant and the suit of Mr. Sheldon against Mrs. Mary E. Lautenschlager for $1500 for unlawful detainer.

INDICTS FRAUD CASE WITNESS

stating he was empowered to purchase for the French bank the securities of the California Oil Company, to negotiate a loan upon the security of the Stough ranch at Burbank and other transactions.

The name of Mr. Sayler appears as one of the bondsmen for W. P. Marks.

The Stough ranch at Burbank is the property that will figure in the State's case against Marks and his associates.

In substantiation of his statement that the men interested in the marks defense instigated the charges against him, and his assertion that every count in the indictment is covered by contradictory evidence now in his possession, Mr. Albright yesterday produced letters, cablegrams and credentials which show, he says, that he is the agent for the French financial institution. These letters are from the Banque de la France Financiere, 8 Rue La Florence, Paris. The communications appear to show that the French bank opened negotiations with Albright in 1918. The correspondence continues up to the present.

The particular claims laid to Mr. Albright in the Federal indictment—claims which the government charges were not based on fact and made for the purpose of defrauding Mr. Sayler—are covered by letters from the Banque Financiere dated Nov. 25, 1919, Jan. 12, 1920, February 16, March 8, March 20, April 2, April 16, May 4, July 29 and December 21.

EXHIBITS CABLEGRAMS

In addition to the original letters from the bank Mr. Albright exhibited cablegrams ranging in dates through the year. There were also copies of contracts sent him by the French institution for the asserted consummation of the deals which be mentioned in the letter.

Furthermore, Mr. Albright stated last night, a consulting engineer sent here by the French institution to appraise the properties involved in the transactions is now in Los Angeles and will be produced as a witness to prove that the representations made by Albright were exactly in accordance with the facts. This man, Mr. Albright declared, is G. Rovira of Paris, France.

Mr. Albright exhibited a statement made by Mr. Rovira detailing the steps taken by him, Rovira, as the representative of the French bank and in furtherance of the negotiations for the loan on the Stough ranch. This, together with documentary evidence on this point, is in direct contradiction of the government's charge that "every representation made by the defendant as to his connection with the Banque of France Financiere was false and fraudulent."

STATEMENT BY ALBRIGHT

"It is unfortunate that the post-office inspectors have not been asked to make a thorough investigation or that I was not given a chance to show the United States attorney my evidence. I feel certain that this indictment would not have been returned if all the facts were known," Mr. Albright said last night.

While no statement was made at the District Attorney's office on the subject it was indicated that the Marks case will go ahead regardless of the action against Mr. Albright.

Mr. Albright has lived in Los Angeles since 1905 and as a broker participated in several large financial transactions.

JAILS THIRTY MORE SPEEDERS

ing before this court will serve a term behind the bars. It will be useless to request fines as an alternative. Warnings have been issued repeatedly and have been ignored."

WOMAN PUNISHED

In sentencing one of the speeders, a girl, Judge Chambers declared that women would suffer the same punishment as the men, and would receive no leniency because of their sex.

The girl in question, Miss Margaret Henry, aged 19, and attractive, pleaded guilty to driving twenty-eight miles an hour at Eighth street and Magnolia avenue. She was given one day in jail. Miss Henry resides at Redondo Beach.

The most severe punishment of the session was dealt out to R. N. Mills, accused of reckless driving. He was sentenced to forty days in the City Jail after Motorcycle Officer Allen testified that he had driven in a manner that endangered life at Vermont and McKinly avenues. Mills lives at 118 East Commonwealth avenue, Alhambra.

Miss Edna McDonald, who was arrested Monday after her automobile had crashed into a vegetable truck at Eighth and Valencia street, seriously injuring a man in the car with her, will have a hearing before Judge Frederickson next Tuesday. She was charged with reckless driving and Judge Chambers set her bail at $400.

MANY SENTENCED

S. Nader and S. Hersberg, charged with driving twenty-nine miles an hour at Washington street and Union avenue, were sentenced to three days each and the latter was fined $5 for having no operator's license.

J. R. Brown was given three days for speeding, thirty-one miles an hour at Figueroa and Forty-ninth street.

J. T. Stetson escaped with a two-day sentence. He drove twenty-six miles an hour at Verdugo Road and Avenue Thirty-four.

Archie Cooley, who drove twenty-nine miles an hour at Washington street and Union avenue, drew a three-day sentence.

R. W. Harper was given three days for driving twenty-nine miles an hour at Vermont avenue and Beverly Drive.

C. A. Hatfield and Ed Collier, each charged with driving twenty-nine miles an hour at First and Rio streets were given five days and Collier also was fined $5 for having no operator's license.

C. A. Dorr was given the same sentence as Collier, five days and $5. He drove twenty-eight miles an hour at South Main street and Santa Barbara avenue.

T. M. Hernandez must serve three days for driving twenty-eight miles an hour on Brooklyn avenue.

N. S. Hotchkiss drove twenty-nine miles an hour and R. Putnam twenty-six miles an hour on Verdugo Road. Three days each.

E. Budell, two days for going twenty-eight miles an hour on Vermont avenue.

G. E. Bennett, three days for thirty-two miles an hour on Boyle avenue.

W. A. Hannaford and G. W. Adams, three days each for twenty-eight miles and hour on Western avenue at Forty-second street.

Albert Stapp, three days for twenty-eight miles on Washington street.

Bud Thomas and R. W. Benjamin, three days each for twenty-eight and thirty miles, respectively, on Western avenue.

George Mattison, three days for thirty-one miles on Wilshire Boulevard.

W. Kissler and R. W. Banner, three days each for thirty and thirty-three miles, respectively, on West Adams street.

John Hogan, three days, and Frank C. Green, two days, for speeding on Verdugo Road.

JURY TRIALS ASKED

M. McIlvaine, three days for speeding at Santa Barbara and Normandie avenues.

E. E. Stevens, three days for thirty miles at Washington street and Union avenue.

Earl L. Moser, Louis C. Breer and and J. V. Darling were sentenced to three days each for driving in excess of the twenty-mile speed limit.

Jury trials were requested by F. O'Neil, twenty-nine miles at Vermont and Normal avenue, J. A. Scottini, thirty-two miles at Boyle avenue and Twenty-sixth street, and R. S. Pratt, thirty-two miles at Santa Barbara and Budlong avenues. Bail for each was set at $250.

Among the four minors whose cases were transferred to the juvenile department, was Van B. Johnson, 17 years old, a student at the University of Southern California. He was charged with speeding thirty-five miles an hour on West Pico street.

Police Judge Frank C. Dunham of Pasadena announced yesterday that all motorists found guilty of driving in excess of thirty miles an hour would be sentenced to jail.

The judge declared he would cooperate with the new policy of the Los Angeles police courts. Instead of the former penalty of $15 or three days offenders in the future will be given $15 and three days. Jail sentences formerly were meted out only in instances of forty miles or more an hour.

Judge Crawford also sentenced A. T. Ellington, grocer, of 7205 Raymond avenue, to 100 days in jail on a charge of reckless driving. Ellington was arrested on the 14th inst. near the intersection of Sixty-fifth and Budlong avenue, after he had crashed into a car owned by R. W. Huckster three times in succession in his efforts to move the car from the curb. The arresting officers declared that Ellington had imbibed too freely of Jamaica ginger, causing him to misjudge distances.

many years it has been the desire of leaders of the steel industry of the Coast to manufacture their own raw materials from iron and coal deposits available.

Among those who participated in yesterday's conferences were A. C. Denman, Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank; Senator William H. King of Utah; Judge Wilson of San Francisco, vice-president of the Pacific Coast Steel Company; and Mr. McLaughlin, also of San Francisco and a vice-president of the Pacific Coast Steel Company.

STATE STARTS LYNCH CLEAN-UP

a week ago," Lynch told Mr. Barker. "I have a few students who are completing the course now."

At Attorney Widney's suggestion, Lynch agreed to either complete these persons' course of training or refund their money, as they desired.

"But," Lynch made it plain, "I'll not give back a cent to those who have completed the course!"

The hearing, which closed in the ultimatum to the operator, developed moments of anger and acerbity, as well as moments which pleased and amused the crowd of spectators that Dep. Barker was forced several times to rap for order.

One of these occurred when Attorney Widney asked Lynch about the Hollywood Film Enterprises.

"What is that organization?" he said.

"Why," responded Lynch, "it's an enterprise which will promote anything in the line of motion pictures."

"And who constitute the company?" the attorney continued.

"Why—er—" hesitated the witness.

"Isn't it true, Mr. Lynch, that you're it?"

ACTUALLY BLUSHES

Lynch blushed—actually blushed—and grinned a sickly grin as he nodded yes. And the roomful tittered loudly.

The hearing waxed hot when Attorney Shreve, representing Lynch, protested warmly against the method of conducing the hearing. Shreve demanded that he be allowed to question Lynch first, but Attorney Widney for the State informed Shreve that this was not a court hearing, but simply a State Labor Commissioners' investigation to determine whether or not Lynch should be allowed to retain his license.

"Of course," Mr. Widney indicated, "if you client does not wish to present his defense as we see fit to ask it of him, he does not need to say a word."

"But I'd like to bring it out in my own way," protested Shreve.

"We wish to get the information we want in our way," replied the State Attorney and, after a heated passage, Lynch was allowed by his attorney to go on and answer the commissioner's queries, rather than to forfeit entirely the right to state his case.

Lynch repeatedly denied that he had guaranteed positions to applicants who came to him in answer to his ads.

BELIEVES WITNESSES

"But, Mr. Lynch, the witnesses we had here state you did," replied Deputy Barker, "and, Mr. Lynch I believe them."

Lynch produced voluminous files, showing work that had been secured for different actors through the Classic Agency at various producing places.

But Lynch could not indicate how many of these had been students of his, and where Attorney Widney read off the names of persons who had worked through the Classic Agency, Lynch in the great majority of cases, had to admit that the names were of persons who had not been students, or that he "did not remember."

Only a few of the persons whose names were read, he admitted, had taken his course.

A significant point, and one which Deputy Barker indicated to Lynch after the hearing, had most damaged his case, came when Lynch, in response to questions, said:

"Yes, indeed—I told lots of the people who came to me that they didn't have a chance in the pictures; that they'd better get a job dishwashing or something."

AFTER THEY PAID

"Did you tell them that before or after they paid their money for instruction?" asked the commissioner.

"Well—after they paid," Lynch admitted.

Lynch could not be induced to state the number of pupils he had turned out during the period in which he operated the school.

"Isn't it true," Deputy Barker asked, "that in the year in which you have been running the school, you admitted that you had taught more than 1200 pupils?"

"I never made such a statement," Lynch phrased his reply.

"Well," the deputy continued, "how many have you taught?"

"I can't state, definitely," Lynch replied.

On persistent questioning, the best Lynch would state was that he accepted "about fifteen or twenty students a week, on the average."

At $15 each.

There were present at the hearing, in addition to a number of persons who had been victimized by Lynch, representatives of the City Prosecutor's office and of local business organizations interested in stopping the activities of these persons.

INTERESTED OBSERVERS

Also present were Jack Pollo and Benny Goldstein, who operate a school and agency in the Mason Operahouse and Chamber of Commerce buildings, and R. B. Wilcox who recently announced he had closed the school he operated in the Knickerbocker Building. They were present only as observers—interested observers.

C. C Lawton of the City Prosecutor's office will be given a transcript of the testimony elicited at yesterday's hearing.

"We aim," he said, "to bring a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses against persons who are playing any illegal game."

EMPLOYED OTHERS

The school which Lynch has been ordered to close was operated in room 319, Grosse Building, at Sixth and Spring streets, where Lynch also operates offices bearing the names of the Hollywood Motion-Picture Enterprise, The Apollo Film Company and the Classic Film Actors' Agency.

Lynch testified yesterday that he employed, in the Classic Agency, Ivan Kahn and others.

In a statement made to The Times last week by Ivan Kahn, Gerald Kline and Don Saunders, they said that they were all three associated in the Classic Agency, and that they were making immediate arrangements to dissociate themselves from Lynch and the Classic and open an independent agency.

Gerald Kline, who was also present at yesterday's hearing, repeated this yesterday.

"Kahn and Saunders and I are quitting Lynch's office and opening an office out Hollywood way," he said.

This will leave Lynch solely in operation of the unmanned Classic Agency, according to the State Board's ruling yesterday—and NO "school."

Million Receivers to Gather Their Artistry From Air

for KHJ in the past, and radioland knows the quality of their work well.

Orchestral numbers were given during the show by Jack Cunningham, 'cello; Arthur D. Buckley, violin; Richard K. Bailey, violin; Nicola Giulli, flute; A. A. Walper, violin; Fred F. Jones, clarinet; Carl L. Buratti, cornet; Herman A. Goth, trombone; Dr. Albert C. Vielle, bass viol, and A. E. Diedrich, tympany drums.

"Mustah Bones," which is as much a part of a minstrel show as burnt cork—and, by the way, radioland should understand that this show was real, even to the burnt cork—went out into millions of homes last night throughout the United States, to far-away Alaska, Hawaii, Northern Canada, Mexico, Cuba, and to the ships at sea with all the clarity and interest which could have marked a minstrel show given on any stage. Radio folk have declared that when KHJ speaks they feel that they are right in the room, so the Uplifter minstrel show lost none of its color because those participating were not seen by the audience.

Just as theaters and other places of entertainment offer special added attractions, so it was with KHJ last night, for the Minstrel Show was an extra to the regulation de luxe program which The Times gives every evening except Sunday from 8 to 9:30. The regular concert lost none of its brilliance because of the extra entertainment.

REGULAR PROGRAM

The regular program last night was arranged through the courtesy of Barbara Taylor Kieruliff, harp soloist, whose husband, C. R. Kieruliff, installed and operated The Times radiophone prior to November 1, when The Times installed its 500-watt Western Electric transmitter and became a Class "B" station operating on 400 meters.

Barbara Taylor Kieruliff surrounded herself with a group of artists, who, for ability and talent, rank among the best in the Southland, and their artistry proved itself last night in a concert which left no room for displeasure among the most fastidious. The Kieruliff program included a string quartet, a tenor, contralto, 'cellist, cornet soloist, and a number on the bamboo flute, besides the harp solos of Mrs. Kieruliff.

In the four exceptional selections which the Fuhrer string quartet made up of Bessie Fuhrer, first violin, Evelyn Conray, second violin, Lucy Fuhrer-Genter, 'cellist, and Frances Ghise, viola, listeners found much to delight their sense of the artistic. This group of musicians showed a high degree of rhythm, artistic conception, and blending of notes which gave to their interpretations an appeal to music lovers generally. The work of this quartet included selections by Tschaikowski, Bizet, Glasgonow, and MacDowell.

Barbara Taylor Kieruliff is a harp soloist whose ability is highly recognized by the musical fraternity and whose work is known throughout the Southland. Last night her two solos endeared her to listeners-in—a radio family that is daily growing wherever the voice of KHJ reaches. Mrs. Kieruliff's sympathetic understanding of music is reflected in her artistry and gives her solos a touch at once appreciated whenever she is heard.

Ewart Williams's four tenor solos, sung to the accompaniment of Mrs. Charles F. Reiche, were a worthy addition to the evening broadcast. The delicate treatment which he gave to two Mendelssohn compositions was exceptionally appealing, and his work as a whole was of a nature to class him as an artist of rare accomplishment.

Mrs. Carl Johnson, whose rich contralto voice is well known throughout this country and abroad, since she has appeared in numerous productions and earned for herself an enviable reputation, contributed "Song of My Heart," by Tunison, and "Kipling-Speaks," "On the Road to Mandalay," to the evening concert, having as accompaniment the harp under the talented fingers of Barbara Taylor Kieruliff. As an added feature

AT ALL HOURS

The new vanity cases are equipped with tiny electric lights so the make-up business can go on at all hours and under all circumstances. A lady may still be able to rouge herself, though she find herself at midnight in the Mammoth Cave.

AGE AND BEAUTY

The veteran Georges Clemenceau says that the American women are even more beautiful than they were when he lived here fifty years ago. Does the gallant Frenchman mean the same women? The beauty parlors have certainly been doing some wonderful work.

THE BIG DOINGS

An average of more than 1200 deeds and other realty instruments are being now daily filed with the County Recorder. When it is realized that the greatest activity in real estate is in new subdivisions where sales are made under contract and not recorded it may be seen that real estate in this county is just a-hopping.

TAKEN IN TIME

When we learn that one person out of every ten who dies after the age of 40 dies of cancer we can understand how medical science is bending every effort to cure this fell disease. And the pitiful part of it is that cancer can be cured so readily "if taken in time." And how can it be taken in time? That is, alas! where the death toll starts—while waiting for an answer to that question.

BASE AND FOUL

The American all-star baseball team, now touring the world in spectacular demonstration of our national pastime, was beaten by the Japanese club at Tokio by the score of 9 to 3. That ought to be good and sufficient reason for the yellow journals declaring war on the Mikado. The Japs cannot qualify for American citizenship and yet propose to beat us at our national sport! Is the League of Nations the biggest league, after all?

THE SHELL GAME

There's a new champion every day or two. As a result of the egg-laying tournament which has been running for a year or two in Oregon the most prolific hen for this year is shown to be Lady Jewel, a White Leghorn wonder, who turned out a total of 335 eggs in 365 days. This seems to be the best official tally yet turned in, although we are on our way to the hen who will think that 366 eggs in a leap year are hardly worth cackling over.

A TURKEY WISH BONE

The deposed Sultan of Turkey is a bone of contention between Kemalists and Britishers and as such still has a nominal value. The British use his "sacred" office as head of the faithful to keep the Moslems from joining the Kemalists—and the Kemalists are vigorously protesting the British seizure of his "sacred" person for their own publicity purposes. And the poor ex-Sultan himself only asks a hole to climb into and hide his scared—not sacred—presence.

LIDS FOR LADIES

These metallic turbans that the women are wearing seem quite glittering when the sun strikes them. Originally the ladies started to trim their lids with cloth of gold or silver brocade, but they broke into the treasure chest of the steel trust before they finished. Now it looks as if a dame might be able to get her headgear at a foundry. Her helmet looks like one of those tin derbies that the Earl of Huntingdon wears while running around in Hollywood. The next millinery hint from Paris may make reference to a superb creation of purest pig iron draped with brass fringe. The day may come when Louise will take off her crest with a monkey wrench and every millinery shop will have its electric riveter.

ARE WE OVERCOLLEGED?

Inventor Edison continues his rather caustic criticism of the product of the American college. Just now, when the colleges themselves admit that they are overcrowded and are trying to weed out the undesirables, the Edison opinions may carry weight. The inventor starts out with the assertion that the wrong youth goes to college. The student who goes upon his own initiative and who works his way through college is the one who gains real value in the adventure and leaves his impress on the time. Mr. Edison contends that the average student sees only the social or sporting side of college life. He goes through the university because it is fashionable to do so, but when he gets a job he fears soiling his hands. If he does apply himself to industry he expects to be made a foreman or superintendent in six months. The inventor admits that his own experience with college men has not been of a nature to arouse his enthusiasm. Perhaps it might have been different. But it may be gratifying to some young men to know that there are great leaders in invention and industry who consider that a college education may be a liability rather than an asset and that all the doors of opportunity are open to anyone of courage and persistence.

CLEMENCEAU'S MESSAGE

Georges Clemenceau, the man of steel, the great French war Premier, has come and has spoken. Confounding his critics, he committed no indiscretions. He did not rant. He did not scold. He did not make a plea for further foreign loans. He did not say we had been wrong and France had been right.

He simply said, "When people have been mixing their blood on the field of battle they have no right to leave, if there is a difference, without trying to adjust that difference."

He had been told that the attitude of France since the war was misunderstood in this country, that the Americans had come to regard France as militaristic, with having imperialist designs. He knew that there was a misunderstanding somewhere, and he came, as a Frenchman who had learned his first lessons of liberty in America half a century ago, to seek a better understanding.

Clemenceau paid an eloquent but not fulsome tribute to the part played by President Wilson in the war and in the negotiating of the Treaty of Versailles. He spoke of "a beautiful quarrel" between himself and Gen. Pershing during the 1918 campaign. He holds that friends can argue, dispute and disagree without ceasing to be friends. He said he had since come to the conclusion that "Pershing was right and so was I," which is another way of saying that each was right, according to his point of view.

He said that, if the French had known in 1918 Germany's promises to make reparation payments were not to be kept, they would have gone on to Berlin. He likened Germany's action to that of a man who signs a check and then withdraws all his funds from the bank before the check can be presented.

He expressed the hope that England, France and the United States would draw closer together; because the German militarists are preparing for another war. He would like to see the United States renew "conversations" with England and France, which, "without definitely committing your country to a set program, WOULD PRESENT TO GERMAN EYES A PICTURE OF THE THREE UNPLEASANT FOLKS WHO FACED HER IN THE WAR."

In fact, the crux of the Clemenceau appeal is for a kind of "gentleman's agreement" which will let the German people know that the Treaty of Versailles is something more than a scrap of paper; which will furnish them a visible reminder that the nations who beat them in 1918 are ready to beat them again, if they start anything.

Clemenceau has perhaps come nearer to speaking to Americans in terms which we can understand than any other Frenchman who has come to America since the war. He gives evidence of having remembered the lessons he learned when he came here, as he says, "Fresh from the imperial jails of Napoleon III, to find there was another way of living, and a much better way."

He makes his appeal not to the government, but to the people, holding very justly that, if the two peoples can reach a common understanding, any imaginary differences between the governments will surely disappear.

A CAPTAIN KIDD IN PETTICOATS

Just when we get ourselves comfortably ensconced in the belief that the days of real adventure are gone forever along comes a story from Hongkong of a twentieth-century woman who has turned pirate. For sheer excitement and dare-devilry the story outrivals the wildest adventures of Capt. Kidd and puts the pirates of Lundy to shame.

The dispatch does not give us the lady's name, but we are told that she traveled in the first cabin aboard the British steamer Sui An, bound from Macao to Hongkong. When but a few miles from port, we are told, the woman's accomplices, said to number sixty-five of the passengers, seized the ship and, quickly overpowering the remaining passengers and crew, proceeded, at the point of guns, to strip passengers and ship alike of everything of value.

Two of the crew who showed fight were killed and six others seriously wounded. With a deliberation as uncanny as ever Robert Louis Stevenson dreamed of, the woman is said to have directed every movement of her band of pirates and to have divided among them the contents of a safe which was broken open, amounting to several thousand dollars. When the ship reached Bias Bay, a few miles north of Hongkong, the woman ordered the engines stopped and the pirates, taking their wounded, left in small boats and disappeared into the night.

What more perfect story of piracy could be told to satisfy the most meticulous lover of sea stories? Here it is served up in grander, bolder fashion than even Kipling or Ralph Bergengren have given us. How Gilbert and Sullivan would have seized upon this bit of modern adventure! The "Pirates of Penzance" is tame in comparison.

Who shall now say that the days of adventurous buccaneering are over? The pirate Gibbs, who terrified the coast towns of New England a century ago, pales into insignificance when compared with this modern Capt. Kidd in petticoats. He only thought he was a pirate.

What with rum-running on land and sea and bootleggers and pirates and hold-up men at every country crossroad, a new and absorbing chapter of adventure is in the making. And probably some day, when future writers have given our modern buccaneering the glamourous touch of romance, our children's children will think the tales of the twentieth-century buccaneers quite as alluring as those of the days when Capt. Kidd and his pirates sailed the seven seas.

I.W.W. COMING WEST

Now is the time for California rigorously to enforce the criminal syndicalist law against all who preach or practice social revolution by the agency of sabotage, terrorization or murder.

That outlaw organization, the Industrial Workers of the World, is doing both—doing both brazenly—as a challenge to the maintenance of peace and order in California.

The trouble started at the Los Angeles Harbor when the police broke up a gang of conspirators at "The Bucket of Blood" in "Happy Valley," seized a lot of incriminating literature and arrested the ringleaders. From I.W.W. headquarters in Chicago orders have since been issued to its professional thugs and agitators to proceed to the San Pedro Bay district for objects too well known to need stating.

This is but part of a concerted movement against the State of California by this aggregation of hoodlums and plug-uglies, directed by "intellectuals" of the Bolshevist variety.

Fresno is to be made the center of another invasion. Members of the I.W.W. are passing through Sacramento in large numbers to establish a reign of terror in that city. However, the local police department is keeping a close watch on their movements. Many well-known agitators, including several notorious gunmen, are headed south on freight trains—they are under close surveillance.

Thirty-one sticks of dynamite and a suit case filled with revolutionary pamphlets, already picked up by the police, mark the trail of these evangels of death and destruction to their so-called convention on the Pacific Coast.

Forewarned is forearmed. Those who suppose they can intimidate or browbeat the free people of California know little of the ways of the West. This is a great progressive State, ready to listen to the grievances of any body of citizens when presented in a law-abiding form. But threats and violence will rouse the old spirit of the forty-niners, and whenever that is roused lawlessness better take to some other retreat.

THE PROGRESSIVE BLOC

Senator La Follette, he of unsavory war record, has assumed the leadership of what is purported to be the "Progressive bloc" in Congress. The avowed object is to unite enough Representatives in the lower house and enough Senators in the upper house to dictate legislation.

In this bloc it is proposed to unite all the radicals, all those who, elected as Republicans, are opposed to the Harding administration; and all those who are listed in the Record as Democrats, but who decline to indorse the policies of the Democratic organization.

Members of this group seek but one thing, power. They have no avowed policies; but their purpose is to block all important legislation "until we get ours." In other words, they will vote for the passage of no bill until they receive some special consideration.

These irregulars are adepts at trading between the lines. They are legislative freebooters, seeking to make personal profit out of every piece of legislation they support. They aim at the dictatorship of a minority, making a parade of their disloyalty to the parties whose names they bear.

They hope to discredit President Harding before the nation by blocking the legislation which he supports. They will oppose measures that are for the public good; in order that he may receive no credit for their passage. The La Follette, Borah, Johnson group have set themselves up to dictate to the Republican party. They intimate that they will split the party in 1924 unless one of the three receives the Republican nomination for President.

But which of the three? There is where they split. That is the rock that, in a brief time, will wreck the Progressive craft. None of the three will trust the others. There is a danger, however, that they will work together long enough to defeat the ship subsidy bill. California now witnesses the spectacle of its senior Senator going into a group whose avowed purpose is to destroy the merchant marine; yet he represents the State that has more miles of seacoast and more harbors than any other State.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders in Congress find themselves faced by a group of irregulars who used the party name as subterfuge to get elected to office. The Progressive bloc will be discredited very shortly; but it may do a great deal of damage to the country before it is kicked out.

It isn't safe to laugh at a small-town lawyer. Moses was in that list.

PUBLIC GRAFT

Directors in a big cotton mill industry in Russia were found to have been grafting to the tune of 1,000,000 or so in real money and were ordered shot. If it is proposed to shoot all the leeches who fatten on public ownership or government operation they will soon run out of ammunition.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM

BY HERMAN J. STICH

Give Thanks

Whenever you get the idea that your lot is a particularly hard one, give a thought to the Pilgrims to whom you owe thanks for at least one extra day off every November and perhaps for the very privilege of making a living in this good old U.S.A.

Over a hundred settlers came over in the Mayflower. By the end of the first winter the little colony had been so sorely tried that only fifty-five remained alive.

So hostile and so watchful were the Indians that the Pilgrims had to bury their dead without tombstones—that the terrible extent to which the little band had dwindled would not be known.

They were mowed down by cold, hunger and disease.

Starved wolves would come in out of the forest, sit on their tails and grin at the Pilgrims as they made their fires, as though aware that their numbers were gradually growing fewer, their fuel less, the end nearer.

Your lot a particularly hard one, did you say?

How would you like to exchange it for the Pilgrims' for a winter or two?

What do you suppose the Pilgrims would have given for steam heat, for a corner butcher and grocer, for skilled physicians and up-to-date hospitals.

What do you suppose the Pilgrims would have given for a police department, for a fire department, for a subway?

What do you suppose they would have given to be able to attend a free night school, a lecture course or a public library—instead of having to shiver all night long while standing guard against stealthy savages and ferocious animals.

What do you suppose they would have given to be able simply to go about their business and make a living, instead of being constantly in fear and danger of sudden death?

Whenever you get the idea that your lot is a particularly hard one give a thought to the Pilgrims.

Then—

Give thanks to your lucky stars for their having seen to it that you are alive and kicking in 1922 instead of 1620.

And show your thanks by exploiting to the fullest the opportunities that are weighing down your coat-tails.

RIPPLING RHYMES

RED BLOOD

The red-blood fiction of these times is much concerned with doom; for passing souls the churchbell chimes and graveyards have a boom; the heroes, steeped in gory crimes, are agents of the tomb. The cowboy still infests the scene and piles his smoking gun, although his grave has long been green, his tribal race is run and hen-rycars burn gasoline where once he had his fun. And in the North the killers wade through snow, day after day, and dig a pathway with a spade to people they would slay, and many vengeful debts are paid in blood the good old way. In murder ships the weapons pop, fired by a pirate crowd, and able seamen reel and drop, all ready for the shroud; this is the hectic sort of slop our schoolboys are allowed. I ask no wishy-washy fare for growing girls and boys; a tactful murder here and there the healthy soul enjoys, but when there's bloodshed everywhere it wearies and annoys.
And kids are prone to say, "Gadzooks! We find it written down in wholesome, red-blood he-men books, by authors of renown, that blood should flow in crimson brooks, so we'll shoot up the town!" I have three bullets in my shanks and seven rusty nails, the outcome of exultant pranks by boys who read such tales, and I am numbered with the cranks for filing kicks and wails.

Congress is again in session. Political weather predictions: Strong, hot winds from the East.

If you have occasion to pronounce Fascisti, the new leaders in the public life of Italy, call it Fah-shee-stee.

Mussolini has been given a vote of confidence as Italian Premier. David Lloyd George no doubt wonders how he did it.

Why is it that the ladies who insist upon crowding into the front section of the street cars are not bothered with the cigar smoke?

We presume if the proper pressure is applied that Battling Bob La Follette will consent to lead the dear people in the contest of 1924. But Bob is so shy.

Considerable trouble is being encountered in securing a new Cabinet in Germany that will stand hitched. This is quite unusual where the President is a harness-maker.

It is solemnly announced that Arthur Burch and Malalynne Obenchain exchanged slight greetings as they passed each other in the local court the other day. Nothing unusual about it—they had possibly met before.

Now that the Newberry incident is settled with the resignation of the Michigan Senator, why not inquire how much money did Henry Ford and his friends spend in that Michigan Senatorial election. Newberry did not spend it all.

The result of the election furnishes a harvest for the political opportunist. It would be a hardy prophet who would undertake to predict the course of political events, even in the immediate future. The seers are all guessing.

There is something about the turkey question that we cannot fathom. The figures show that the consumption of the bird has declined 20 per cent in the last ten years and the prices have advanced 20 per cent or more during the same period. But we never did understand turkeys.

The United States Treasury has held that the Chicago Opera Company is an "educational" body and the receipts are, therefore, exempt from the payment of the war tax. Hitherto only symphony concerts have been exempt. Why not exempt the movies? Looks as if there might be a "pull" concealed somewhere.

A young minister convicted of shooting his mother-in-law says that "women are causing the downfall of men, enticing them by their daily dress." But we haven't much sorrow for a fellow who is "enticed" by the dress of his mother-in-law. That is about the last thing in the world they are expected to do.

Frank Bacon, the California actor who became famous overnight as Bill Jones ("Lightnin'") in the play of that name, is dead. Remember the scene where Bill says he knows all about bees. "I was in the bee business," says he. "I drove a swarm of bees across the plains in the winter and never lost a bee." "But warn't you ever stung," he is asked. "Not by a bee," he replies. The story now is famous. It typefies Bill Jones, the good-hearted rapscallion and harmless liar who goes through life with his mischievous repartee to overcome his shiftless ways.

WOMEN AND THE

BY MYRA [illegible]

Spectacular and outstanding incidents occurred among women in the club and political circles during the campaign. Now that the barrage of battle has lifted and the machine guns have ceased action it is clear that it was the quiet, steady work of women, after all, that made for success.

Women of the State were 52 per cent of the electorate. Of these nearly three to one were Republican as opposed to those registered in the other big party in Los Angeles county, and it was this county that gave the required majority in every victory of candidate or measure. In two recent Presidential elections it was commonly conceded that the balance of power was in California. The influence of Republican women of this county, therefore, should not be underestimated in the future.

Two instances of the county's share in victory are: The passage of the Law Enforcement Act, which lost in San Francisco, but received a majority of 30,000, the greater part of which was given here; and the conquest of Friend Richardson for Governor, who won by just 100 votes in San Francisco, received his greatest number in Los Angeles, his next greatest number in his home county, Alameda, with a final majority greater than any other victorious candidate, approaching 225,000.

Friend Richardson's night-blooming cereus growth in the regard of the women of his party was so phenomenal as to be almost dramatic. They knew little of him at first, in spite of his having delved so assiduously into the figures of the State Treasury and with such success. He made no appeal to their imagination in the beginning of the campaign. They had not seen him nor heard him speak.

Suddenly it became evident to them that here was a man of character for whom they had been looking. He demonstrated in his first appearance before them at the Woman's City Club that he was without any of the old turret-topped architecture of phrases as regards the "uplift" of humanity, but he could do specific work that helped humanity, that he would not flatter the "ladies" with the outworn "I-was-always-for-suffrage" appeal, but that he could pay a quiet tribute to his wife which made evident that all womanhood was held high in his esteem.

Above all, he manifested the shining quality of his sincerity.

Somewhat to their surprise, they found he was not a pariah of social life, but preferred work to society, that he was a fighter and they liked it, that he was picturesque in his utterances without making any claim to being a public speaker, that virtually all of the jokes he told were on himself. That and a politician!

He became their Moses who made no promises to lead them in the future to some far-

She had said something that distressed him and, seeing the look on his face, she exclaimed, "Oh, my darling, I'm afraid I have hurt you."

"No, dearest," he replied gravely, "the hurt I feel is due to the fact that I know it hurts you to feel that you have hurt me."

"Ah, no!" she said. "Do not let that hurt you for an instant. My hurt is because I know it hurts you to feel that I have hurt myself by hurting you."

"No, no, my precious! My hurt is because you are hurt over feeling that I am hurt because you feel that you have hurt me and are therefore hurt yourself and—"

THIS IS THE DAY

Franklin Pierce, fourteenth President of the United States, was born at Hillsborough, N. H., in the year 1804. He was nominated by the Democratic party in 1852 and beat Winfield Scott by 254 electoral votes to 42. He served four years. He died at Concord, N. H., in 1869.

William Crompton of Taunton, Mass., was granted a patent for a cloth-weaving loom in 1837.

The battle of Chattanooga began in the year 1863 and lasted three days. Gen. Grant, with 60,000 Union men, was opposed by Gen. Braxton Bragg, with 40,000 intrenched Confederates. The first day's battle was fought at Orchard Knob and ended with victory for the Union army.

A "fisheries commission," appointed in 1854 to arbitrate differences between the United States and Great Britain, reached a decision in 1877 as to fishing privileges in Newfoundland waters. The decision favored Great Britain and awarded that country $5,500,000.

OUTLAW ASPECT IS GIVEN STRIKE

Brotherhood Officer Last Government Witness

Santa Fe Fireman Tells of Desert Death Threat

Passengers Relate Suffering at Needles

Stories of sabotage and intimidation by "outlaw" strikers at Needles led yesterday to the testimony of John Bannon, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who is expected to prove today as the government's closing witness in the prosecution of the strikers that he held the strike unauthorized and so told the striking men.

Bannon will tell, it is expected, of his visit to Needles on August 19 and of what he learned in his investigation, which resulted, it is said, in the removal of several labor union officials. He will also declare, it is said, that stories of the strikers that the Santa Fe equipment was faulty were untrue. His testimony is expected to clinch the government's contention that the strike was wholly an "outlaw" affair.

TELLS OF ROBBERY

H. D. McKay, Santa Fe fireman, testified yesterday that strikers robbed him of his money and told him he would have to take the job of waterman at Galt and put emery in the water to destroy the engine. He refused and was told to blow the tank up with dynamite. He refused to do this also and was threatened with being sent into the desert to die. He knocked down one of his guards and escaped, he said.

Virginia Fox of the local film colony declared there was much suffering among the passengers. Waiters at the Harvey eating house struck in sympathy with the strikers and refused to serve the passengers till a purse was given them, she said. John D. Carpenter, another passenger, also testified.

THREATS RECOUNTED

Assistant General Manager Hitchcock of the Santa Fe testified the strikers said nothing about alleged poor equipment until after they went out. He told Judge Bledsoe there was no lack of equipment on the trains he traveled on during the strike.

James Cardwell, a Santa Fe conductor, told of being held prisoner for refusing to join the strike, and of being warned to get out of Needles under pain of death in the desert. He did not go, he said.

IDENTIFY AIDE IN JAIL BREAK

Identification of E. E. Thompson, under arrest in Owensville, Mo., on a forgery charge, as the man who attempted to smuggle a revolver concealed in a candy box to Arthur Burch in the County Jail, was made yesterday by Postoffice Inspector Sellars, according to a telegram received by Inspector Sharon.

The attempt to smuggle the revolver and twelve bullets was made a few days prior to the escape attempt of Herbert Wilson, preacher-mail bandit. Thompson was Wilson's cell mate. He jumped bail on an extortion charge.

The revolver was for Wilson's use in his effort to secure liberty. Sheriff Traeger announced that extradition proceedings would be started to bring Thompson back to Los Angeles.

Police Demands for Auto Aid Held Illegal

Policemen have no right to commandeer the automobiles of citizens in pursuit of their duty, City Attorney Stephens ruled yesterday. He informed the Finance Committee of the City Council that an officer may call upon a citizen for assistance, but that he has no right to compel a citizen to turn over the use of his car.

The point was made in connection with the case of Patrolman J. W. Dunlap, who made use of an automobile owned by J. E. Shelley to take two prisoners to jail. The machine was wrecked by a street car and Shelly asked for damages.

The Finance Committee announced itself as inclined to pay the damage to the automobile as a moral obligation, but informed Chief of Police Oaks to notify his men that they have no legal right to commandeer private vehicles.

Contracts for Two Dams Let by Supervisors

Contracts for the gates at the San Dimas and Live Oaks dams, new flood-control projects, were awarded yesterday by the Board of Supervisors to the Llewellyn Iron Works for $17,000. The gates are to be built within thirty days.

The gates at San Dimas are 4 by 6 feet in size and are to be placed in ninety feet of water. Those at Live Oaks are each 3 by 4 feet and are to go in sixty feet of water.

The San Dimas dam is virtually completed, at a cost of $485,000. The Live Oaks dam will cost $150,000.

NEW HEARING GRANTED

Libel Case From Santa Barbara to be Heard Again

The State Supreme Court has granted a new hearing in the case of E. P. Stevens against Thomas M. and C. A. Storke, publishers of the Santa Barbara Daily News and Independent. Mr. Stevens, a contractor, some time ago sued the publishers for $5000 damages for asserted libel. The Superior Court allowed him $1000.

The case was appealed and the District Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the lower court in September. Mr. Stevens then petitioned the Supreme Court for the new hearing.

RITES FOR THOMPSON ARRANGED

Funeral of Business Man Who Died in Chicago Will be This Afternoon at 2.

The funeral of Chester Weaver Thompson, prominent Los Angeles citizen who died last Saturday at the Henrotin Hospital in Chicago, will be at 2 p.m. today at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Mr. Thompson came to Los Angeles from San Diego, in 1892, entering the wholesale egg and butter business. In 1903 he was one of the organizers of the Los Angeles Produce Exchange and later, in 1916, became its president. Five years ago he organized the Terminal Refrigerating Company, of which he was president and manager to the time of his death.

Mr. Thompson was also a director of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce in 1917 and 1918.

He was a director of the American Red Cross during the war and was connected with the Food Administration.

Many fraternal organizations claimed him as a member. He was a Mason of the Southern California Lodge, 278 F.&A.M., a Knight Templar, Scottish Rite Mason and a Shriner.

Mr. Thompson was also a member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, the Los Angeles Country Club and the Jonathan Club, serving as secretary of the latter and as a director for a number of years.

He leaves a widow and one daughter, Dorothy, both of whom were with him at the time of his death.

Burial will be at the Hollywood Cemetery.

Women's Body Plans Show to Buy Clubhouse

To raise funds for the purchase of a permanent clubhouse, the Los Angeles Business Women's Association is planning an elaborate benefit performance for the near future.

The club was organized in July, 1921, for the purpose of training young women for responsible positions. Since its inception, fifty-seven girls have made their residence in the Bonnie Brae House, maintained by the association. Many of these girls are now holding responsible professional and industrial positions.

During the war the association was known as the Business Women's Red Cross Auxiliary and was one of the most active organizations in the city in aiding and caring for veterans.

Several stage and screen stars will participate in the benefit performance, it was stated, and the program gives promise of being one of the best ever arranged for this kind of an affair in the city.

Burglars and Highwaymen Reap Harvest

Forcing an entrance through a side window, burglars yesterday ransacked the home of E. E. Dugan, 921 South St. Andrews Place, and escaped with articles and jewelry valued at $2000. Mr. Dugan gave a list of the stolen valuables to the detective department.

Frank D. Owen, 4000 Eastside Boulevard, felt a tug at his pocket as he was riding on a street car at Fourth street and Broadway late yesterday. He felt for his purse and discovered it had been taken, together with $39. He notified Central station police.

A lone bandit about 30 years old, late yesterday afternoon drove up to the L. Molitall meat market, 5805 Long Beach avenue, held two persons at bay with a revolver and took approximately $50 from the cash register. George Chober, an employee, and J. C. Layton, an iceman, were in the market at the time. Chober reported the robbery to police.

MUST FACE TRIAL

Joe D. Pagon Held to Answer on Charge of Extortion

Joe L. Pagon was held to answer to the Superior Court yesterday by Justice Baird under $3000 bonds on charges of extortion.

Pagon is accused of having represented himself as a police officer and to have extorted $21.40 from Tony Skaler of 428 Bernard street under threat of exposing Skaler to the authorities as a violator of the prohibition law. Later, Pagon is accused of having obtained $206 from Job Sera under similar circumstances.

YOUTHS FOUND WITH POOLROOM PLUNDER

Burglars broke into a pool hall yesterday at 1735 Highland avenue, Hollywood, owned by E. R. Jackson, and stole approximately $1000 worth of cigars, tobacco, cigarettes, pipes and a table cover. Less than an hour later Detective-Sergeant Riggs and Patrolman Killeby arrested four youths in an automobile at the intersection of Twenty-first street and Central avenue. In the car, the officers said, were found the articles stolen from the pool hall.

Mr. Jackson, however, did not learn of the robbery and the capture of the four asserted thieves until he opened his place of business. The four youths held are L. P. Hicks, Ivan Clay, C. David and Ernest Ware.

ILL-HEALTH CAUSE OF SUICIDAL ACT

Ill health caused Arthur W. Hurley, aged 28, a pipefitter, of 3640 Adair street, to drink poison yesterday, according to police report. He was found in the bathroom of his home and taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he died. His body was taken to the Garrett undertaking rooms.

People and Their Troubles

Listen, World!

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY Elsie Robinson

If I were a judge in a divorce court there are a few little things I'd do whenever the chance offered—

For instance, when some disgruntled husband came to me craving deliverance from the matrimonial handcuff, saying that his wife was no longer "his mental companion"—that she cared only for housework and babies—that she did not understand his professional ambitions nor fit into his social world—

When a case of that sort came up, I'd like to be able to sentence him to six months' service in the nursery and kitchen, doing the work of just the sort of wife and mother he was criticising. I'd relieve him of all necessity for outside labor and give him an unlimited opportunity to experience the life his wife had been leading.

I'd let his rest be broken by a crying baby—

I'd let each hour be crammed by the repetition of tiresome duties, duties for which he had no deep love and concerning which he could form no inspiring ambition—

I'd let him see what effect the labor and monotony of cooking, ironing, mending, baby tending, mending, ironing, cooking, fourteen hours a day, seven days a week on and on without certain vacation or a break in the responsibility until the children are grown—what effect all this has on health, looks, pep, disposition, broadness of vision—

I'd let him be forced to give up all his pet amusements and subordinate all his natural interests to the needs of others—

I'd let him experience the terrors of self-pity that undermine a woman's self-respect and against which she fights so helplessly in her narrow rut—

I'd let him be gripped by that hunger for understanding which makes a woman pour out trivial wrongs which, given a happier range of activities, she would learn to laugh at—

I'd let him do all this under the constant goad of insufficient funds —"trying to make both ends meet"

Then, when the six months were over, I'd ask him whether he understood his wife's "dullness" a little better. I think he would.

Questions Answered

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing the Los Angeles Times Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and inclose 2 cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.

Question: Why do more explosions occur in mines in the fall than at other times of year?

B. McC.

Answer: The Bureau of Mines says that in bituminous coal mines most explosions occur in the fall or winter when the humidity of the mine air is very low and mines become dusty. Under these conditions a small gas explosion or blown-out shot will cause a serious coal dust explosion.

Q.: What is the gum which is used on stamps composed of?

W. J. W.

A.: Its composition is said to be the following: Gum arabic, one part; starch, one part; sugar, four parts; water, sufficient to give the desired consistency. A.: Shoes are still numbered according to the length of a grain of barley, in a system of numeration by thirteens.

Q.: Who said the virtues are only disguised vices?

O. E. T.

Q.: Where was the largest training camp during the war?

O. L. F.

A.: Camp Grant at Rockord, Ill., was the largest camp. The maximum capacity of this camp was 62,675. Camp Lee at Petersburg, Va., was the next largest, with a maximum capacity of 60,335.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Issue Is Clear

CLAREMONT, Nov. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States that under our naturalization laws alien Japanese are not eligible to citizenship is most welcome because it authoritatively settles the question of the interpretation of these laws. As long as certain Federal District Courts construed the law as allowing Japanese naturalization while others interpreted it as withholding from them this privilage, the situation was intolerable. There is no longer room for debate upon this subject. Every loyal American, whatever his own judgment may have been regarding it, is glad to have the question decided.

Those especially, who believed that under our laws Japanese were eligible to naturalization, have every reason to rejoice in the Supreme Court's decision. If their contention had been upheld, the effect in States like California, some of whose laws would practically have been annulled, would have been most unfortunate. The decision would have seemed like an attack upon these laws. State pride would have been touched and the question at issue would have been seriously beclouded. As it now stands, the Supreme Court has definitely put it up to the people of the entire country to effect change through Congressional action, if they are not satisfied with a law which declares that some aliens domiciled in this land are eligible to naturalization while others though legally resident here are ineligible.

Over this simple question then the battle can now be waged with absolute clearness. Those who advocate equal treatment of men of all races by our laws may now without any possible complications have a bill introduced into Congress which shall provide that "the privilege of naturalization shall not be withheld from any person by reason of race or nationality," and this very concise proposition may be debated nationwide until it be finally settled in accordance with the reason and conscience of the people.

It is evident that this proposition has no necessary connection with the question of immigration. Advocates of a humanly just naturalization law have every reason not to complicate it therewith. The two are fundamentally different matters and should not be confused.

California's more than fifty years of turmoil over the Asiatic problem has been vitally conditioned by the presence in the body politic of aliens who, courts have held, were not eligible to naturalization. This very fact separated these aliens from all other groups in the population, intensified feeling against them as an ostracised people and tended to keep them from becoming Americanized. In a country with universal suffrage the presence of a group so differentiated must always foster demagogy at their expense and subject them to unjust discrimination. Politically this policy has been a failure and a menace to Democratic institutions which in the last analysis are based upon the principle that all men are equal in the sense that they are members of one great human family.

Is not the exclusion of Asiatics, lawfully domiciled in our country, from privileges freely accorded aliens of other races a practical denial of this basic fact of human nature—brotherhood? If in our nation we allow this denial in one sphere, shall we not have to reckon with it in all others? Nothing is more suggestive in this line than the story of the intensified industrial conflict which the World War, history's most supreme denial of brotherhood, bequeathed to us. A few days ago we had the official presentment of a Federal government board that the term "living wage" is "a bit of mellifluous phraseology, well calculated to deceive the unthinking," as pretty a denial of brotherhood in industrial relations as the world has heard in a long time and quite worthy of being framed beside Vanderbilt's famous "the people be damned." All over the United States wherever a serious attempt is being made to base the efforts of capital and labor upon the principle of service and to work out a co-operative policy between them, the appeal to brotherhood as the only motive strong enough to unite them is recognized as fundamental.

The same holds true in international relations. If the League of Nations had been democratically framed as a League of all Peoples instead of aristocratically controlled in its Council by a group of five great powers and intricately bound up with an impossible and inhuman treaty, there would never have been numbered among its opponents that large element who years before the late war had been agitating for a world State and who viewed the new creation as a menace to a brotherly handling of future world problems.

If there be one characteristic foremost everywhere on earth today, it is the universal response to the principle of brotherhood. This is fast becoming the court of final resort among humankind. In harmony with this principle the problem presented by race prejudice must be solved. By common consent of the world our nation is the arena on which this conflict is to be fought to a finish. The church already senses this and in the Southland where the negro question bulks largest churches realize that the only solution lies in the life and words of Jesus. 'All of you areb rothers." The American church knows that it must incarnate brotherhood or die.

The Supreme Court then has done a notable service in clearing of all complications our naturalization situation and in facing the American people with the question "Is the gift of our citizenship to hinge upon race or upon our common humanity." The Supreme Court's decision is a challenge to idealists, to people of religious convictions, and to all who honestly believe in and try to practise human brotherhood. It cannot be dodged because it is part and parcel of the greatest problem confronting the entire world today—Shall the principle of human solidarity or that of narrow nationalism and race prejudice prevail on earth.

DOREMUS SCUDDER.

The German Mark

REDLANDS, Nov. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Few realize how great has been the depreciation of the German mark. In your issue of November 16, you quote the mark as .01½ (cents) for 100 marks, that is .0001½ per mark. The par value of the mark before the war was 23.8 cents.

Take the case of a German professor receiving a salary of 3000 marks a month, before the war, as an illustration. This was a fair monthly living wage being equal to $714 in American money.

Today the present value of 3000 marks is exactly 45 cents.

To receive the equivalent of his prewar monthly salary of 3000 marks, he would need 4,760,000 marks, the present standard being 6666 2-3 marks to the dollar, when formerly it was 4 marks and a fraction.

HENRY B. AUCHINCLOSS.

Beat 'Em to It

PASADENA, Nov. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Eliminating the debts due us by England, which it is agreed are almost surely to be paid, there are but two hypotheses as to European debts. Europe will either pay us or she won't. If we assume the hypothesis she won't, and the question of whether her decision is voluntary or involuntary is not to the point, then inasmuch as it's obvious we are bound to continue to do business with her, willy-nilly, for we must have a market for our exports, it's equally obvious we had better save our face by immediately offering cancellation. I go further, we should insist upon cancellation. One can do business with a man with whom one has forgiven a debt but it's difficult to continue business relations with a man who refuses to pay. If we are satisfied Europe either can't or won't pay then for the sake of the better and quicker resumption of business relations, we should at once, with a magnificent gesture, absolutely insist upon her accepting a cancellation. In a way we are like a merchant with but one possible customer. If we can't sell to Europe, we might as well shut up shop. We can certainly sell our wheat with much better face to a Europe with a forgiven debt than with a repudiated debt. Once we decide upon the hypothesis she won't pay then we should never let it go to the point of allowing her actually to make such a humiliating admission. We should beat her to it and declare, under no circumstances, will we accept her money. We might throw in a little bull by adding we felt already too much in her debt for the sacrifices she had made helping us "save democracy."

GAYLORD WILSHIRE.

Is Much Surprised

HIGHLAND PARK, Nov. 20. —[To the Editor of The Times:] I am taking a lively interest in the fight now on hand between Mr. Woolwine, and members of the Ministers' Union. I am greatly surprised to see that the Episcopal church should have allowed itself to become entangled in this political mess. As that church and its members have never been known to be political busy body's. Its members have always been recognized as being tolerant toward other people's mode of living and views of life. In fact, they have become known as above the average in intelligence and refinement.

I find a great many people holding the view that the prohibition question has ceased to be a moral one and that it has turned out to be a political one. If this is so it behooves the members of all religious organizations to see that pastors are not made political tools of by designing prohibition politicians.

ENN STATE WILL BE AT PASADENA WITH A STRONG TEAM"—BEZDEK

GOVERNORS WILL DON ROOTER CAPS

Two rooting Governors will sit opposite each other at the Washington State-University of Southern California football game on Thanksgiving Day at Pasadena and tear the membranes in their thoraxes loose rooting for opposite teams, according to Gwynn Wilson, graduate manager of the University of Southern California. According to Wilson, Gov. William D. Stephens has engaged a box for the Turkey Day game on the Southern California side of the field and Gov. Lewis Hart of Washington State has engaged a box under the colors of the Cougars.

TO STAGE CLEAN-CUT FISTICUFFS

Philadelphia is to Have Classy Bouts Under Committee of Five Citizens

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—Virtual control of the class of boxing that is to be offered the fans who attend Philadelphia's largest club—the Arena, formerly the ice palace—is to be vested in a committee of five to be composed of citizens who have absolutely no connection with boxing in any form other than a love for the sport. This was made known tonight at a dinner given by Jules E. Mastbaum, who has taken over control of the ice palace.

Mr. Mastbaum made it plain that he is determined to see that boxing conducted at the Arena will be a thing of which Philadelphia will be proud, a sport that is above pure commercialism, and to that end will turn the Arena over to those who are to conduct the boxing without being in any commercial way connected with it himself.

TO ACCEPT NO PROFITS

Mr. Mastbaum stated that not one cent of the profits, if there are any, will be accepted bl himself. The boxing is to be conducted by Leon Rains and Ernest Jambor, who conducted the Olympia A. A., which held its final show tonight and which has been taken over by Mr. Mastbaum and will be put out of business so far as boxing is concerned.

The new head of the Arena then laid his hopes for giving this city boxing on a higher plane than ever before and asked the assembled guests to select a committee of three that will name the committee which will be the last word in control of boxing at the Arena. William H. Rochap, sports editor of the Public Ledger, was designated as chairman and the other members are Charles H. Grakelow, and Edwin O. Lewis. This committee will meet again on Thursday and announce the names of the five men who have been selected to serve as virtual dictators of boxing at the Arena.

What California and Stanford Will Do

BEARS' PLANS

Bruins Will Put Steam-Roller Into Action

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERKELEY, Nov. 22.—Determined to set a new record for high intercollegiate scores, at least eight Blue and Gold gridiron stars will enter the big game at Palo Alto next Saturday with the intention of overwhelming Stanford by more than fifty points. Capt. "Charlie" Erb, "Brick" Muller, Archie Nesbit, "Duke" Morrison, "Don" Nichols, Johnny allagher and "Fat" Clark, will all be putting on their football togs for the last time in their college gridiron careers at the game with the Cardinals, and they intend to celebrate by leaving a new high score for future big game teams to aim for.

Like every other team in the conference, Stanford is simply outclassed by California. With the Cardinal captain, "Dud" DeGroot, out of the game with a disjointed ligament in his knee, Stanford has lost the mainstay of her line. Remembering how the light Washington backs plunged through the center of the line after DeGroot had left the game last Saturday, it is merely a question of how much more yardage the experienced Blue and Gold plungers can make through this hole.

FIFTY-POINT ADVANTAGE

California has beaten the Palo Alto aggregation by 35 points for the past two years. By comparing scores made by the two teams this year against the same rival, U. C. enters the big game with a clear 50-point advantage. Disregarding the U.S.C. game which would reduce this advantage considerably, but is not a fair test of the relative strength of the two northern schools because of the Trojans' knowledge of California plays, California ran up 45 points against Washington and 61 points against Nevada, playing her second team the last half of both games. Stanford, on the other hand, was beaten by Washington and only beat the Sagehens by 10 points.

Every man on the California squad is in tip-top condition. The game with Nevada last week was just a little work-out, and there weren't as many casualties as in an ordinary scrimmage. The three best men on the Stanford team are laid up completely as a result of the consecutive games with U.S.C. and Washington, so that if Ray Doughty with his torn shoulder, "Art" Wilcox, who is just recovering from his injuries in tackling "Otto" Anderson, and "Dud" DeGroot with his one good leg, play at all, it will only be under a tremendous handicap.

FACE STRONG MACHINE

Stanford's cripples are facing what is now regarded as the strongest football machine ever turned out at California or anywhere else on this Coast. California is entering the game with a team of veterans, undefeated for three years, who are determined to walk all over the comparatively green and crippled Stanford eleven.

Coach "Andy" Smith has been repeatedly asked to let "Brick" Muller throw just one more of his justly famous passes. Sixty thousand people will crowd the Stanford stadium expecting the Blue and Gold footballers to give a superior exhibition of "How to Play Football." Six thousand California rooters have bought tickets to see California overwhelm Stanford, and unless all dope is wrong, all Stanford's cripples get well, and all California's stars get sick, Saturday will bring forth what may be a new high-score football record on the Coast.

KHJ TO BROADCAST GAME

Football fans who want all the genuine down-to-the-minute information on the Stanford-California football game Saturday can save themselves a lot of trouble by coupling up the radio receiving set at 2:45 o'clock for the mighty voice of KHJ, The Times radio broadcasting station, will be heard in all directions giving the play by play of the Stanford-California game and likewise the results of the Occidental-Pomona battle for the championship of the Southern California Conference. Arrangements have been completed for a direct wire service from the Palo Alto bowl to The Times broadcasting station and the listeners-in will be informed of each play as it occurs.

Seven of the regular starting lineup, as well as Duke Morrison, who is the most powerful Bruin back, though he doesn't usually start, make their final bow before the public in the contest with Stanford. The tip from California is that this outfit plans on running up a score that will fittingly celebrate their graduation from football, as well as to furnish a mark for future Bear teams to shoot at.

YOUNGSTERS IMPROVE

The eight seasoned veterans who play their third and last "big game" for the Blue and Gold, will be opposed by eight Stanford men who are in big competition for the first time. Three of the Cardinals, Houck, guard; Lawson, end, and Johnston, tackle, have not had even the experience with college freshmen, as they entered the university after football season closed last year. These men are wonderful specimens, physically and athletically, but as far as college line play is concerned they started this season as green as country peas. Thornhill has taught them a lot during the last two months, and they are becoming more effective with every game. With the experience which they have gained this year they will form a real foundation for an eleven next season.

With Capt. De Groot out, Coach Kerr is up against the problem of building a new unit for the center of the line. George Baker did very well in De Groot's place during the Washington battle, considering it was the first game of football he ever played in his life. He will be tried against the Bears on the strength of his showing against Washington. But it is very doubtful if he can go more than

CARDS' PLANS

Palo Altans to Offer Bruins Stiff Fight

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 21.—Even with Capt. Dud De Groot out of the struggle and with a less favorable preliminary showing than that of last season, Stanford counts on giving the Bears a battle in the annual Cardinal-Bruin fracas at the stadium next Saturday. Regardless of the defeat at the hands of U.S.C., and again with the University of Washington the victor, Stanford is twenty-five points stronger than the team which represented the Cardinal in the game last November, which ended with a 42-7 count in favor of Andy Smith.

Next Saturday will give football fans of the West their last chance to see Brick Muller, Charlie Erb, and the tribe of players which made Bears famous do their stuff on the gridiron as college men.

TIJUANA AGAIN IN LAW THROES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 22.—Jerome A. Bassity, president of the Zaragoza Investment Company, announced here tonight that Federal Judge Mario Somohano Flores of Tijuana, had today granted his application for a counter bond in the Tijuana race track litigation which has been pending in the Mexican courts for the last two years.

The application was filed several days ago by Jesus Barcenas, attorney for the Zaragoza Investment Company, Bassity announced.

Judge Flores in handing down his decision, placed the amount of the bond at $100,000 and requested the judge of the first instance at Tijuana to place the Zaragoza Investment Company in control of the property, it was asserted by Bassity, upon the deposit of the money. The counter bond will be put up by Bassity tomorrow, he said.

GAIN POSSESSION

This action, it is stated, has no bearing on the main suit now pending before the Mexican Supreme Court, decision of which is expected soon.

"A year ago," Bassity asserted, "the Zaragoza Investment Company received a decision in its favor in the Federal court at Tijuana. This decision gave possession of the Tijuana track, which has been operated since 1916 by the Lower California Jockey Club, to the Zaragoza In-

Shines Bright as Star

Here's Ed Cleveland, the triple threat man of the Stanford eleven. Ed subbed at half for Wilcox and although an understudy measured up to the same standard set by the Cardinal regular. Cleveland may prove to be the fly in the ointment for the Bruins next Saturday when the annual Stanford-California clash is staged.

ROAD KING RACES INTO MOVIE HALO

There is a great possibility of those who follow automobile racing have sometime heard or read of George E. Noble, old-time driver. Noble is the man who originated the idea of skidding cars on soaped streets, and who won a number of championship laurels in the bowl.

However, with the origination of the skidding stunt, Noble soon skidded his way into the movies. But not being satisfied with just posing as a hero in picture scenes, he went in for something better. Consequently, today, George E. Noble is general manager of Larry Semon Productions and carries away a purse that would stagger even Jimmy Murphy himself.

TURKEY DAY GRID TICKETS ON SALE

For the benefit of the many persons who wish to get their seats early enough to insure them of a good location, Gwynn Wilson, graduate manager of the University of Southern California, has announced that the tickets for the Thanksgiving Day football game between the University of Southern California and the Washington State team will go on sale today. Seats may be bought at the following sporting-goods houses and also at the University of Southern California. The houses which handle the tickets are B. H. Dyas, Spaulding's, Cline & Cline, Tufts-Lyons, L.A.A.C., Jarvis-Prinz, Chamber of Commerce, Hotel Green, Pasadena. Boxes are $3 and general admission is $2. One of the largest crowds that has ever been seen in the of Rosea Stadium, is being planned for on Thanksgiving Day.

Lincoln Gets Las Gridiron Bout of Year

Yesterday afternoon at Lincoln High, the Emancipator neatly, but firmly trimmed the Hollywood lightweight team. The play yas very close throughout the game. In the first quarter both teams played good football with neither one able to get the ball away from the center of the field. The second quarter the Lincoln bunch got together and put over a surprise on the Movies. Ridgeway hooked a long pass out of nowhere and ran it 20 yards for the first score. The goal was converted giving Lincoln 7 to Hollywood's 0.

The second half started in a ball of fire, but the Lincoln team soon took the fight out of the opposition and put over another touchdown. Delvin of Lincoln ran the ball around end for 10 yards and put the ball across amid a flurry of heads and feet. The fourth quarter was played in the center of the field, both teams content to buck three downs and then kick. The score at the end of the game was Lincoln 14, Hollywood 0.

CASABA FIVES FIX SCHEDULE

Vice-Principals Meet at Poly and Make Sked

City League Quintets to Play Six Contests

Cage Game is Expected to Go Big This Year

Basketball, the heir apparent to the throne of King Football, will get in sports limelight in a few weeks and all of the local prep quintets have recently started practice in preparation for what should be a banner year among the casaba controllers.

Added impetus was given the cage sport yesterday when the vice-principals of all the City League schools met in conference at Polytechnic High and drew up the schedule for the coming hoop tossing season. After a three-hour confab, the high moguls of the City League finally decided upon a six-game schedule for all of the teams to take place in seven weeks. The league season opens January 12, and closes February 23.

Basketball has been getting more and more attention as a prep sport in recent years and is rapidly gaining supporters in the local high schools. This year the game promises to be put on in fine fashion as all of the schools have splendid places to stage their games. Every school in the league, with the exception of Long Beach, has a large sized gym, one that will seat a fair sized crowd, and should pack in crowds at the tilts. L. A. High and Poly are the latest institutions to get new gyms. The Long Beach quintet rents the big pavilion on the pier for its games.

Following is the result of the labors of the City League vice-principals:

Jan. 12—L. A. High at Lincoln, Poly at Jefferson, Manual at Franklin, Pasadena at Hollywood, Long Beach, bye. Jan. 19—Poly at Manual; Jefferson at Hollywood, Long Beach at Pasadena, Lincoln at Franklin; L. A. High, bye. Jan. 26—Pasadena at L. A. High, Franklin at Poly, Jefferson at Manual, Hollywood at Long Beach, Lincoln, bye. Feb. 2—L. A. High at Poly, Manual at Hollywood, Pasadena at Lincoln, Franklin at Long Beach, Jefferson, bye. Feb. 9—L. A. High at Long Beach, Hollywood at Poly, Manual at Pasadena, Lincoln at Jefferson, Franklin, bye. Feb. 16—Franklin at L. A. High, Poly at Pasadena, Lincoln at Manual, Long Beach at Jefferson, Hollywood, bye. Feb. 23—Hollywood at L. A. High, Long Beach at Lincoln, Jefferson at Franklin, Pasadena, Poly and Manual, byes.

"Wolverton will take charge with a free rein, having my fullest confidence," the telegram said.

Multnomah Club Out to Avenge Defeat Suffered at Pasadena

FACE OLYMPIC ELEVEN AGAIN

Return Game at Portland on Thanksgiving Day

Washington and Oregon Will also Tangle Horns

Farmers and Staters Mix Up Next Saturday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 22. — The Multnomah club men are determined to avenge the Pasadena defeat when they meet Olympic Club in a return game here on Thanksgiving Day. They were surprised at the strength of the San Franciscans, but they believe that they can turn the tables on their home grounds with the added practice they will have.

Ted Faulk is devoting his energies to improving Multnomah's team work. He believes that he has a galaxy of stars that are even up in ability to the Olympics, but that the latter had a better-working team at Pasadena, he admits. Bill Steers, who was not in his usual top form for the game, gives the following summary of the southern club:

"The Olympics," said Bill, "have an evenly balanced, thoroughly-coached team, every member of which is in the best of condition. Any man on the eleven could play on any college team in the country.

"Patrick, ex-Stanford star, bears the brunt of defense for his team. 'Rabit' Bradshaw would be a star on any all-American eleven ever picked out. He is as fast as any man in the game today and the shiftiest runner that ever dodged through a broken field or ran around opposing ends."

Except for the game between the Oregon Aggies and Washington State College in Portland, next Saturday, will be a quiet day in Pacific Northwest college football. Idaho continues on her busy way by meeting Gonzaga at Spokane but there is only local interest in that game. For that matter nothing much hangs on the Cougar-Aggies game for both teams have been pretty badly manhandled thus far and the victor will gain little more than the consolation prize of the conference.

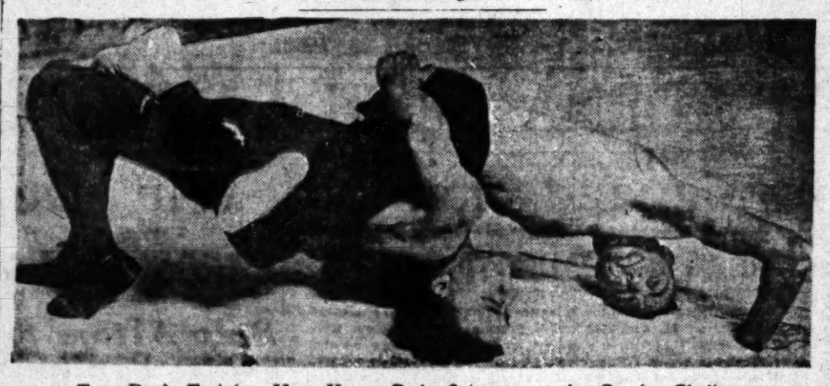
Washington and Oregon will both be resting for their Thanksgiving struggle at Seattle. That is the big game now, so far as the Northwest is concerned. Despite Washington's severe beating by California, Oregon is by no means confident of victory, especially since Bagshaw and his crew trounced Stanford. Oregon will put up a great fight for this game alone stands between her and an unbroken string of victories, not taking into account her defeat by Multnomah Club. The Oregonians realize that whichever teams loses will be counted out so far as the Pasadena game goes, and that the team that wins will have a chance with the University of Southern California at that honor, providing that the Bears stay out of it. The northwestern championship goes with the victory.

PLAN GUN CLUB FOR LOCAL MEN

Plans for one of the best gun clubs in the State have just been completed by more than a score of local sportsmen, and the plans have gone forward to a point where the land for the club has been purchased. According to Hal Roach, who has been the moving spirit in the great plot, 640 acres adjoining the property of the exclusive Widgeon Gun Club near Bakersfield has been purchased and the erection of a very elaborate clubhouse will begin in the near future as all of the deeds had been recorded and everything was ready for the first shoot.

MILLER AND RAY MEET IN MAT BOUT

Middleweight Grapplers on Edge for Wrestling Feature at Los Angeles Athletic Club Tonight



Tom Ray's Training Mate Has a Body Scissors on the Omaha Gladiator

The intrinsic value of an abundance of confidence will be thoroughly dissected and measured this evening at the Los Angeles Athletic Club when Tom Ray, from Omaha, Neb., and Walter Miller meet. Ray is confident that he is Miller's master and keeper and he has come here at his own expense to meet the local grappler on a winner-take-all basis. But Miller is still to be heard from on the question and he contends his answer will be issued in scissors and arm holds tonight in the L.A.A.C. squared ring.

The Omaha grappling star firmly believes that there is no middleweight in the business who can beat him, and he gives as one of his reasons the fact that he has gone out of his weight division several times to take on championship calibered mat men, such as Earl Caddock, Joe Stecher, John Pesek and others.

Having been tutored for eight years by the one and only Farmer Burns, Ray is one of the strongest middleweights Miller has ever tackled. He has adopted many of Burns's famous holds and tricks, and he can be relied upon to make Miller give everything he possesses in order to win.

Miller and Ray brought their training to a close yesterday after both went through two stiff workouts. They are ready for the gong, and a hot encounter is looked for when these mat warriors start mixing things.

The contestants will step on the scales this afternoon. They have agreed to make 158 pounds. The bout will be two out of three falls, with a two-hour time limit. Eddie O'Connell has been selected to referee. The main bout will start at 9 o'clock.

Two attractive preliminaries, comprising four of the best amateurs in America, will be staged. Russell Vis, national amateur welterweight champion, will clash with Maurice McGill, while Alan Ferguson and Heinie Schack, light heavyweights, will meet.

IS NOT AFTER LOSER'S SHARE

Willard Avers Such Talk is All the Bunk

Jess Hot on the Trail of Jack for Match

To Challenge Champ When Dempsey Gets Here

"There is a movement on foot by some people to discredit the possibilities of Jess Willard to get in shape to meet Jack Dempsey. Well this is the plan of Jack Kearns to kill off Willard so that his champion will not have to meet Jess," said Gene Doyle yesterday.

"Willard boxed at a benefit just to help an organization raise funds for Christmas charity," Doyle continued. "He didn't make any pretentions about staging a comeback and went to box just so that the use of his name might draw some money. He was criticised because he didn't knock his opponents for a row of lamp posts. The ones who criticised Jess would have panned him no matter what he did. Jess knew he would be panned by his enemies but he thought that he could stand the panning if the money could be raised.

JESS WILLING

"Jess is willing to talk terms with Kearns. All this propaganda about Willard being after the loser's end is all the bunk. If he wanted the loser's end he would have taken the bout that was offered him for last month. That should kill all that kind of talk.

"Kearns will be here with Dempsey next month and his first alibi will be that the public doesn't want the match. He has been enlisting the support of his friends to try and create that impression. First they want Willard to go out and beat a lot of setups. Willard wants Dempsey and he will give him plenty of work. Leave the setups for Dempsey.

IS GOOD ENOUGH

"If Willard was good enough to meet Jack last October he surely is good enough to meet him next spring. Just why did Jack Kearns consent to a match to be staged in October and now he is passing up Willard? If Kearns thought for a minute that Willard was a setup he would be signing articles tomorrow. Kearns is very tricky but he is going to be presented with a challenge when he gets to this city the first part of December.

"There are certain writers who are very friendly to Dempsey and Kearns. They are trying to kill off any chances of Willard meeting Dempsey, but Kearns will have to answer a few questions when he hits town. Willard may be unpopular with Dempsey's friends but one thing is sure, and that is—Willard just wants one more bout with Dempsey to prove to the world that he wasn't right when he lost his title."

TRY A HEALTH COCKTAIL

Here's Morning Habit to Acquire That Will Put New Life in All Who Line Up at the "Bar"

ARTICLE V

BY BARCLAY L. SEVERNS

In many States today there are many arguments pro and con as to the right of national prohibition. Men from every walk of life are fighting hard, on the one hand for the modification of the law, or to return to the old days of cocktails, highballs, beers and wine. Others are fighting just as hard to keep the country dry.

Men are spending hours studying the legal side of this great question. A great many feel that their personal liberty has been interfered with. That same man if approached on the subject of his health would tell you without a moment's hesitation that he was too busy to think about it; but will spend an hour or more explaining why making the country dry is absolutely wrong.

I am not writing this article as an argument for or against prohibition; I am merely using the subject to bring out a thought that may start you thinking about your health; to induce you to spend a little time each day in the care of your body; if I can do that my time will be well spent.

STUDY CONDITIONS

The point I wish to emphasize is: If people would spend one-tenth the time studying the good and bad points of their physical condition, they would derive more real benefits and be in better condition mentally to settle these great subjects as they come before us.

Watch a healthy horse when let out in the paddock; he takes a little gallop, then stops with legs spread wide apart, lifts his head and neck until there is no bend or stricture of the breathing canals, and gives a loud, whistling snort. The snort empties his lungs; you can see his big chest contract with the effort. He does not take a deep breath after that, but continues to blow every particle of stable air out of his lungs; it is only after this is accomplished he commences slowly to take in air until his chest veins and arteries swell with the effort. His muscles become rigid, and, with a final roaring snort, the exercise is over and he starts grazing.

That is the method for you to take your morning cocktail and start grazing.

Most people are stable animals, who jump from their stalls and put on tight neckwear or confining waistbands before they have had a good snort of fresh air and a run around the paddock.

TO THE SCRAP HEAP

If a blacksmith should push down the bellows only two-thirds of their depth, that is, if he failed to use one-third of the air space, the coals would fail to give him all their latent energy. He would have to use more effort himself and there would be many partly burned coals and clogging ashes left over. Many people go to the scrap heap because they do not know how to use the human bellows—the lungs—or get energy out of every ounce of fuel, keep their veins and arteries clean and their kidneys and liver from being poisoned by unconsumed material.

About one-third of the lung capacity is unused by the average person. The third is the lower portion of the lungs, where you get that "stitch" in the side when you attempt to run any distance. It is good to exercise to the point of getting that "stitch," which means merely that you have come suddenly upon a large area of unused lung cells which you did not know you possessed; those unused cells are slightly stuck together and collapsed upon themselves, and the sharp pain—the "stitch"—is due to the air forcing them apart when you keep going, and the distress is over when you get your second wind and are using all your bellow's capacity.

UNBURNT FUEL

People who eat rich, nitrogeneous food, use a belt or, in case of women who lace tight and never more than half breathe, leave a lot of unburnt fuel in their system. When attacked by indigestion, and later on finds he or she has inelastic arteries—hardening of the arteries—they blame the food and start dieting—the very worst thing they could do.

People need freedom to breathe way down to the bottom of their abdomen, to allow oxygen to set fire to the waste material and release energy for abdominal muscles to work. Under these natural conditions they should eat anything within reason and preserve their figure. Full, deep laughter is the best possible exercise for the lungs. The human being without a sense of humor never exercises his lungs to the full.

GREAT GAME ON TAP FOR CITRUS BELT

Redlands Will Play Same Men Against Pomona as Against San Bernardino

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

REDLANDS, Nov. 22. — Coach Malcolm Smith of Redlands High School will start the same team against Pomona for the Citrus Belt championship Friday at Ontario as was used in the game against San Bernardino. This will be an entirely different combination from that which played Pomona to a tie game early in the season.

In that game Mosso was playing quarter and running the team. Now he is playing at one end with Cotter at the other end. Maccubbin has been taken back from end and is playing fullback with Sturtevant playing at quarter. Brock and Frossell are playing the halves.

Coach Smith believes this is a better scoring combination than he was using early in the year. Smith says that his men will have to play better ball than they have at any time this year if they put a win over on Pomona.

POMONA GOLFERS LOSE TO RIVERSIDE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 22.—Pomona's Rotary Club golf team lost to Riverside's Rotary team at the golf links here this afternoon. After the handicap, Pomona's score was 430 and Riverside's 458. Pomona's team will meet the Riverside team at Riverside for a return game in about two weeks. The members of the local golf team that played were R. E. Gray, Bert Harvey, Dr. F. C. Swearingen, Morris Wilson, Fred Palmer and B. W. Gibson.

MERCURIES IN FEATURE OF SOCCER

Strong Club Eleven Takes on Sons of St. George Next Sunday

The Sons of St. George soccer team that came within an ace of defeating the strong L. A. Scots eleven last week will meet the Athletic Club in the feature game at Washington Park next Sunday, and judging by the interest that has been aroused in the contest, an exceptionally large crowd should be on hand to watch the teams in action. Both clubs have a bunch of stars on their rosters, and undoubtedly the struggle for the points will be doubly contested.

Odds will be in favor of the Athletic Club, on the basis of their performances to date. Their followers point with pride to the exceptionally strong vanguard, with sharpshooters of the opportunist type in Dr. Britz, J. Doyle and Lazio, ever brilliant in approach raids and terrors for goalies in the goal area.

But what of the Sons? How long are their ill fortunes going to trail them? They have come to be known as the unlucky Sons. Time and again they have outplayed opponents only to go under with victory almost in their grasp. But in adversity they are ever a fighting bunch, and promise to give the Mercury foot the battle of their lives.

Preceding this game the league-leading Samsons will tangle with the Rangers. The latter are showing to improved form and promise to signalize their first game at Washington Park by crowding the leaders to the limit.

New "Pro" at Angeles Vista Golf Course

Tom Waite, well-known professional golfer of England, and a former pupil of Johnny Taylor, English champ, has been engaged to assist Tom Brooks as the "pro" of the Angeles Vista Golf Course, it was announced yesterday by the management of the club.

Brooks has had so much work to do lately that he found it necessary to engage an assistant if he wished to give all of his students the attention which they required, and at the same time do the work which a good "pro" is supposed to do for the course. A large amount of this work has been caused by the first annual fall handicap tournament, which is now being staged over the course. So much interest has been shown in the affair that more than 450 persons played over the course last Sunday, and as many more witnessed the second round of play in the tourney.

The drawings for this week's play follow:

First flight: Davis vs. Conrad; McNally vs. Zeiger.

Second flight: Richman vs. Gutchin; Howell vs. Carlson.

Third flight: L. A. Mann vs. Dr. Hanna; Stearns vs. V. G. Pristag.

Fourth flight: Holmes vs. Barnett; Rothwell vs. Knox, Jr.

Fifth flight: Walker vs. Lichten; G. Dubert vs. McKesson.

Hoffman, Metro; Jess Robbins, Independent Producer; Nat Deveridge, president of Fine Arts; Lou Seiler and Sol Wurtzel of Fox; Larry Semon of Vitagraph and Harry Beaumont of Metro are among the celebrities who have signed up for the coming handicap.

Griffin Gets on Edge for Macey Battle

"Dandy Dick" Griffin is not taking any chances when he hooks up with Eddie Macey in the main event at the American Legion Hollywood arena tomorrow night. The Fort Worth banty is putting on a vigorous training campaign for the youngster who held him to a draw in their recent engagement at Willard's benefit. Indeed, so close was the draw that many of the fans expressed the opinion that Macey had won for himself the honors. Griffin is the foremost candidate for the Georgie Marks's crown and is anxious to eliminate Macey from the host of contenders, hence his desire to make it a fight to a finish tomorrow night.

Bud Soules and Spec Woods are matched in the semi-wind-up. This is another pair who waged a vicious fight at the benefit. Their's was a real draw, but both claim that he will win a clean-cut victory in the coming set-to.

Willie Hunefeld, the veteran ringman, will square off with Joe Dunn, one of the most promising youngsters in the business, in the special event. The other bouts on the card, arranged by Matchmaker Frank Crowley, follow: Jimmy Dunning vs. Johnny Williams, Gene Murphy vs. Mack Spaw, Willie O'Brien vs. Louie Fontana and Johnny La Rose vs. Bud Harold.

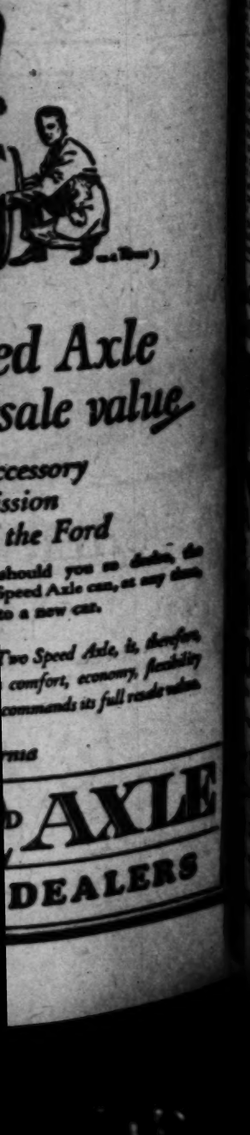
...BER 23, 1922.—[PART ...



...erica Prepares for Olympiad

An omelet, emblematic of a medal, will be hung on the chef who can unscramble the eastern football situation.

Ratings back there will have to be as finely drawn as those in the tennis world. This is one place where figures fail. Placing of the teams will be necessarily to a certain extent a matter of personal opinion.

Seldom has there been a clearly recognized football champion of the country. This year the situation is less clearly defined, or rather, is hopelessly muddled. Failure to kick a single goal has spanned the distance between victory and defeat and a tied score. Such a victory or defeat stands for little or less.

Pennsylvania decisively defeated Navy, which defeated Penn State. Pennsylvania therefore, by every process of mathematics, was figured as three touchdowns better than the Nittany Lions. Yet Pennsylvania was able to defeat Penn State by only one point.

Washington and Jefferson, ranking high, beat Lafayette, prior to this game rated as one of the best in the country. Two weeks later, Pittsburg decisively defeated Washington and Jefferson. Yet Pitt's early showing was such as to set adrift rumors that Glenn Warner would be relieved of his coaching duties before the end of the season.

Plainly, what a team displays in October or early November is no criterion of what it may uncork on New Year's. Strikes one that football elevens are becoming more and more like baseball teams. That is, they are late in striking their stride. Coaches seem less inclined to crowd their elevens.

Decidedly different is the situation on the Pacific Coast. There are fewer teams, and no overlapping with other sections. Here the situation is clear as a crystal.

California again dominates the western coast, with the University of Southern California plainly etched as the second best. Aside from their annual battle, in which the Bears proved one touchdown, a drop kick and a safety better than the Trojans, their further records confirm this rating. Had not Henderson lost Boyle in the early fall, and Baker not been incapacitated by an injury early in the California game, it probably would have been about a toss-up between the two teams.

But these casualties were decreed by the fates of football, and the only moral pointed is that of the value of reserves practically on a par with your best first line men.

California is the champion. U.S.C.'s claim, or rather the claim of its supporters, to second place honors, appears fully as clear. Disinterested football critics up and down the coast admit this freely.

California, north and south, has produced two great football machines, either worthy to represent the West. The Bears have not lost a game in three years. The Trojans in four years have played twenty-eight games and have lost only three—all at the hands of California.

During this long period California has ranked first with U.S.C. second, and the same situation still prevails. No need to put this under the glass. It sticks out in front of the naked eye.

If we felt that the Northwest had an eleven superior to California or U.S.C. we would urge its selection to the exclusion of both these as a matter of fair play and for the good of football. There is a vast amount of difference between sectional pride and sectional prejudice. A certain amount of the former seems necessary to progress.

Should prejudice prevail it can only be felt that colleges are producing future citizens with a gimlet hole perspective.

In past years the Northwest has represented the Coast in a way to perpetuate Pacific Coast football prestige. One cannot be unmindful of Washington State, which defeated Brown; Oregon, conqueror of Pennsylvania, and again Oregon, which bowed to mighty Harvard by a single point. Great elevens all. More such elevens may be in the making up there, and when they "arrive" the West will again back them solidly against anything the East has to offer.

Unfortunately, California elected not to play, and the choice should fall to that team admitted by all impartial critics to be the second best.

DIVING CUP GRABBED BY VI HARTMAN

Snub Pollard Trophy is Won by Big Edge; Holmes Bowers Wins Fast Sprint

Viola Hartman of the L.A.A.C. splashed the spectators for a three-mile swim last night, when she copped the Snub Pollard diving trophy by a margin of twelve points over her nearest competitor, Janet Ford of the Ambassador Swimming Club, in the big swim fest at the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

Out of a possible 120 points Vi managed to garner a total of 118 while Janet could only seine a mean 106. Clarita Hunsberger, the young marvel of the L.A.A.C., gave the assembled populace a thrill by grabbing 93 points.

Miss Hartman's diving was as nearly perfect as anyone could imagine. Two of her half-twist jackknife dives were timed perfectly, and her pose and poise were of the title winning type.

Holmes Bowers, youthful swimmer for the club, and incidentally the student-body president of the Los Angeles High School, walked off with the 100-yard men's handicap race in the closest swim that has been seen in the marble pool of Fred Cady's in a long time. Less than three-fifths of a second elapsed between the finish of Bowers, Hugh Walters and Bernard Sally, the men who came in second and third. Bowers's consistent swimming and his powerful sprinting at the finish did the work, his time being 1m. 2 1-5s.

Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaiian darkish, gave a pair of exhibitions which he won, just to make it appropriate. A seventy-five-yard dash against an old-timer like Stanley Moss was won by a scant two feet in 25m. 2-5s. In the 100-yard underwater swim his highness defeated Squirrel DeArcy by a meager six inches and Kenneth Carraher by less than that.

The results of all the events follow:

220-yard swim for men. Won by Wallace O'Connor, Venice; Edward Fitel, L.A.A.C., second; Colin Smith, L.A.A.C., third. Time: 3m. 33s.

Girls' diving: Viola Hartman, L.A.A.C., first; Janet Ford, Ambassador Swimming Club, second; Clarita Hunsberger, L.A.A.C., third.

50-yard swim for girls: Thelma Winn, Venice, first; Helen Vernon, L.A.A.C., second; Thelma Hall, L.A.A.C., third. Time: 36 2-5s.

BIG TURKEY SHOOT

half of the game, and very probably his defensive game will not hold up that long. Andy Kerr has been trying a combination with Faville moved in to center, and with Cravens and Ludeke or Houck as guards, which will probably be used against Smith's players.

LOOKS A MILLION

Art Wilcox and his running mate Rae Doughty are in better shape than they have been for some time. Wilcox was really not fit to play against the University of Washington, but there was no one to fill his place. Rae Doughty, dislocated shoulder and all, went in during the last quarter and looked a million. He actually ran 60 yards through a broken field to a touchdown that was not allowed because he touched the white mark of the sideline at the end of 14 yards.

Coach (Little) Andy Kerr is determined to show something against the Bears. He is much encouraged by the showing which the University of Southern California was able to make, and he hopes for as much from his own men.

COFFROTH STANDS PAT

Bassity said that the taking over of the Tijuana race track would have no effect on the race meet which is scheduled to begin at the border course Thanksgiving Day, and declared he and his associates would be in actual possession of the property within three days.

James W. Coffroth, president of the Lower California Club, however, tonight issued a formal statement to the press in which he declared:

"As is customary before our annual opening there are rumors that some one other than myself will open the Tijuana race track. It will be opened Thanksgiving Day and will be operated by myself and asociates and we will run 100 or more days."

The Great Prince Shan

by E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

In the year 1934 the powers of the world had agreed to abolish the old diplomatic program between nations, including the use of secret service systems and espionage to which they attribute the misunderstandings instrumental in bringing about the great war. In place of ambassador-representatives, they sought to maintain friendly relationships and promote international trade by a single stroke by supplying each other with commercial consuls. Lord Dorminster, retired British diplomat, believed this plan dangerous and failing to convince his government organizes a secret service of his own. His stepdaughter, Lady Maggie Trent, brings a code message from his agents in Germany, which hints at the future destruction of the British Empire. While decoding the message, Lord Dorminster is mysteriously murdered and the dispatch is stolen. Nigel Kingsley, his nephew and heir, continues the work of his deceased uncle. So far as decoded the dispatch revealed Oscar Immelan as Germany's agent in the conspiracy and told of the coming of Prince Shan, ruler of China, to England. Kingsley meets Naida Karetsky, beautiful confidante of Russia's president, a friend of Oscar Immelan's. He discusses with Naida, her mission in England and when she exhibits a friendly spirit toward his country, falls in love with the girl. Prince Shan arrives in London and of the many people he meets, is attracted most to Lady Maggie and proceeds to tell her so. At a charity ball one evening, La Belle Nita, a dancer, whose charms had appealed to the Prince in times past, is moved through jealousy to inform Immelan that their cause will be betrayed to Lady Maggie by Prince Shan that night. At the same time she sends Lady Maggie to the Prince's apartment, where, she tells her, she can secure without detection, plans against England. As a result, a member of the Prince's party who is substituting for him at the ball, is shot and killed by Immelan's agent and Lady Maggie fails to secure the plans when she is confronted by the Prince in his apartment. The following day Kingsley has news concerning his agent, Jesson.

Nigel was just arriving at Dorminster House when Maggie returned from a canter. He entered the house with her.

"There is something here I should like to show you, Maggie," he said, as he drew a dispatch from his pocket. "It was sent round to me half an hour ago by Chalmers, from the American Embassy."

"It's about Mr. Jesson!" Maggie exclaimed, holding out her hand for it.

Nigel nodded.

"There's a note inside, and an enclosure," he said. "You had better read both."

Maggie opened out the former:

My Dear Kingsley:

I am afraid there is rather bad news about Jesson. One of our regular line of airships picked up a wireless which must have come from somewhere in the south of China. Washington got hold of it, however, and cabled it to us last night. I enclose a copy, decoded.

Sincerely yours,
JERE CHALMERS.

The copy was brief enough. Maggie felt her heart sink as she glanced through the few lines:

Report dispatched London. Fear escape impossible. Good-by.
JESSON.

"Horrible!" Maggie exclaimed, with a shiver. "I thought he was in Russia."

"So did we all," Nigel replied. "He must have come to the conclusion that the key to the riddle he was trying to solve was in China, and gone on there. Look here, Maggie," he continued, after a moment's hesitation, "do you think anything could be done for Jesson with Prince Shan?"

"Prince Shan has sent word he is calling here this afternoon," Maggie boldly announced. "I hope you don't mind."

"What are you going to say to him?" Nigel asked bluntly.

There was a short, tense silence.

"I do not know," she said at last. "For one thing, I do not know what he wants."

"What he wants seems perfectly plain to me," Nigel replied gravely. "He wants you."

There was a ring at the front door bell. Maggie turned away to the staircase with a little sigh of relief.

"Naida!" she exclaimed. "You entertain her for a moment, Nigel. I'll change into something quickly."

Naida came down the hall, cool and exquisitely gowned in a creation of shimmering white. The sense of her near presence affected Nigel as nothing of the sort had ever done before.

"Do you believe," he asked after a more general talk, "that the attempt on Prince Shan's life last night was made by Immelan?"

"I should think it most likely," she decided. "Prince Shan never changes his mind, and I believe that he has decided against Immelan's schemes. Immelan's only chance would be in Prince Shan's successor."

"Why is China so necessary?" Nigel asked.

She turned and smiled at her companion.

"Alas!" she sighed, "we have reached an impasse. The great English diplomat asks too many questions of the simple Russian girl."

"It is unfortunate," he replied, in the same vein, "because I feel like asking more."

"As, for example?"

"Whether you would be content to live for the rest of your life in any other country except Russia."

"A woman is content to live anywhere, under certain circumstances," she murmured.

The telephone bell rang. Nigel took down the receiver.

"I am David Franklin, private secretary to Mr. Mervin Brown," a voice said. "Mr. Brown would be exceedingly obliged if you would come around to Downing street to see him at once."

"I will be there in ten minutes," Nigel promised.

"I think," Nigel said as he apologized for running away, "that the trouble cloud is about to burst."

Mr. Mervin Brown on this occasion did not beat about the bush. His old air of confident, almost smug self-satisfaction, had vanished.

"The immediate reason for my sending for you," he explained, "is this. The American Legation has just sent me a copy of a wireless dispatch just received from China. The sender of it appears to have been sent to China by you."

"Jesson!" Nigel exclaimed. "I have heard of this already, sir, from a friend in the American Embassy."

"The dispatch," Mr. Brown went on, "gives specific details as to definite military preparations on the part of China and Russia, associated, presumably, with a third power whose name you will forgive my not mentioning. The headquarters of the whole thing seems to be in Southern China."

"You sent for me, I presume, to ask for my advice," Nigel said. "At any rate, let me offer it. I have reason to believe that the negotiations between Prince Shan and Oscar Immelan have not been entirely successful. Send for Prince Chan and question him in a friendly fashion."

"Will you be my ambassador?" the Prime Minister asked.

Nigel hesitated for a moment.

"If you wish it," he promised and lingered for a moment over his farewell.

"If I might venture upon a suggestion, sir," he said, "do not forget that Prince Shan is to all intent the autocrat of Asia. I would treat him as a valued confrere and equal."

The Prince Minister smiled.

"I am only the servant of a great Power," he said. "Prince Shan is a great Power in himself."

"And believe me," Nigel concluded, "the greatest autocrat that ever breathed. If, when you exchange farewells with him, he says—'There will be no war'—we are saved, at any rate for the moment."

Maggie, very cool and neat, felt, notwithstanding her apparent composure, a strange disturbance of outlook and senses as Prince Shan was ushered into her flower-bedecked little sitting-room that afternoon.

"It makes me very happy that you receive me like this," he told her simply. "It makes it so much easier for me to say the things that are in my heart. I wish to bring myself entirely into accord, for these few minutes, with your western methods and customs. I address you, therefore, Lady Maggie, with formal words, while I keep back in my heart much that is struggling to express itself. I have come to ask you to do me the great honor of becoming my wife."

Maggie sat for a moment speechless.

"Your wife!" she repeated then, tremulously.

"That thought is new to you, perhaps," he went on, with gentle tolerance. "There is no princess of my own country whom I could meet on equal terms."

"But I am not a princess," Maggie murmured.

"You are the princess of my soul," he answered, lowering his eyes for a moment almost reverently.

"But I am an Englishwoman," Maggie said, "and I love my country. You know what that means."

"I know very well," he admitted. "I had not meant to speak of those things until later, but, for your country's sake, what greater alliance could you seek today than to become the wife of him who is destined to be the ruler of Asia?"

MARKS IS AWARDED DECISION

Kid Chili Loses to Benny in Feature Event at Newsies Boxing Show

BY ED O'MALLEY

The newsies gave a mountain of a show at their big gymnasium last night before a record attendance. The feature event, an assault-at-arms between Benny Marks and Kid Chili went to Marks under a peculiar set of circumstances. Chili, a dangerous portsider was too rangy, quick and aggressive for Benny in the first two rounds during which time the Kid pumped a few hard lefts into the acts and stomach.

Marks woke up in the third and final round and waded right into his man, but old Chili stood him off cleverly. This session was about an upsticks affair. It looked as if Chili had won but the judges decided a draw, under which decision the lads were to fisticuff an extra round. To the surprise of all present Chili suddenly discovered a bunch of temperament that would have made a prima donna turn green with envy had she been present.

GETS FROZEN FOOT

For no reason, whatever, he flashed a frozen foot and absolutely refused to resume hostilities, even going to the extent of jumping out of the ring when the gong sounded for the fourth session. Referee Roy Page was perforce compelled to raise Marks's hand in token of victory. Then Chili suddenly changed his mind and rushed back into the ring like an enraged bull breathing defiance to Marks, but as the spoken word can never be recalled, Referee Page yodeled, "Nothing doin.'"

In the semi-wind-up Jack Westerly, a Chicago newsboy, put up a gripping contest with Kid Cooper. The bout was featured by a number of knock downs with honors about even. The lads fought so well that they were rematched for the semi-wind-up of next Wednesday's show.

Referee Roy Page set a precedent in fistic annals that will chatter around his dear old globe in a very short time. He judged the bout as the third man in the ring pulling away lustily on an El Ropo with an Owl wrapper and this, mind you, with the flashy label clinging close to his lips. The lads were wreathed in eddies of smoke before the final round ended.

Pete Inman, time keeper, swung a turnip of an 1880 vintage, but the darned thing kept good time and he was never the fractional part of a second out of the way.

The other bouts resulted as follows: Pete Toney, beat Jimmy Miles; Battle Royal a draw between Joe Dunn and Eddie Twist, Battling Julius beat Kid Soules; Kid Twist defeated Jack Insten and Joe Mancillas boxed Mickey Dempsey to a draw. Artie Reynolds and Jimmy Austin acted as the other referees.

SOUTHERN TEAMS IN PLAY-OFF

Grid Elevens to Tangle in Three Title Contests Next Saturday

Harry Moore, vice-principal of Long Beach High and official handler of the Southern California football championship play-off situation, claims he is in an awful fix. Moore says that all of the football leagues were started early this year so as to get the play-off over early, but several of the teams gummed the works by tying for the league titles. Now it's up to the tied elevens to play-off the ties for the championships.

Last Saturday the San Diego grid squad won the first play-off game for the "South of the Tehachapi" title by trimming the Santa Barbara eleven, 33 to 0. Two games are carded for this Saturday. San Diego goes into action against the Sweetwater Union High gridders at San Diego and Bishop and San Fernando hook up on the latter squad's gridiron.

Aside from the two first squad play-off games, a tilt in the play-off for 130-pound grid honors has also been arranged. In this affair the Glendale and San Fernando midgets do their stuff. Both of these miniature elevens play fast, snappy football, and should put up a good battle.

The Long Beach 110-pounders are after the Southern California 110-pound title, but have nobody to clash with. The Jackrabbit flyweights have won seven games to date and challenge any 110-pound squad in the South. Franklin High's lightweights average about 110 pounds and ought to accept the Beach squad's defy.

Walter Mails to Twirl for Local Squad

Walter Maila, Cleveland twirler and hero of the 1920 world's series, has been signed by Manager Frank Armstrong to pitch for the Fahy-Fords against the Los Angeles White Sox this coming Sunday. The Fahy-Fords will meet the local colored team also on Saturday. Both games will be played on a 60-40 basis. "Toots" Frank or Elmer Jacobs will twirl the Saturday struggle. "Ping" Bodie, slugging Vernon outfielder, will play for the Fahy squad.

The White Sox have been strengthened by the addition of Mackey and Blackmann, two heavy-hitting, all-around players. The other winter circuit games will be Joe Pirrone's All-Stars against the undefeated Balboa Park Club at San Diego and the Cleary Athletic Club-Standard-Murphy benefit clash at La Habra.

The Greater Southern California Baseball Association will hold its regular meeting at Spaldings Sporting Goods store tonight at 8:00. Another hot meeting is expected to result as several entanglements are slated to come up for action.

What—Would You Do Without It?

Think for a moment how you have learned to depend upon Southern Pacific service.

—how you expect to reach your destination "on the dot"—and do so in a remarkably high percentage of cases.

—how you take for granted the fact that Southern Pacific trains will carry you dependably regardless of rain, sleet, fog or other unfavorable weather conditions.

—how you get trains to take you where you want to go when you want to go.

There you have a picture of some of the fundamentals of Southern Pacific service, that you take for granted.

Courtesy—Efficiency

And in addition to providing dependable transportation, the Southern Pacific provides comfortable transportation.

Many trains have club, observation and dining cars.

Compartments and drawing rooms furnish the privacy which thousands of busy men use for work during trips.

Southern Pacific men are "service men." Their first thought is courteous, willing, efficient service.

This is your service, made to meet your requirements. Enjoy its comforts. Profit by its dependability.

Justice is a costly luxury if you go to law for it.

It is highly advisable to stick to the truth Nature intended you for.

Ambition is wasted if it is directed towards that is not useful.

Popularity is easier for a beautiful woman than for one who is virtuous.

One way or another, the world seems to get only a very low percentage of honesty.

Much unnecessary trouble could be avoided if we stopped interfering with God's way of doing things.

REVEL HEARING IS POSTPONED

Navy Officers and Asserted Host Forfeit Bail

Three Women Also Absent from Police Court

Man, Said to be Sunday, Jr., Represented

Four Navy officers, three young women and a fifth man, who gave his name as G. N. Stevens, but who neighbors and police officials declare is Billy Sunday, Jr., failed to appear in Police Court yesterday to answer charges that they had staged a wild booze party at the Sunday home, 1538½ North Serrano street, on the night of October 29.

Judge Frederickson declared the defendants' bail forfeited, but allowed them twenty days in which to appear for trial and to explain why bail should not be permanently forfeited.

Commander I. T. Hagner, Lieut. R. R. Ogg, Ensigns E. E. Meredith and S. S. Curtis, all of the U.S.S. Idaho, the officers arrested at the time the police swooped down upon the Sunday home, are at sea, Judge Frederickson declared he had been told.

FOUR AT SEA

They appeared before him some days ago, he explained, and stated that they had been ordered to sail.

Attorney Arthur E. T. Chapman, who appeared for the defendant called G. N. Stevens, offered to enter a plea for his client and the four officers, but the court ruled against him. Stevens is in New York, according to Attorney Chapman, who intimated that he had been retained by the young man's family to defend him in the Police Court action. The three young women who gave their names to the raiding officers as Jane Doe, Jane Stevens and Marie Smith, are unknown to Attorney Chapman, according to his statements.

SUNDAYS AWAY

Mr. and Mrs. Sunday have not been seen in Hollywood since the day after the police interrupted what neighbors had asserted was a too hilarious party at the Sunday home. For five nights residents of the same bungalow court and one near by told the police that the Sundays had entertained their friends loudly and lavishly until the early morning hours.

The sixth night was very quiet, and a handsome young woman, who said her name was Miss Wood, declared that the Sundays had left the city after asking her to pack their trunks.

MOTORIST IN CRASH JAILED

Charged with failing to render aid after an automobile accident, a felony, Clarence Sandall, aged 19 years, of 1307 Toberman street, was locked up at the Central Police Station last night. Sandall, it is asserted by Detective Sergts. Barr and Oker, collided Tuesday night with a machine driven by E. K. Norton of 1566 West Twenty-ninth street. Mrs. K. M. McDonald, of 1119 South Figueroa street, was thrown from Norton's car and hurt. Sandall, the detectives declare, drove on and when they arrested him at his home he was repairing damage done to his own machine by the collision.

Grand Jury is Sifting "Straw Bond" Evidence

Investigation by the grand jury into the "straw-bond system" was continued yesterday until next Wednesday. The case under fire is that of J. R. Farrell, arrested three months ago on a charge of grand larceny.

When he appeared before Presiding Judge Willis his bail was set at $20,000, for which bonds were furnished by two men. Farrell is then said to have disappeared and the bonds later were asserted to be valueless.

The grand jury instructed Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello to investigate, and summoned the following witnesses yesterday: Guy Geddie, who was Farrell's attorney; Presiding Judge Willis and D. M. Danielson, stock and bond dealer. Warren L. Williams, who represented Farrell before Geddie took the case, was summoned, but did not testify.

A hearing in the same case on an order to show cause comes up in Judge Willis's court Friday.

CITY EDGES IN ON BEEF SHIPMENTS

Cattlemen Quick to See Los Angeles' Advantage Over Middle West

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Nov. 22.—Southern California is making a masterful bid for supremacy as the cattle market of the nation, according to William Truitt, prominent real estate and cattle man of Bozeman, Mont., who has just brought and sold a trainload of cattle here from that State.

He declared that the Southland has a new opportunity to enter into successful competition with the Middle West in obtaining the products of the Northwest cattle industry.

Mr. Truitt said he brought the trainload of cattle here after determining that he could obtain better prices and better freight rates than by shipping to the middle western markets.

Even now, he said, ranchers of Montana are turning away from the eastern markets and sending their stock to Southern California, and when the fact that better prices and freight rates can be obtained by shipping cattle to this section becomes generally known, the movement toward this section will increase.

Southern California, he said, looks mighty good after coming from Montana, where the thermometer registers 10 degrees below zero.

MEMORIAL FOR WRITER IS PLANNED

Service in Honor of Mrs. Stevenson to be Conducted in Canyon Theater

Members of the Pilgrimage Play cast, together with hundreds of friends of Mrs. Christine Wetherill Stevenson, founder of the Hollywood Pilgrimage Play, will gather on Sunday afternoon in the canyon theater in the foothills of Hollywood to pay tribute to the memory of the play's founder, who died in Media, Pa., early Tuesday morning after a short illness.

The death of Mrs. Stevenson, who was known throughout the United States as the founder of America's Oberammergau, caused sorrow to thousands of her friends in Hollywood, Los Angeles and the entire country.

Special music has been secured for the memorial services Sunday, and huge bouquets of garden flowers will be massed on the hillside as a tribute to Mrs. Stevenson's memory.

Senator Cole Loses in Suit Against City

Former U. S. Senator Cole, who at the age of 100 appeared in Judge York's court as principal witness in his suit against the City of Los Angeles for $23,000, failed to win judgment, for Judge York yesterday decided in favor of the city.

The suit was brought by Senator Cole for damage done to his land at Colegrove by flood waters during the storms of 1913 and 1916. Judge York held that while evidence of damage had been shown, it had occurred at a period of excessive storm water and that there was no proof that the amount of damage had been caused by the actual run-off of the water. He also stated that there was no proof of the amount of damage affected by city contracts for work on the land, some of which were performed by Senator Cole and others to which he was a party.

The trial, which lasted fourteen days, was featured by Senator Cole's appearance as a witness. Although past the century mark, he exhibited a remarkable memory, and was declared by Judge York to have been one of the best witnesses that have appeared before him.

HAY BROKER FACES FRAUD ACCUSATION

J. Miller, hay broker with offices in the Union League Building, who is held at the County Jail on charges of fraud, has been granted a writ of habeas corpus by the District Court of Appeals. The hearing is scheduled for Monday.

Mr. Miller was arrested on the 14th inst. on an information filed against him by A. W. and P. C. Traub, ranchers near Remington. They charged that Mr. Miller had failed to pay them for a large amount of hay shipped to him and was planning to leave the city without paying the sum due them.

TOO MUCH FOR "HIZZONER"

Even the Judge Refused to Rule on Question of Family Ties Brought Up in Court

Tangled family and marital relations, periscopes, towers, fences, back yards and barricades all figured more or less in the contempt of court suit tried yesterday before Judge Summerfield. The suit involved Grant Kresler and his wife.

Mrs. Kresler had her husband, who lives in Sawtelle, haled into court on charges that he had violated a court order by driving her from their home. This, she asserted, occurred after he had filed a divorce complaint against her, charging cruelty.

At the time the complaint was filed, she said, the court had issued an order permitting her to remain in the house pending trial of the divorce suit.

In the hearing before Judge Summerfield yesterday, Kresler declared that he had no objections to his wife occupying the home, but he did not want any of her relatives there.

HIS TERMS

"If she will leave her relatives behind, she may come to the house," he said, "they quarrel with me all the time."

Judge Summerfield suggested that Kresler leave the house when his wife's relatives came to visit her.

"They get there so fast that I don't have a chance to beat it," Kresler replied. "I can't see very far down the road because of a high fence we have around the house."

"Well, you might build a tower or put up a periscope and if you see your wife's relatives coming, you beat it to the woods," the court said.

"But, Judge, your suggestion is not practical," Kresler answered.

COURT'S ORDER

"Then the order is that your wife live in the house and when her relatives arrive, you barricade yourself in your room or go out in the back yard and play. You say her relatives quarreled with you. What were the quarrels about?"

"Well, it is this way," Kresler said. "My son by a former marriage married my wife's sister, and my relatives cannot get it into their heads how our relations stand. My son, who, before his marriage to my wife's sister, was my wife's stepson, now becomes her brother-in-law. My son is now my brother-in-law, and my son's wife, who was the sister of my wife, now must be her sister-in-law and—"

"Stop there," thundered Judge Summerfield. "This is no class in geneology."

And there is where it stopped. The son also lives in Sawtelle.

DECLARE WAR ON RUTS

Automobile Club to Aid Motorists in Making City Streets Safe for Drivers

Motorists who have complained to the Automobile Club of Southern California that their tires are being cut to shreds by half-filled excavations in the city streets, which are also breaking springs and headlights, are going to have a chance to help make the streets safe for machines.

The club is going to act as a clearinghouse for all reports on streets with holes in them.

Every motorist who finds a bad rut in the street can now call up the club and report the fact. All such reports will be tabulated during the day and at night they will be turned in to the replacement department of the City Engineer's office. The next morning the list of holes and ruts will be turned over to the workmen for repairs.

This is the best practical method at the present time for getting the streets in usable condition, say both city and club officials.

An average of 400 permits a day are being granted for excavations in Los Angeles, according to figures issued yesterday. At this time last year the excavation permits did not exceed 200 daily.

Every effort to improve street conditions is to be made. The greatest trouble is in the amount of time consumed in petitioning the City Council for funds with which to carry on the repair work. It is pointed out by club officials that all funds for the street repair work are supplied by the public service corporations digging the holes, and that the city does not pay for the work, so taxpayers are only out the money they lose in broken springs and torn tires.

Automobile Club officials recognize the problem facing the city engineers and the ruts which are causing the most grief will get first attention.

EBELL CLUB IS BOON TO NEEDY

Members Carry on Program of Aid to Poor

Yearly Guest Luncheon is Told of Charities

Women's Organization Heads Address Meeting

BY MYRA NYE

Every Friday is Good Friday with the Ebell Club.

Every Friday, without exception, according to Mrs. T. J. Fletcher, chairman of practical relief, Someone who has been helped by the club is heard to say: "What would we do without Ebell?"

It is on that day of the week throughout the year that the members meet to sew for the indigent, for the school girls who are benefiting by the scholarship fund of the club and to plan help for the indigent.

Yesterday at the last guest luncheon of the current year a triumvirate of distinguished club presidents were asked to speak concerning the three philanthropic divisions of the organization. They are Mrs. John C. Urquhart, president of the Los Angeles District, Federation of Women's Clubs, who spoke on "Practical Relief;" Dr. Rufus B. Von Klein-Smid, president of the University of Southern California, introduced by Mrs. George H. Cook, chairman of Rest Cottage, and substituting at the last moment for Dr. Remsen P. Bird of Occidental College who was ill; Miss Adele Humphries, vice-principal of Polytechnic High School introduced by Mrs. Hot Johnson, chairman of scholarships.

Mrs. Grantland Seaton Long, president, presided and her introplated remarks, together with the talks of the others made a charming symposium, a prelude to the Christmas season.

Striking and significant of the influence of club life was Mrs. Urquhart's story of the Business Women's Club of Inyo.

Bishop is not a large town but it boasts six women's clubs and there is a place for each one of them. When Mrs. Urquhart and Mrs. William A. Fitzgerald, the State president, visited the Business Women's Federation there, it was the Business Women's Club which entertained them at a "breakfast" and in this case the meal name was no misnomer for they dined at 7 a.m. to allow the members to be at their places of employment.

TELL CLUB'S AID

There were twenty-five of them; two lawyers, two teachers, artists, musicians, one who was owner of the biggest store in the town, stenographers and department managers. Each one was asked to tell what the club meant to her.

"I think I am the most important member of the club," one of them began. "I am the town janitor. Every morning I get up at 4 and start the fires in many offices. I clean out the dark and ugly places. I make it more pleasant for my fellow club members to do their work. I even make it possible for them to work."

Another member said, with tears in her eyes, "I may not be the most important member of the club, but my fellow members make it possible for me to live for I do the washing of nearly every one of them," and Mrs. Urquhart said the lawyers, the musicians and the artists nodded their heads to assent to her importance with affectionate and comradely smiles.

A third member told how she delivered milk to two-thirds of the families in Bishop and the club had helped her to know how to conduct her business so that the consumer should have the best and purest and thus were saved the lives of many babies in the little city.

RICH IN SPIRIT

"These members of whom I speak may not have been rich in gold," said Mrs. Urquhart, "but they were rich in spirit and the whole club exemplified what club life carried on with a fine and Democratic spirit may do for the community in which it exists.

Miss Humphries told of the nine girls at Polytechnic High who are kept in school by the Ebell Club through a fund which need not be replenished through reimbursement by the girls. It is expected that they will help some younger sister or friend as Ebell has helped them. The girls are chosen from fatherless homes in which there are many children, by a committee aided by Miss Humphries.

Woman's Alliance

Miss Gertrude Darlow of Central Library will speak today before the Woman's Alliance on the "Effect of the War on China and Japan." Luncheon will be at noon, and the members will sew on the curtains for the Maternity Cottage.

Republican Study Club

Instead of the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Republican Study Club, which is usually held at 2:30 p. m. on the second and fourth Fridays of the month, it has been decided by the board to have the next meeting on the 24th inst. a luncheon meeting.

The meeting will be held at the Union League Club, 251 South Hill street, at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Frank Kelly will speak on "Lessons from the Election," and Miss Eleanor Miller, newly elected Assemblywoman, will be guest of honor and will address the club. Reservations for the luncheon, which will be 60 cents, may be made by calling Mrs. I. R. Koverman at 12741.

Hikers' Club Entertains

This evening, the Muir Hikers will give a dance in the Masonic Temple at Pico and Figueroa streets, the proceeds of which will be used to buy braces for the Children's Hospital.

United Daughters of 1812

Los Angeles members of the National Society of the United Daughters of 1812 will hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. William L. Verity, 1068 North Normandy avenue tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Council of Jewish Women

Tomorrow the members of the Council of Jewish Women will hold their first affair of the year, when they are to entertain with a card party at the Ambassador Hotel at 2 p.m.

Philanthrophy and Civics Club

Today's program at the Philanthropy and Civics Club will be a musicale. The artists for the afternoon will be Melba French Barr, dramatic concert soparno, Ricardo Montiel operatic baritone, and Ruth Chambers, solo pianist and accompanist.

Literary Theater

Beginning with two plays by the great French dramatist, Moliere, on the evening of the 25th inst., the Literary Theater will open formally to Los Angeles drama lovers at Ebell Clubhouse. The two plays to be given are, "Mascarille" and "The Forced Marriage," and in addition Maeterlinck's "Death of Tinta Gilee" will be given.

The players are drawn from artists, students and professional people who hold the interests of the literary drama at heart, and who desire to cultivate what has been called the repertory spirit in acting. Under Mr. Frayne Williams's direction many of these players have been at work for more than a year to acquire an understanding of the history and background of the plays.

MEXICAN INJURED AT STONE CRUSHER

Joe Herendez, Mexican, is today recovering from injuries received while working on a rock crusher in Brush Canyon, Hollywood, yesterday afternoon. Herendes was severely injured about the head and body by falling rocks, according to a report made by Officer Trosper of the Hollywood police, who took the injured man to the office of Dr. Stadfield on Sunset Boulevard for first-aid treatment.

THE NEW IN STORES AND HOMES

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS

By Olive Gray

Don't forget the foolish gift—the frivolous something; the laugh-provoking object. Half the fun of Christmas is in returning to childhood's happy hours, when the world was our football and joy was unconfined. Let the holiday season partake of this spirit. Renew our youth, be improvident as well as provident.

Little Brown Jug

"I do love thee!" And lovable it is, to be sure! That little, wicked-looking brown jug! It comes all bestuck with Christmas pasters, colorful, gay; and there is a box all Christmassy in which to send the jug away. It contains something drinkey, too; smackily drinkey! I wonder—oh, do you suppose the recipients will be disappointed when they find it contains not a ferment, but an innocent decoction? Orange juice pure and simple, to be diluted into a breakfast drink for those holiday breakfasts when they wish to begin the day with something sunny and suggestive of California. So convenient, too, those send-aways. All you have to do, is to give the greeting card and pay the postage and away they go, to cheer those far-Eastern chilly lands.

Coster-Monger Style

Paris has copied the handkerchiefs of the coster-monger! These colorful 'kerchiefs are used in all sorts of ways, to enhance dress: So writes Gladys from the Capital of La Modes. Tied loosely around the neck, used as girdles and to trim hats, these quaint handkerchiefs form an odd and unexpected feature.

Stockings Vie

Among the stockings for holiday gifting, silk has a rival in wool, or in silk and wool mixed. In the latter there are some very pretty soft colorings, sometimes clocked in contrast, sometimes plain. With low shoes, there are days, even in California, when the warmer hosiery is welcome.

Contrasted

In looking over a book of ancient modes, I was struck by the difference in gloves of then and now, especially those for men. The gloves of Shakespeare's day were much ornamented, gauntleted and embroidered and so were those in their ancient times. No wonder that to throw one's gauntlet into the arena became the symbol of activity, a symbol which has lost significance in these days of the plain, unassuming glove of unornamented leather or kid. "He" gloves, especially, are plain and purely useful, like most of the masculine garments of today.

Attach It!

If you have a beaded bag which you have carried until you are somewhat weary of it, you may put it to use as trimming upon your newest straight-line dress. Many of the plainly cut frocks of the season depend upon the single pocket for the touch of high color and, since the pocket—literally the singular adjective!—is an important feature of the winter dress, the beaded bag may be put to distinctive use. Such pockets—such a pocket, rather, for—but one must be used—must be placed a little to one side of the front breadth of the gown.

Blazers

The blazer, whether of knitted material, loomed or done by hand, or of soft woolen fabric, has somewhat superceded the plain sweater, for country club wear. Sometimes the sleeveless garment is worn above one in blouse form, the wool or the fabric being the same in both garments. In such cases the skirt with which they are worn should partake of the general tone of the blazer, forming an harmonious whole.

ON FASHION'S LISTS

Winter brides favor the side drapery and cascade.

A great deal of kolinsky is used in bands as trimming.

Velvet gowns show a tendency toward metallic trimming.

Caracul fur edges smart little hats made of gold brocade.

The silver fox seems to be the most favored of furs for boas.

A hand-bag of Paisley usually accompanies a Paisley shawl jacket.

Chiffon costumes feature full skirts and softly fitted bertha bodices.

Tailleurs which will appear later on will show slightly curved waistlines.

Bands of cording trim a crepe frock, giving a new and pleasing effect.

A favored combination in millinery is green and orange velvet and silver.

Silver flame and purple shades predominate in gorgeous evening wraps.

An all-suede jacquette shows a decorative fastening made of picoted taffeta.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember always to inclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper and please remember that, on account of the hundreds of letters received in every mail I cannot make personal replies. I appreciate very much the beautiful personal letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in this column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest; for the rest you must consult your personal physicians.

"Dear Doctor:

"I have lost about ten pounds. I am 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weigh 174 pounds. How much could I afford to lose? Am a hard-working bird, single, have a temperament of a prima donna, nervous to the point of hysteria. Am troubled with gas. Chew tobacco all day, could that be the cause? I dine big at night and suffer from gas and its effect upon my heart—S. H."

The rule for finding ideal adult net weight is to multiply the number of inches over five feet in height and add 110. According to that rule, you should weight about 160 in the shower bath.

There is no doubt but that your chewing tobacco all day long gives you enough nicotine poisoning to cause your p. d. temperature; not that I want to imply that that is the way they get theirs.

Why don't you rearrange your meals and have your heaviest meal in the middle of the day? And probably if you would masticate your food as thoroughly as you masticate your tobacco you would not have so much gas. Thanks for the kind words.

"Dear Doctor:

"Will you tell our friend, Mrs. C., that if her nipples are not inverted she can get them in shape by pulling them gently. Begin two or three times at first and then increase until she pulls them about 25 times twice a day. If this is done in early pregnancy she will have good nipples by the time the baby is born. My sister and I both did this and had good nipples.—Mrs. L."

Yes, this is true. There is muscle tissue in the nipple which can be developed. I shall write more on it later.

Mrs. ——: You say you have reduced some but you are still 35 pounds overweight and you want to take something to "thin your blood." If you will just continue on your 1200 calories including a large amount of the greens, 200 or 300 calories of protein, and 100 or 200 calories of fat, your blood will thin down fast enough. You don't need any medicines.

I have a letter from one woman who wanted to hurry things a little bit and who took reducing tablets. She brought on a condition worse than her fat. You should never take drugs unless you are being supervised by a scientific, careful physician.

CALIFORNIA HUT TO GET AID FROM CITY

The Finance Committee of the City Council yesterday voted to assist the California Hut, a shop founded by public-spirited citizens, where disabled veterans may make and dispose of toys and utensils.

Mrs. Boyle Workman appeared before the committee and requested that the city aid in defraying the expenses of the establishment. The committee voted $800 for upkeep until July 1, and it is expected that the Council will approve the matter today.

A Practical Combination of the Engagement Ring and the Wedding Ring

Each ring is designed to be worn entirely independent of the other when so desired

But when worn together the wedding ring fits up close to the engagement ring and under the crown.

The rings are designed in pairs to match, and yet they may be purchased singly.

They are of all platinum—beautifully chased.

The engagement rings are set with Feagans perfect solitaires, in finely modelled mountings.

Prices range as low as $200 for the pair. The price for the pair illustrated is $292.00.

THE ILLUSTRATION ABOVE SHOWS THE TWO RINGS AS WORN TOGETHER AND AS WORN SEPARATELY.

Over a Half Million in Use

THE greatest proof of Sonora's value is its popularity, but back of that popularity is the Sonora tone which has revolutionized phonograph history.

Such exceptional clarity and charm of reproduction early won the applause of musical leaders. Then one by one a vast public listened, became convinced, and desired to own "the Highest Class Talking Machine in the World". Between the Sonora model that is exactly suited to your needs, and an inferior machine there may be no difference in price. The difference in satisfaction, in pride of possession, in purity and fineness of tone is incalculable.

Sonora's loyalty to an ideal has won the public's loyalty to Sonora. It is worth your while to hear the new Sonora models.

WILL FINALLY PLUNGE

MOROSCO TO STAGE SERIES OF PRODUCTIONS

By Grace Kingsley

If the Morosco Theater doesn't become a leading stock house of the country, it isn't going to be the fault of Oliver Morosco, who is starting a series of big productions here.

The first of these will be Ibanez's play, "Blood and Sand," which is released for the first time in stock with the Morosco production. Otis Skinner has been starring in the play in the East during the past two seasons with huge success. It has gone into rehearsal here under direction of Augustin Glassmire.

Heading the company in the leading role of the toreador will be Harland Tucker, who formerly was a member of the Morosco company, and who since that time has developed into what Mr. Morosco considers star material. Tucker has been leading man in the leading stock company of Oakland, where he has been immensely popular, and he played the principal male role in Maude Fulton's "Humming Bird," both at Egan's Little Theater and in Boston.

Another acquisition to the company is Rosamonde Joyzelle, who has been associated with Frederick Ward in John McGroarty's Mission Play, and who played the role of the Virgin Mary in the Pilgrimage Play in Hollywood last summer. Miss Joyzelle was to have gone to New York for a Morosco production, but was halted in order to play the fascinating vampirish Dona Sola in "Blood and Sand."

Walter Hast at Little

Walter Hast, English producer, announced yesterday that he is to produce plays at Egan's Little Theater, through arrangement with Frank Egan, when "The Humming Bird" ceases to hum. Mr. Hast is to be backed by capital of Dave S. Fridner, oil operator of Texas, and I. E. Kornblum is to be attorney for the Hast interests.

The first production will be a mystery drama entitled "Suspicion," written by George Appell and Wheeler Dryden. The first performance will take place at the Little December 11. Roland Rushton, director of a number of New York productions, will assist Hast.

Carmel Myers, picture star, will make her Los Angeles debut on the stage in this play. Miss Myers appeared in musical comedy in New York, but, except for benefit performances, has not appeared in the spoken drama here. She will play the leading feminine role.

Another notable member of the cast will be Marjorie Meadows, ingenue, a young English actress, who was at one time a member of Henry Miller's company. In London she played leading roles in "The Charm School," "The Rotters" and "Polly With a Past."

Others who will have leading parts will be Clarissa Selwyn, formerly of the English stage, lately of pictures; Wedgwood Nowell, Theodore Von Eltz, John T. Prince, Wheeler Dryden, Charles Knealy and George Appell, Jr.

Mildred Harris Writes

From Mildred Harris, in New Orleans, comes a brief but interesting note to the effect that she will probably be among us within a month or so. In fact, she hopes to spend Christmas here. She declares her vaudeville sketch in which she appeared at the Orpheum here, is doing beautifully. She will close her tour late next spring, but is to have a short layoff around Christmas time.

Miss Harris declares that at the close of her vaudeville tour, next April, she will take two months' intensive work in dancing and then will go to London.

There is a little touch of pathos in the closing sentence: "I hope," she says, "to be able to pay all my debts in a year. Am saving."

Warners Sign Myers

Those enterprising boys, the Warner Brothers, are busy these days getting players to sign on the dotted line.

Having secured Monte Blue for a term of years they yesterday made another notable addition to their forces by engaging Harry Myers, star of "Yankee in King Arthur's Court" and other features.

Mr. Myers is to play a featured role in "Main Street."

Another Bonner in Films

The ability to act seems to run in the Bonner family. Now that Priscilla Bonner is all set, having played several leading roles, her kid sister, Marjorie Bonner, has decided that if others in the family can act, so can she, and has gone in for pictures.

Miss Bonner is playing an important role in "What Is Your Daughter Doing," an independent production which Rolin Sturgeon is directing at the Ince studios.

Tourneur Signs Players

Maurice Tourneur announces that he has just concluded negotiations with two popular players to enact the leading roles in his forthcoming picturization of "The Isle of Dead Ships." Anna Q. Nilsson and Milton Sills are the favored ones.

MARCELLI TO LEAD GRAUMAN ORCHESTRA

The elaborate Thanksgiving program at Grauman's Theater next week will offer a treat with the distinguished artist, Signor Ulrico Marcelli, conducting the Symphony Orchestra through its superb holiday music, in four daily concerts.

Signor Marcelli has scored triumphs both in Europe and America as a musician of magnificent attainments, for he is an accomplished violinist and a composer of merit. His versatility also extends to other modes of expression, for he is a sculptor and an artist in both oil and charcoal.

As conductor of Grauman's orchestra, Ulrico Marcelli will take his place among the best musicians of the city. He believes in combining the serious musical literature with the best of the lighter forms of melody in his programs, thus appealing to every possible taste.

In his accompaniments to motion pictures, Signor Marcelli has displayed a distinct talent. He selects appropriate music of the best kind and fits it carefully to the action of the film-drama.

FINE LINE-UP FOR COMING LOEW FILMS

"For the coming year we have procured some of the greatest pictures made," said Marcus Loew yesterday after his arrival from the East to look over interests on the Coast.

"Take the picture coming to the State Theater next week," he continued. "Clara Kimball Young in the Metro feature taken from the stage play 'Enter Madame,' and then following that will be, in my opinoin, the gratest picture Rex Ingram has ever made for Metro, 'Trifling Women.' Besides an unusual story, which was written by Mr. Ingram, there is a cast including Barbara LaMarr, Lewis Stone and that young man discovered by Rex Ingrah who is making a name for himself on the screen, Ramon Navarro. It has all those little touches and great dramatic moments in it which only Rex Ingram can give.

"Other pictures which I am sure will prove popular with the public and which will come to the State soon, are 'Quincy Adams Sawyer,' the Metro special with a list of fifteen stars and players; 'Peg O' My Heart,' with Laurette Taylor, and Viola Dana in 'June Madness.'"

SHOW SCREEN TESTS

The Ince "screen tests," which were taken at Cinderella Roof recently, will be exhibited there tomorrow evening, where the ambitious young aspirants may see the results of their interview with the camera. Boys and girls of every description answered the call, all interested and eager to give the best that was in them to their first screen test. Friday night will also serve to introduce two new dancers to Cinderella audiences, Manual Perez and Irene, who have been a feature in several recent photoplay spectacles. They will dance "The Peacock Strut" and "Parisienne Whirl."

SAYS RUDY IS JUST A PRETTY BOY

Latest Thing in Sheiks is No "Joli Garcon;" He Says So Himself

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—When sheik describes a brother sheik the Frenchman calls our home-grown product "just a pretty boy."

That is the way Count Charles De Roche, France's most handsome film star, just arrived from Paris, today, disposed of the beauty of Rodolph Valentino, whose place he is to take in the Famous Players-Lasky productions.

"Me, I am no 'joli garcon,' no retty boy, ugh," and two lemon-colored gloves beat emotionally at a black and white checked, perfectly tailored chest.

"I have the features, what you say, classique," he said, elevating his classic eyebrows and ruffling his slightly marceled, entirely classic hair.

And the French sheik, who spent four hours in Chicago en route from New York to Hollywood to appear in the "Law of the Lawless" and "The Spanish Cavalier," the play for which Valentino was originally cast, is right when he declaims he is no "joli garcon."

The French actor, whose real name is Count Charles d'Authier De Rochefort, can "do stunts," but likes better to play romantic tragedy, he admits. In his native country, where he is heralded as the French William S. Hart, he jumps from motors, climbs trees and falls from towers.

The paths of the silver screen have also caused him bravely to "throw the bull" with gestures in ancient Spain, to execute new dance steps and to "educate the savage horses."

But De Roche likes better the romantic tragedy and intends to specialize in guitars rather than lariats, once he reaches the California studios.

Though 29 and unmarried, the bachelor knows a pretty girl. "The French girls," he declares, "are all pretty. But the American girl, her face has character."

Lloyd Ready to Start New Pathe Comedy

Returning from New York, where he was the guest of honor at a banquet tendered him by the Pathe organization on the eve of his departure, Harold Lloyd will begin, following his arrival here, production of his next comedy, to be released under the golden rooster banner, according to Hal Roach.

With "Dr. Jack," which is showing in its world premiere at the Mission Theater, Lloyd enters the Pathe exchanges as the most important star of that organization. "Dr. Jack" is the costliest of Lloyd's productions, and was nearly six months in the making. Few features of any type show more elaborate settings. One important set was erected on the lawn in front of the home of one of Los Angeles' richest bankers, who is at the head of an active better films committee, which explains the significance of the courtesy extended to Lloyd.

The banquet given in honor of Lloyd at the Biltmore Hotel in New York was attended by over 100 officials of the Pathe offices. General Manager Elmer H. Pearson introduced Harold Lloyd, while Will Rogers acted as toastmaster.

KINEMA GETS LON CHANEY'S LATEST

When you build a boat indoors how are you going to make it rock? That's one of the problems that Director Tom Forman had to solve when he was making "Shadows." In the picture, which is coming to the Kinema Theater Saturday, There is a very noticeable sway to the room in the scow which forms the home of Yen Sin, the laundryman.

The exterior pictures of the scow were photographed while the company was on location in Monterey. When Forman and the players returned to Los Angeles they found an exact replica of the interior at the studio. The set was placed on a bowl-shaped pedestal. Sixteen men—four on each corner—took turns at weighting it down, and when the work was over the effect was just as efficient as the wild sea waves themselves. Lon Chaney plays the role of Yen Sin, the Chinese philosopher-laundryman.

White-of-Egg

in Calumet a Vital Element Most Baking Powders Lack

Don't use a leavener that does not contain white-of-egg. When you do you take chances—you run the risk of spoiling your bakings.

CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

contains a small amount of white-of-egg. This makes it possible for representatives of the company to test it frequently for leavening strength—right on the dealer's counter. Nothing but absolutely fresh stock is permitted to remain on the dealers' shelves. It must always be up to the high Calumet standard.

BEST BY TEST

Remember the white-of-egg in Calumet protects the success of your bakings. It is the economical positive bake-day aid and its sale is 2½ times as much as that of any other brand.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

NEW OPERA ON KHJ

Arias From "Aphrodine," Los Angeles Production, on "Times" Radio Program Tonight

Celebrated artists from the cast of the operatic phantasy "Aphrodine" will sing from The Times radio station tonight advanced numbers from this opera, which is to be sung for the first time in the Philharmonic Auditorium on Christmas night.

For the first time Los Angeles is to have the initial production of an opera. The event will mark the beginning of a new cultural era. In the past grand opera in Los Angeles has been a foreign production.

Boston, New York and Chicago have sent their operatic troupes here, with costumes and scenery that showed the effects of thousands of miles of travel in railway trains—shopworn and roadworn effects.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCTION

But "Aphrodine" is strictly a Los Angeles production. The words and music were written here in Hollywood by Mrs. E. Magnus Ingleton, and it will be presented on Christmas night by a California troupe.

This does not mean that it will be an amateurish production. Mrs. Ingleton is internationally known as a composer of light operas. She wrote "The Willow Pattern Plate," a phantasy that ran for a year in London.

Among the members of the troupe are artists who are also internationally known, who have achieved genuine operatic triumphs in London, Paris and the musical centers of Italy. They are taking a special and pardonable pride in being able to sing in their native tongue and in their native State. Observe that the word "State" is capitalized.

Two numbers of this opera will be given to the public for the first time tonight through the medium of The Times radio.

SOPRANO WILL SING

Vivian Strong Hart, possessor of a rare coloratura soprano voice, will sing "Our Land of Dreams." It is the song of the Princess Felicite in the opera. She will be accompanied at the piano by Margaret Wilson.

Ewart Williams, tenor, will sing "Somewhere Waits a Maid," taken from the part of Prince Sylvius, the hero.

Mrs. Ingleton will deliver a short address telling how it came to be written and something about the plans for its future.

Two engagements have already been offered for the opera after its production here. The doors of a Broadway theater in New York are ready to swing open for it as are those of Drury Lane in London.

It is the intention of the producers to take the opera to New York with its California cast and from there to London, something that has never before been attempted.

If present plans are realized, Los Angeles will take its place as an operatic center, possibly with a municipal opera house. And the beginning is to be made with "Aphrodine."

HOLLYWOOD CARS BAFFLING

New "Trick" Carriers Make for Lively Passage With Much Interest as to Exit, and Often They Work

The new puzzle-type cars on the Hollywood line now are baffling conductors and motormen, as well as passengers. Much delay and considerable profanity result, despite traffic and moral laws.

For the benefit of those fortunately living in other parts of the city, it may be said that the new cars are of the central-entrance, central-and-front-exit, inner-block-signal, concrete-bottom, air-tight-when-the-windows-are-shut and theoretically-self-conductor-to-motorman-communicating type. They cost a heap of money.

The theory of the block-signal system is that when the central doors are shut a current of electricity or plain lightning is formed and this illuminates a tiny electric bulb under the nose of the motorman. This means, or is supposed to mean, to the motorman that the doors are shut and thus it takes the place of the usual conductor's bell. There are, however, bells of the button-jab type, but these are for passengers.

ALL PRETTIED UP

The cars arrived spick and span from the East a few weeks ago. All went well as far as the door signals went until the last few days when the motorman's block-signal got out of order, more or less simultaneously on all the cars. The opening of the doors would extinguish his light, but often the closing of them would not illuminate it. The wires or something did not connect.

The conductors and motormen being practical men learned that by shaking the doors, usually by means of their feet, that the light would sometimes light. The motorman's orders being as they are, he is not allowed to start until his light lights.

The present system is this, the conductor opens the doors, the passengers enter, the conductor closes the doors; there is a wait, and then from the front of the car, muffled because of the congealed humanity, comes the motorman's voice, "Kick it!"

The conductor leaves his perch and raising his foot kicks the doors. After four or five kicks the light lights in front of the motorman's nose. This performance is repeated ten to fifteen times from Hill street to Sanborn Junction and ever-so-many more times before Hollywood is reached.

COMPASSES HANDY

As for the other peculiarities of the cars, the public is gradually becoming initiated. If one is in the end half of the car he is supposed to make an exit by one of the central doors; if in the front half, by the front door by the motorman. This seems simple enough, but the complicated system of entrances, exits and railing so confuses the passengers that they often do not know or much care which way the car is going. Some in the front half try to get off in the center and some in the last half try to get off at the back, where there is no door at all.

One elderly man, who looked like a retired sea captain, yesterday entered one of these cars with a pocket compass in his hand.

It is optimistically predicted that things will be better in the summer when the windows are open and passengers may crawl out wherever they please.

Still another feature of the new cars is that there are no front or back porches, so familiar to residents of the Southwest, where, it has been said, the weather is conducive to breathing. This is proving a great annoyance to the many nonsmokers that heretofore have made it a point of occupying the seats set aside for smokers on the front galleries.

Smoking is not permitted because of the hermetical character of the new passenger containers. But it probably would be impossible, because cigars and even Turkish cigarettes would go out for sheer lack of oxygen.

Homesick New Yorkers from all parts of the city are taking joy rides on the new Hollywood cars, experiencing with delight both the crush an dodor of their beloved subways.

POLICE ROW REVIVED IN BEACH CITY

More Trouble Seen Over Choice of Venice Chief as Meeting Nears

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Nov. 22.—That there would be a new and unexpected upheaval in police circles next Monday night over the chief of police situation was being predicted today in official circles. The full membership of the Board of Trustees will meet at that time.

Rumors that the two members of the board, who were absent at the meeting when William E. Cavanaugh was relieved of the police reins, were dissatisfied with the appointment of Henry McClausland, and that Mayor Edward Gerety, who made a lone fight against the former chief's removal, would back them in any program, were being discussed by Venetians today.

In spite of the fact that McClausland's bond has not been approved by the city attorney or the board of trustees, he has assumed charge at the police station here, but as yet has issued no orders. McClausland was sworn in and certified at the last meeting but until his bond is approved his appointment will not be legal, it is stated.

Two days before he was dismissed former Chief Cavanaugh caused the seizure of one of the largest distilleries ever taken in Venice.

A special meeting for discussion of the situation may be called before Monday, it is said.
